100 Towns Flooded.

4,000 Tons of Gold.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

RUSSIAN "Reds" in China are enticing sailors of the American and British warships, seeking to make Bolsheviki of them. It is safe to say that a British or American tar will be difficult to convert to the Communist theory. He believes in getting what he can and keeping what he gets.

Besides, Chinese things do not look very real to the honest sailor man.

In London Punch a sailor on duty asked by his superior, "Has anybody passed this way?" replies, "Yes, fifty Chinks, or may be the same Chink fifty times."

One hundred cities and towns are flooded along the lower Mississippi. The total flood damage amounts to two thousand million dollars. Less than half that money, combined with brains and engineering skill, would have made this flood impossible.

The best engineers in the United States, including the experts of the army, men such as those that put hundred feet of the richest soil, de-Lesseps and France had failed, should map out a plan, and the country should supply the money to carry it out.

Fortunately, the great city of New Orleans is undoubtedly safe. Colonel Ewing, editor of the New Orleans States, quoting General Jadwin, an experienced engineer, says that as far as the city is concerned all danger is past.

Those that realize the importance of soil fertility will be interested in Colonel Ewing's casual remark that men digging for artesian wells in lower Louisiana, went through fifteen hundred feet of the richest soil, deposited by the great river, a soil far richer and deeper than that of Egypt.

Senator Capper in his interesting weekly tells you that "the biggest pile of pure gold in the world is under a little square building in Wall Street in New York City, 4,000 tons of the yellow metal in bars like bricks. Each weighs 20 pounds and is worth $6,000."

That building holds 4,000 tons, eight hundred thousand pounds, of solid gold.

There is one comfort for New York City, in case we never do have an air fleet, and in case a real air fleet should ever visit the city. There will be enough money to load a ship and pay the price to save our biggest city from destruction.

Concerning Lloyd George's prediction that China would emerge from the present agitation and take her place in the world as "a giant Japan," take notice that Tankow, attacked by its enemies, is already asking the

Mayor's Salary Reduction Plan Approved By 5 to 2 Vote at Hectic Session

Legislation for Improvement of Fourth and East Second Streets and Orchard Grove Avenue Authorized.

EIGHTH STREET COST CUT ASKED

Protests Filed Against Obstruction Ordinance, While One Solon Turns Guns on Water Works Clerk.

Ordinance providing for a "safe and sane" observance of Fourth of July was enacted on third reading by a vote of 5 to 2, last night, at a hectic session of city council. Solons Hughes and Goodballet voted in opposition, while the measure was supported by Members Farrall, Kommel, Hayes, Kelly and Poole.

Mayor Approves Ordinance.

The legislation, which Mayor Benedum said he would approve, prohibits the sale and discharge of fireworks within the city limits.

Opponents of the plan hinted a referendum vote will be asked.

Question of reducing the mayor's salary was reviewed in an ordinance calling for $1,200 a year, introduced by N. P. Kerr, president of council. The proposal was passed on first reading by a vote of 5 to 2, but when a motion to suspend the rules failed by a like vote the economy measure went over to the next session. Hughes and Kommel cast the dissenting votes.

President Kerr, in placing the measure before council, said that while he believed in economy he was of the opinion that the amount of $600 set in the initiative proposal to be presented to the voters in November was too much of a cut. Farrell declared that he voted for a like measure two years ago and would cast his vote for the ordinance.

Goodballet's Charge.

Solon Goodballet tossed a bombshell into the meeting shortly before adjournment, when he launched an attack upon Water Works Clerk Frank Robinson, charging the latter had acted discourteously to a resident of Monaca street who visited his office to lodge a complaint about water service. Closing his talk, he declared that "the clerk should keep out of the business of council" and intimated that he (Robinson) had strong influence with the board of control. His remarks brought Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore to his feet with a prompt denial that Robinson had ever attempted to control the action of the board. The discussion was exciting for a few minutes, with other solons taking little part in it.

Attorney Ben L. Bennett, representing the West End Civic association, urged council to take steps to reduce the assessments of property holders in West Eighth street which was recently improved. He said that in the improvement of St. Clair avenue part of the assessment had been borne by general taxation, and declared that West Eighth street was one of the most heavily traveled streets.

Property owners, supporting his

GRAY LEAVES STAND IN LOVE CRIME TRIAL

FAILS TO BREAK

Relentless Cross-examination Under Way in Snyder Trial.

BY JAMES L. KILGALLEN.

COURTHOUSE, LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y., April 6.—"The Defendant Gray" rested his case at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the trial of Henry Judd Gray and Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder, jointly accused of the brutal murder of the woman's husband, Albert Snyder, an art editor.

COURTHOUSE, LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y., May 6.—Henry Judd Gray, self-confessed slayer, left the witness stand at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon after having been on the witness stand for sixteen hours and twenty minutes, ten hours' direct examination and six hours and twenty minutes cross-examination.

During that time he told one of the most remarkable stories ever recited at a murder trial. He not only admitted that he struck Albert Snyder, art editor, over the head and killed him while he lay asleep in his home, but he swore that Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder, who is jointly accused with him of the murder, also took up the bludgeon and helped him execute the ghastly crime.

DARING FRENCH AIRMAN FORCED TO LAND IN SEA, FRIENDS FEAR

Ten Hours Overdue on His Flight to Pernambuco.

DEFIED PARIS

May Have Been Picked Up by Tramp Steamer.

PERNAMBUCO, May 6.—All hopes that Captain St. Roman, French trans-Atlantic flier, is still in the air have been abandoned here.

The only hopes held out for the safety of the flier are that he has been picked up by a tramp steamer or that he made a forced landing on the African coast, in some deserted spot. The latter hope is very slight, however, as St. Roman reported that he was still flying at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, some eight hours after his start.

Flew Without Floats.

RIO JANEIRO, May 6.—Grave fears are felt here that Captain St. Roman, daring French aviator, has lost his life in an attempt to fly across the Atlantic.

Captain St. Roman has not been heard from since he left St. Louis, Senegal, early yesterday morning. He was due in Pernambuco at midnight last night and is already more than ten hours overdue.

The French aviator flew without floats on his aeroplane, defying the orders of his government and taking the flight on his own responsibility.

Aviation experts here believe that the aviator, if forced down, could not have kept afloat for very long without floats and the chances of his being picked up by some passing boat are slight.

Fourteen Ships Comb Waters.

There is a possibility that St. Roman may have been in difficulties and may have sought out some steamer before landing. It is possible that he is now on board some small tramp steamer without powerful wireless. It is recalled that Harry Hawker was many days aboard a tramp steamer before his safety was announced.

Fourteen ships on the route between Pernambuco and Africa, which St. Roman planned to follow, have been queried by radio and none of them has sighted St. Roman.

Radio stations have sent out continual calls for news of St. Roman, but without any responses.

"GOOSE" GOSLIN SERIOUSLY ILL

PITTSBURGH, May 6.—"Goose" Goslin, slugging outfielder of the Washington Senators, was taken off a train here early this morning and removed to Mercy hospital in an ambulance.

Goslin suffered an attack of pleurisy several days ago and has been out of the line-up. He felt well enough to start the western trip with the team, but suffered a relapse last night on the train. His condition was considered so serious he was taken off. Coach Jack Onslow of the Washington club accompanied him.

Flood Relief Fund Hits $7,813,908 Mark

Red Cross Contributions Increase as Raging Mississippi Pounds Against Last Barrier on Way to Gulf.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Contributions to the American Red Cross for the relief of flood sufferers in the Mississippi valley this morning passed the three-quarters mark in the race for the $10,000,000 total set by President Coolidge.

Red Cross headquarters announced a total of $7,813,908 received up until 10 o'clock, of which $5,029,470 came from eastern states, $1,924,000 from mid-western states and $748,967 from the Pacific coast. Insular and foreign contributions totalled $11,471.

Army Engineers on Job.

VICKSBURG, Miss., May 6.—Spreading destruction with ever increasing fury, the flood waters of the Mississippi pounded today against the last barrier obstructing their path to the Gulf.

Hoping against hope that further levee breaks might be avoided, army engineers and relief directors watching the rush of the northern Louisiana flood into the wedge of dikes at the confluence of the Mississippi and Red rivers maintained a constant vigil for the suites which would unleash the inland covering the northeast quarter of the state into the nine remaining parishes in the Atchafalaya valley between the Red river and the sea.

More than 1,500 square miles in Avoyelles, Rapides and St. Landry parishes have been evacuated in anticipation of a break in the bayou Des Glaises levee near Hamburg.

A second break is threatened in the same bayou at Big Ben, also in Avoyelles parish, and a third in the Red river protecting wall around Echo, in Rapides parish. Twelve hundred men who have fought the flood from the tops of the Big Bend dikes for more than a week redoubled their efforts today as the waters from three Mississippi passes north of Natchez joined with the flood from the Arkansas in Tensas and Catahoula parishes.

SUSPECT SHOT

Alleged Slain Kidnaper Believed Member of Chicago Gang.

NEW YORK, May 6.—With one alleged kidnaper dead and two others under arrest, Abraham Scharlin and James H. Taylor, the kidnaped victims, were released mysteriously today.

Scharlin and Taylor were immediately brought to police headquarters to identify Charles Kraemer and David Bernan, the two men arrested after their alleged comrade, Joseph Marcus, was shot and killed by a policeman.

Marcus was said by police to have been a member of a Chicago kidnaping gang and it is believed that the present kidnaping plot may show connections with recent kidnapings in the mid-western city.

Teachers Honor Edward Harries at Closing Session

POINTS FINGER OF SUSPICION AT WOMAN IN ANANIA DEATH

Co-defendant Reiterates Denial of Part in Tragedy.

QUOTES MARIE

Defense Hints Possibility of Suicide Instead of Crime.

Reiterating his denial of any responsibility for the tragedy and seemingly pointing the finger of suspicion toward the woman, in the event a crime had been committed, Salvatore Rini, 22, of East Liverpool, on trial with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Marie Chorgas, 28, of Minneapolis, for second degree murder in the death of Pasquale Anania, 25, underwent cross-examination at Lisbon today.

Refers to Chorgas Woman.

Rini, who took the stand yesterday afternoon in his own defense, was called for a new ordeal at 9:30 o'clock this morning by Prosecutor Robert M. Brookes, who began an attack on the co-defendant's story.

Additional testimony in Rini-Chorgas case on pages 3, 15 and 16.

During his cross-examination, Rini repeatedly used the phrases, "She did this," "Marie told me this," and "Marie told me that."

He denied the Chorgas' woman's story given when she, as a state witness, testified that Anania, in a dying declaration said, "Sal did it."

Other Defense Witnesses.

The defense hinted the possibility of suicide on the part of Anania, when Dr. A. J. Michaels, the physician who was summoned to attend the victim of the tragedy, was called during the forenoon. Dr. Michaels, testified that the wound in Anania's heart would have caused death within two minutes.

Other defense witnesses who testified before the noon recess were Mrs. Bess Johnson, of East Liverpool; Miss Gladys Nicholson, of Canton; Eileen Bartley, of East Liverpool. The Nicholson and Bartley girls occupied an apartment in the Euclid hotel building.

Whether or not a Saturday session of court will be held had not been determined by Judge W. F. Lones early this afternoon.

Rini also denied Mrs. Chorgas' statement that he had threatened her if she "squawked." He declared that Patsy Anania had taken the broken bladed butcher knife from a restaurant.

Witnesses Heard Noise.

Defense counsel objected to the question, "Are you the Bess referred to in the letter from Sal to Patsy?" when Mrs. Bess Allison Johnson was recalled to the stand after Rini was excused. The object was sustained by the court and the woman was then excused.

Miss Gladys Nicolson, who formerly occupied an apartment at the Euclid hotel, testified that she heard a noise in the bathroom of the Rini rooms at 9:30 on the night of March 22. She said that she saw Parsons take a glass of water to the fath room.

Miss Eileen Bartley was the last witness called before the noon recess. She also testified concerning the noise in the adjoining apartment.

REVIEW-TRIBUNE PICNIC FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN OF THREE STATES WILL BE HELD AT ROCK SPRINGS PARK, JUNE 1, 2 and 3

Public and parochial school children of East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester, Newell, Toronto and other towns in the tri-state district will be guests of the management of Rock Springs park, Chester, at the Review-Tribune's annual school pupils' outing on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, June 1, 2 and 3.

The board of education, meeting in the high school building last evening, accepted the invitation of C. C. Macdonald lessee of the park, for the three-day affair.

As the result of arrangements made by the Revied-Tribune and the park management, free transportation will by the Review-Tribune and the park Prior to the closing of the schools, children will be given identification tickets which will entitle them to street car transportation. Amusement tickets will be furnished upon their arrival at the resort. The schools will be divided as evenly as possible so that some of the children will attend on the first day, another group on the second day and the remainder on the last day.

Amusement tickets will be accepted on 11 riding devices and other attractions at the Chester play ground. Additional workers will be on duty during the three days to assist in handling more than 15,000 children, who are expected to visit the park.

School pupils will be given a half holiday next Wednesday when the Walter L. Main circus exhibits at Patterson Field, the board ordered. They will be dismissed in time for the street parade in the morning and will not be required to report for the afternoon session.

Mrs. Harriet Anderson and Miss Myrtle McElroy, elementary teachers, were granted permission to conduct a kindergarten school in the Lincoln building, from May 31 to July 1, inclusive. Rev. A. E. Walker, pastor of the Emmanuel Chapel, was also given permission to use the Maplewood building for a Daily Vacation Bible school to be conducted for five weeks this summer.

Application of the East Liverpool Teachers' association for a change in the board's regulations, increasing the period allowed with pay for sickness or professional visiting from five to seven days, was also received. The board deferred action on the request.

The state was asked to send a representative to inspect the Horace Mann school with a view toward providing two more rooms in the building by using space now utilized for halls and corridors. The two additional rooms, it was said, would relieve the congestion in East End buildings.

Emmett J. Gaston, clerk-treasurer of the board, reported a balance of $56,282.24 in school funds on May 2.

The board also discussed proposed repairs to school buildings. Because of the lack of funds many of these improvements must be delayed until next year.

Another meeting of the board will be held next Thursday evening when the building and grounds committee will submit an estimate of the cost of the proposed improvements.

Three East End Cases in Court; One Man Fined

Lee Wyke, East End, was fined $5 and costs by Municipal Judge Hanley this morning after he was found guilty upon a charge of disorderly conduct by using profane language. He was arrested upon information of Charles Kaufman, Mulberry street furniture dealer, who was represented by Attorney Ben L. Bennett.

Paul Moore, East End, has signed affidavits for the arrest of John W. Stacey, Sr., and John W. Stacey, Jr., charging them with threatening him. They will probably be given a hearing tomorrow morning.

Information has also been preferred by David Quarterman asking that Howard Rhodes, Ohio avenue, be placed under a peace warrant.

Midland Motorist Held for Inquiry in Hook Boy's Death

Michael Brozic, 21, Midland motorist, was held for the Beaver county grand jury, under $1,500 bond, by Justice of the Peace David Stewart, Beaver, last evening, after he entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of involuntary manslaughter in connection with the death of 10-year-old David Hook, Industry Heights, last Sunday evening, when struck by an automobile.

Brozic's father furnished the bond

St. Clair Avenue Section Will be Closed Tomorrow

St. Clair avenue, from Youngs alley to North street, will be closed to all traffic excepting street cars, starting tomorrow, Service-Safety Director John W. Moore announced today. Traffic will be detoured over Avondale street.

Contractor George B. Patterson, Wellsville, started work today on the resurfacing of the street from Youngs alley to the north line of the J. T. Croxall property. The improvement will be completed within a month.

ONE MAN DEAD, TWO ARE HELD IN KIDNAPING

Abducted Victims are Released by New York Police.

SUSPECT SHOT

Alleged Slain Kidnaper Believed Member of Chicago Gang.

NEW YORK, May 6.—With one alleged kidnaper dead and two others under arrest, Abraham Scharlin and James H. Taylor, the kidnaped victims, were released mysteriously today.

Scharlin and Taylor were immediately brought to police headquarters to identify Charles Kraemer and David Bernan, the two men arrested after their alleged comrade, Joseph Marcus, was shot and killed by a policeman.

Marcus was said by police to have been a member of a Chicago kidnaping gang and it is believed that the present kidnaping plot may show connections with recent kidnapings in the mid-western city.

Teachers Honor Edward Harries at Closing Session

Last meeting of the East Liverpool Teachers' Association during the present school term was held in the assembly room of the Central school, last evening, when Edward Harries was elected president. Other officers include: vice-president, Miss Adeline Blake; recording secretary, Miss Helen Allison; corresponding secretary, Miss Anna Welch; treasurer, Miss Edith Shaw.

Next meeting of the association, to be held September 15, will take the form of a reception for new teachers. The following committee was named to arrange for this affair: H. D. Rist, Miss Lena Howard, Mrs. John Goodwin, Miss Grace Smurthwaite and I. A. Hoffman.

Prisoner on Hunger Strike.

CLEVELAND, May 6.—Held in jail on a suspicious person charge, John Green, 28, Cleveland, has been on a hunger strike for over a week. He is growing weak and has been placed under the care of a physician.

POINTS FINGER OF SUSPICION AT WOMAN IN ANANIA DEATH

Co-defendant Reiterates Denial of Part in Tragedy.

QUOTES MARIE

Defense Hints Possibility of Suicide Instead of Crime.

Reiterating his denial of any responsibility for the tragedy and seemingly pointing the finger of suspicion toward the woman, in the event a crime had been committed, Salvatore Rini, 22, of East Liverpool, on trial with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Marie Chorgas, 28, of Minneapolis, for second degree murder in the death of Pasquale Anania, 25, underwent cross-examination at Lisbon today.

Refers to Chorgas Woman.

Rini, who took the stand yesterday afternoon in his own defense, was called for a new ordeal at 9:30 o'clock this morning by Prosecutor Robert M. Brookes, who began an attack on the co-defendant's story.

Additional testimony in Rini-Chorgas case on pages 3, 15 and 16.

During his cross-examination, Rini repeatedly used the phrases, "She did this," "Marie told me this," and "Marie told me that."

He denied the Chorgas' woman's story given when she, as a state witness, testified that Anania, in a dying declaration said, "Sal did it."

Other Defense Witnesses.

The defense hinted the possibility of suicide on the part of Anania, when Dr. A. J. Michaels, the physician who was summoned to attend the victim of the tragedy, was called during the forenoon. Dr. Michaels, testified that the wound in Anania's heart would have caused death within two minutes.

Other defense witnesses who testified before the noon recess were Mrs. Bess Johnson, of East Liverpool; Miss Gladys Nicholson, of Canton; Eileen Bartley, of East Liverpool. The Nicholson and Bartley girls occupied an apartment in the Euclid hotel building.

Whether or not a Saturday session of court will be held had not been determined by Judge W. F. Lones early this afternoon.

Rini also denied Mrs. Chorgas' statement that he had threatened her if she "squawked." He declared that Patsy Anania had taken the broken bladed butcher knife from a restaurant.

Witnesses Heard Noise.

Defense counsel objected to the question, "Are you the Bess referred to in the letter from Sal to Patsy?" when Mrs. Bess Allison Johnson was recalled to the stand after Rini was excused. The object was sustained by the court and the woman was then excused.

Miss Gladys Nicolson, who formerly occupied an apartment at the Euclid hotel, testified that she heard a noise in the bathroom of the Rini rooms at 9:30 on the night of March 22. She said that she saw Parsons take a glass of water to the fath room.

Miss Eileen Bartley was the last witness called before the noon recess. She also testified concerning the noise in the adjoining apartment.

REVIEW-TRIBUNE PICNIC FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN OF THREE STATES WILL BE HELD AT ROCK SPRINGS PARK, JUNE 1, 2 and 3

Public and parochial school children of East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester, Newell, Toronto and other towns in the tri-state district will be guests of the management of Rock Springs park, Chester, at the Review-Tribune's annual school pupils' outing on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, June 1, 2 and 3.

The board of education, meeting in the high school building last evening, accepted the invitation of C. C. Macdonald lessee of the park, for the three-day affair.

As the result of arrangements made by the Revied-Tribune and the park management, free transportation will by the Review-Tribune and the park Prior to the closing of the schools, children will be given identification tickets which will entitle them to street car transportation. Amusement tickets will be furnished upon their arrival at the resort. The schools will be divided as evenly as possible so that some of the children will attend on the first day, another group on the second day and the remainder on the last day.

Amusement tickets will be accepted on 11 riding devices and other attractions at the Chester play ground. Additional workers will be on duty during the three days to assist in handling more than 15,000 children, who are expected to visit the park.

School pupils will be given a half holiday next Wednesday when the Walter L. Main circus exhibits at Patterson Field, the board ordered. They will be dismissed in time for the street parade in the morning and will not be required to report for the afternoon session.

Mrs. Harriet Anderson and Miss Myrtle McElroy, elementary teachers, were granted permission to conduct a kindergarten school in the Lincoln building, from May 31 to July 1, inclusive. Rev. A. E. Walker, pastor of the Emmanuel Chapel, was also given permission to use the Maplewood building for a Daily Vacation Bible school to be conducted for five weeks this summer.

Application of the East Liverpool Teachers' association for a change in the board's regulations, increasing the period allowed with pay for sickness or professional visiting from five to seven days, was also received. The board deferred action on the request.

The state was asked to send a representative to inspect the Horace Mann school with a view toward providing two more rooms in the building by using space now utilized for halls and corridors. The two additional rooms, it was said, would relieve the congestion in East End buildings.

Emmett J. Gaston, clerk-treasurer of the board, reported a balance of $56,282.24 in school funds on May 2.

The board also discussed proposed repairs to school buildings. Because of the lack of funds many of these improvements must be delayed until next year.

Another meeting of the board will be held next Thursday evening when the building and grounds committee will submit an estimate of the cost of the proposed improvements.

Group of Spring Coats at Special Prices

There are coats and coats in this important event—every one selected from this season's stocks and offered at a price so low that the splendid quality of each garment can only be fully realized by those who actually see the various models.

A collection of models that were wholly new this spring.

Here you will find coats that the smart woman can wear to advantage—just slender enough to emphasize her grace — just sophisticated enough to hint of Paris inspiration.

Sports and dress models in all sizes.

Reduced prices $16.75 to $39.75.

New Spring Frocks for Every Occasion

Spring starts on another gay season for there will be a balmy May, a fragrant June and a glorious Summer after that. And one look at these new Spring Frocks will tell that the sunshine will be no brighter than they.

There's no mistaking it—there is something decidedly different about the new Spring Frocks that have just appeared. Colors are softer, more subtle. Fabrics are softer and lend themselves to the movement of the mode. And silhouettes flare into beauty with every move one makes. Pleats and ruffles are again in favor—which gives the new frocks an air of youth.

Frocks appear in one and two-piece versions in models for sports, general, street, afternoon and evening wear.

Newer shades are Monkey Skin, Mother Goose, Rose Beige, Rose, Valencia Blue, Grecian Blue, Poudre Blue, Beige Nude, Forest Green with navy and black still holding their own.

Novel and original trimmings features. Georgettes, crepes and satins.

Priced from $10.00 to $59.75.

ACCUSED MAN TELLS SORDID STORY TO JURY

Declares Sister-in-law Advised Him of Anania's Wound.

ASSAILS WOMAN

Swears he and Victim of Tragedy Were Good Friends.

Salvatore Rini, 22, of East Liverpool, testifying in his own defense in common pleas court, Lisbon, yesterday afternoon, made a point blank denial of any responsibility for the death of Pasquale (Patsy) Anania, 25, of Wellsville, for the alleged murder of whom he and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Marie Chorgas, 28, of Minneapolis, are on trial.

Declaring that he and Anania were good friends, he swore that he had no knowledge of the manner in which Patsy was stabbed in the heart until his sister-in-law said, "Sal, look what Patsy has done!"

Rini testified this statement was made by Mrs. Chorgas when she stepped to the door of his bedroom, after he had returned from a trip uptown to obtain eggs and meat for the evening meal on March 22, the night of Anania's death.

Denies Chorgas Woman's Story.

He entered a general denial of the story told by his sister-in-law in her direct examination and cross-examination Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning, when she repeated Anania's purported deathbead declaration, 'Sal did it!"

Rini told a sordid story on the witness stand, charging alleged intimate relations between Anania and Mrs. Chorgas, who, waiving her exemption as a co-defendant, had testified for the state against him. Portions of the testimony were revolting.

Women and young girls predominated in the large crowd, including the entire senior class of the Salineville High school, which occupied every inch if space in the courtroom while Rini was on the stand.

No Motive Shown.

No motive for the death of Anania, which the defense claims was the result of an accident when the man was cutting meat with a large knife, has been revealed so far. However, during the cross-examination of state witnesses the defense has attempted to bring out that jealousy entered into the tragedy.

Rini admitted he went to a drug store, purchased peroxide, iodine and adhesive tape, with which he later bound the knife wound in Anania's heart, and then summoned a physician, Dr. A. J. Michaels. The physician, who found Anania dead, notified the police.

Rini was under direct examination by Attorney W. A. O'Grady from 1:10 to 4:50 o'clock, during which three brief recesses were ordered. His cross-examination, started late yesterday, was resumed this morning.

Rini on Stand.

Guy Saponara was the first defense witness, and he was followed by his brother, Thomas. Both testified Rini was at their home, 1391 Center street, on March 22.

Rini was the next called. He said in his boyhood he attended the Methodist Episcopel Sunday school at Wellsville, that he had learned the cobbler trade, and later he became a barber by trade. He said he had also worked at the Pennsylvania railroad shops at Wellsville, and also at the plant of the American Sheet and Tin Plate company, Wellsville.

At this juncture O'Grady made a motion that Felix Anania, uncle of the slain youth, who was sitting at the side of Prosecutor Brookes, be excluded from the courtroom. The motion was overruled for the reason that Felix Anania had already testified, and therefore, had a right to remain in court. The state also requested his presence for the purpose of consultation throughout the trial.

Rini explained that he was married, that his wife was a sister of Mrs. Chorgas, and that her maiden name was Mary Wallen, a sister of Roy Wallen, who was convicted of the murder of Rodney Ogle on Feb. 6, last.

Met Mrs. Chorgas in Minneapolis.

He said that he had known Patsy Anania at least five years, and the only work he knew Patsy to have done was to be "a dealer in a card game" and a "bootlegger." He testified that Patsy had been a card dealer in Wellsville and also in games at Steubenville, and that he had worked "off and on during the last two or three years."

"The last I knew him to work was hauling whisky in a machine," Rini testified under direct examination.

He went on to relate that he had met Mrs. Chorgas at Minneapolis in January, that he was married then, and that he was on his way to the coast and had stopped there with a friend and rented a room in the building in which Mrs. Chorgas and her husband resided.

"Patsy was my closest associate for two years," he said. "We never had any cross words. Patsy was always jolly, and we were out together every day. We went out with the girls, and we came to the Wallen trial with them."

Rini then referred to visits he made to the O'Donnell house in Sixth street and in Fourth street, East Liverpool, where Mrs. Chorgas and her sister were living during the Wallen trial.

'Drank Every Night," He Says.

He testified that he and Patsy called on Mrs. Chorgas and her sister every day when they lived at East Liverpool during the Wallen trial and "that we drank about every night" and "we furnished the liquor."

"Patsy furnish any?" Mr. O'Grady queried.

"He did."

"Patsy and Marie out in an auto?"

"They were."

"How frequently?"

"They came to Lisbon with a suit of clothes for her brother."

"Whose Fourth street house they lived in?"

"Don't know who owns it."

"Why did you leave?"

"Too much noise, arguments, noise and drinking."

"Mrs. Chorgas do any drinking?"

"She did."

The witness after a request described the rooms occupied in the rear of the Euclid hotel.

"You and Patsy ever have any words?"

"Patsy and I never had any words, nor with Marie."

"She get any money from her husband?"

'Got $200 once and $15 at another time."

"Patsy take any knives there?"

"Yes, to the Fourth street apartment and to the Euclid apartment"

"Patsy carry any knives?"

"Yes, I saw them."

"Ever see that knife?" he was asked as counsel held a broken kitchen knife before the witness.

"Never saw the broken off knife, but I did see one about two and one-half inches longer.

Claims Patsy Hit Marie.

"Who had the knife you described?"

"Patsy Anania. He had it to cut meat and other stuff. It was used every day to cut something."

"This the same knife Patsy had that you saw Marie use?"

"Same knife in the kitchen."

"What kept Marie at East Liverpool?" Objected to by Brookes and objection sustained.

"Why didn't she go home with her mother?"

"Said she was old enough to take care of herself."

"When did she say she was going home?"

"Said she was going to leave next night, March 21."

"She have any trouble with Patsy on Sunday?"

"Had an argument with Patsy."

"You present?"

"Yes."

"Heard conversation?"

"I did."

"What was done between them?"

"Nothing then."

"What next?"

"We all went to sleep."

"That Sunday night did Patsy burn a cork and rub it on Marie's face?"

"Yes, and she got angry. There was a scuffle. Marie was angry."

"How did Marie get an injury to her wrist?"

"Monday night—Patsy bit her on the neck or shoulder."

"Marks on Patsy?"

"I didn't see them wrestle."

"See marks on Patsy's body?"

Claims Marie Threatened Patsy.

"That Monday night I saw a red ring-like mark, it looked like teeth marks."

"Now on Sunday night what did you do?"

"Sunday night we all went to bed."

"Any drinking in the apartment Monday night?"

"Drank it all up before we went to bed."

"What you see Patsy do?"

"Patsy went up street with me. We went to ask Ralph Anania for the use of his car to take Marie to Salem so she could take her train for home. Marie had her grips packed, but she didn't go Monday night. Patsy asked her to stay and we went back to the apartment."

"Before that what time did you go back to the apartment?"

"I came back at 5:55 o'clock by Bess Johnson's watch."

"Why was Mrs. Johnson there?"

"Patsy wanted to talk with her."

"Marie threaten Patsy?"

"Yes."

Girl's Wrist Cut Monday Night.

"What occurred between them, Marie and Patsy, Sunday night?"

"Nothing."

"What did you hear said later?"

"Nothing."

"Marie come to you?"

"She did not."

"When did you leave the Euclid apartment, Monday?"

"Who left with you?"

"Patsy and Mrs. Johnson. We went to Wellsville in Ralph Anania's Buick."

"How often was Ralph Anania's car at the Euclid apartment?"

"Frequently."

"What did you do in Wellsville?"

"Drove to Riverside avenue between Third and Fourth street. I sent a telegram for Marie, then went to my home, 1411 Center street, got my overcoat and returned to East Liverpool."

"When you came back what did you observe?"

"Marie and Patsy had a half-pint, but there was only about an ounce in the bottle."

"What night was Marie's wrist cut?"

"Monday night."

"What occurred on Sunday night?"

"He put the burnt cord on her face."

"When did you leave Monday night?"

"Before midnight."

Denies He Had Knife.

The court ordered a recess at this part of the testimony.

"When you left the Chorgas apartment Monday night where did you go?"

"To the American pool room in East Liverpool."

"What did you go there for?"

"To ask Ralph Anania to take me home to Wellsville."

"Ever have any trouble with the Anania family?"

Radio Mergers

This is another era of business mergers, and the best field for them just at present seems to be the radio field.

Everybody knows there are too many stations in the country for their own good, or the public good. They interfere a great deal with each other, because of the duplication and closeness of wave-lengths used, making them less effective and less popular than they might be. They also provide too much competition for the good of the industry. Many a city has two or more stations struggling along with inferior programs, low power and high cost, when by combination the programs might be improved, better equipment installed, the public better pleased and more profit on the investment. Incidentally it would economize the wave-band and make more room in the crowded ether.

This procedure, recommended by Chairman Bullard of the federal radio commission, does not mean necessarily the elimination of known broadcasting stations, but merely the elimination of duplicated plants. He points out that it is a simple and business-like thing to consolidate the mechanical plants while preserving the call letters by which the different stations are known, letting them send out their individual programs from one station, and dividing their time.

This is done already in several American communities, and may become the usual thing before long, to the benefit alike of the industry and the public.

Frenzied Athletics

"Your fellows go at their games much more intensely than we do," remarks an English athletic star attending an American track meet.

"Perhaps that accounts for the fact," he adds, "that so many of your American college stars 'burn out' after brief competitive careers. They put all they have into three or four years of keen action.

"In England we take track and field sports less seriously; we do not train so sharply, either. One of my leading rivals in the hurdles, for instance, is a man 32 years old, getting better at an age when nearly all of your Americans have retired from competition."

Sane words! We need a little of such sanity sprinkled over American amateur athletics, no matter from what quarter—and England, with its sane love of outdoor sport, is a good quarter for it.

Not only are our college and high school athletes often "burned out" by the strain of intense training and competition, so that they are of little value to themselves and society in their maturity, but the craze for athletic championships is burning out a large part of the scholarship and culture of our educational institutions.

As for the general run of boys and girls who need to have their bodies built up by a rational system of mild, wholesome exercise in their formative years, they are not getting it. The physical development of those who need it most is sacrificed for the over-development of the exceptional ones who do not need it.

High schools and colleges become institutions of competitive sport rather than mental training, and the majority do not even share in the sport except in the form of artificial enthusiasm that burns up their nervous energy and warps their judgment of real values.

Cheaters Cheated

The world never lack proof of human gullibility and greed. Recently the New York Better Business Bureau has exposed nine concerns whose "business" has been to sell to small tradesmen fictitious protection from officials charged with the enforcement of municipal ordinances.

There was enough demand for such hoped-for protection to create quite a thriving business. That the people who paid good money to these concerns were duped probably served them right. They were trying to evade reasonable ordinances concerning the community's welfare, such as fire, health and building regulations. They were trying to enjoy a little small-scale graft, completely failing to realize either their duty to the community as a whole or their own best good.

A Kind Little Negro Town

Among the heart-touching stories coming out of the flood region is the news of the heroism of the little town of Mound Bayou, Miss. The 1,600 inhabitants of that community are all negroes, excepting only the railroad station master.

Mound Bayou, having escaped flood waters itself, has been the haven of more than a thousand refugees—almost as many as the town's own population. The natives of the little town have taken care of all the flood sufferers who have come to it for help. When the only local physician died, two weeks ago, the Red Cross sent in two colored physicians. All other services have been provided by Mound Bayou citizens at their own expense.

Heroism and service are not confined to the white race.

Anybody who thinks people are being too much standardized should pick out a dozen people who live in the same kind of houses and drive the same kind of cars and wear the same kind of clothes, and get them to talking politics.

Don't save daylight. Use it.

AN APPEAL TO ONE'S BETTER SELF.

The late Tom O'Connor of San Francisco, who at the time of his sudden death a few years ago was one of the most brilliant young criminal lawyers on the Pacific coast, assured me that this story was of actual occurrence.

A venerable gentleman was elected county judge up in an interior county of northern California on the strength of the fact that he had a kind and gentle disposition and despite the fact that he knew very little about the law.

He had been on the bench only a few weeks when a crime which stirred the entire community was committed. A Mexican youth fell out with his aged mother and father. So he took an ax and while they slept he chopped both his parents up into bits.

He was captured red-handed and confessed and at once was brought before the new county judge to be held for the grand jury. The attorney for the state described the double murder in detail and then, according to formula, asked that the prisoner be committed to jail without bail.

Through the recital His Honor had been uttering little distressed clucking sounds. But now it dawned upon him that he was expected to say something.

He fixed his eyes upon the callous face of the defendant and in a gently reproachful tone spoke as follows:

"Now, look here, son you know you ain't been acting right!"

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, May 6.—Thoughts while strolling: What's become of crash suits? The old Savoy's hedged tea porch is gone. Durland, the ridding academy man. Who is to close his academy. Wondon why you never see a blonde violin virtuoso?

The octogenarian who wears a plush white hat. And smokes gold tipped cigarettes. Fifth Avenue has a $150-a-bob hair bobber. Gamins rolling dice on a cathedral steps. A young girl in a smock carrying a hunting gun. Alan Dale in a taxicab.

The cactus plants in florists' windows. A breath of the wild west for cubicle flat dwellers. A lady in furs carries a fan. One cop to another: "I seen three robins today." A lip stick display in a dog shop window. Sheepish firemen putting out a rubbish can blaze.

A shop emblazons: "Ultraish and chic." Tea rooms with Italian villa stucco fronts. And a "Dine-in-a Minute" sandwich shop. New apartment house warns: "Radios barred." And a manicure parlor heralds: "Gertrude Lawrence patronizes us."

Bottles of prepared cocktails—just add the gin. Blades who strap their wrist watches palmward. A dog washing parlor. Those homes where carpets are stretched to the automobile. Monogrammed packets of matches. Old fashioned bed quilts at $500.

The aloofness of the Ritz Tower doormen. Soda jerkers in gold braided coats and pink tambourine caps. A huge building filled with dentists. And you never hear a yelp. From haughty magnificence into a furnished room district.

Women with rag-rapped heads as though in perpetual headache. Soiled window curtains. Soiled white dogs and chattering parrots. Worn steps with foot scrapers. Bowls of gold fish. Rugs aired from up stairs windows. The cry of a scissors grinder.

When a New York taxi driver is untipped he calls himself "skunked." A driver tells me not more than half his fares tip. "The watch the meter," he says, "have the correct change, hand it to you and rush across the sidewalk as though they had stolen something."

The taxi driver, incidentally, is the best paid of all people who expect a gratuity. And in majority of cases, the most insolent. Self respecting drivers who regard their work as selling cab service are conscious of this and there is a movement now to weed out the undesirable or make them change their ways. Taxicab companies have lost thousands of dollars because of drivers' insulting attitude toward pedestrians. Many who can afford taxicabs will not use them. They employ private cars even for short hauls.

Those hideaways behind grilled doors in the Fifties are a striking display of prohibition mockery. Only the extremely elect are permitted and they must not come in groups or in automobiles. They must drop in singly or in pairs as though visiting a private home. Here seasonable food is served, cocktails are shaken at the table. Wine comes in frosted silver buckets. There is every cordial known—from brandy in wide flanged glasses to thimblefuls of Cointreau. Absinthe drips are dipped on lumps of sugar in the standardized New Orleans dripper. But there is one rule that is rigidly observed. One may drink what he pleases but if he ever shows his liquor he can never come again.

One of those hotel-lobby Don Juans was tapped on the shoulder the other morning by a house detective. "What's the idea?" he remonstrated. "You're just too damn purty," was the bored reply.

Colonial Flags.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 6.—The approach of Flag Day, with sesquicentennial honors to be accorded this year to Old Glory, arouses interest in the flags that were used in this country in colonial times, and their number was legion. George M. Cohan, the well-known dramatist and producer, discovered a quarter of a century ago that modern Americans are a flag-waving people and he turned that discovery to good account in numerous stage successes. Had his predecessors in stage affairs been of an inquiring mind they might have profited from the discovery that Americans have been strong for flags ever since they earned title to their name by stepping foot on this continent.

First they made much of the flags of their mother countries—England, France, Spain and Holland—and then they decided to have flags of their own. Soon there was a multiplicity of colonial flags of different designs containing a great variety of devices. Not only did the respective colonies have their distinctive emblems, but military organizations had their special banners and even counties and boroughs had their own standards.

Perhaps the earlies flag of more than local significance was that known, which dates back to 1686. Out of respect to King James it was white quartered by a wide red cross, on the center of which appeared the initials J. R. —— James Rex — with a gold crown above.

Forty years later the New England colonies were using another flag, which had a blue field with a red cross quartering a white canton, or union, with, in its first quartering, a globe symbolizing the New World. This is said to have been the first use of red, white, and blue as a flag of union in the colonies, and the banner is classed as the inspiration of the committee that designed the Cambridge or Grand Union flag, which was the immediate predecessor of the Stars and Stripes.

Ben Franklin's Flags.

Benjamin Franklin, whose versatility seemingly knew no bounds, was a member of the committee that created the Grand Union flag in 1775, but almost thirty years earlier than that he had his first experience in flag-making. In his Autobiography he tells that in 1747, when England was at war with Spain and attacked also by France, he saw the need of colonial preparation for war and assisted in the organization of military companies in the English colonies and in their equipment.

He says that he saw to it that "they furnished themselves as soon as they could with arms, formed themselves into companies and regiments, chose their own exercises and other parts of military discipline. The women, by subscription among themselves, provided 20 silk colors (banners or flags) which they presented to the companies, painted with different devices and mottoes, which I supplied."

These twenty Franklin flags are exceedingly interesting. They presented a wide variety of emblems and every one bore a motto that was intended to express the sentiments of the men over whom it waved or to inspire them with patriotic fervor. One bore the figure of a crouching lion with the motto, "Rouse Me If You Dare!" Another presented the figure of a placid elephant with the motto,

WALTER L. MAIN CIRCUS TO HAVE NOTED ARRAY OF FORTY CLOWNS

Harry La Pearl.

One of the greatest arrays of clowns ever carried on tour by an American circus is found with the Walter L. Main Circus this year. There are forty of the funny fellows-count 'em, forty and their latest laugh provoking creations are guaranteed to bring forth the keenest merriment of the year. These clowns are all guaranteed laugh-getters and many have been seen with the greatest amusement organizations to be found in Europe.

The role of clown is no easy one. The modern clown is a paradox. He is the same as in the days of the celebrated Dan Rice, back in the past century, and yet he is a different clown. The explanation? Well in this way—he is the same in that he paints his face in vermillion and white and adheres to the time-honored ridiculous pattern in his dress, he is different because of the fact that his work of today is practically all pantomine and he never reverts to the old habit of clowns of former days who almost exclusively made up his act of recitations, songs, and jokes.

The change in the clown's method of work is the logical result of shifting conditions in the circus world. In other days, when one ring sufficed, the tent was necessarily small, a fact which permitted the clown to be heard distinctly everywhere under the canvas. At that time one act was quite enough for such a limited audience. And the clown being obliged to contribute his share on the program, happily hit upon the pleasing and successful idea of singing, joking and reciting.

Nowadays all is changed. Tents have been enlarged to care for many additional rings and are of huge proportions. It is impossible for the clown's voice to be heard from every point and so naturally he has to act entirely in pantomine, or "dumb acting." There are forty clowns with the Walter L. Main Circus who from the greatest collection of this sort ever seen here. The international favorite, Harry La Pearl, heads the list, and among the foremost in his support are Fred Leslie, Chick Reed, Lou Hershey, Harry Loy, Rube Dyer, Eddie Palmer, George St. John, Al DeArman, and Jimmy Jackson.

The Walter L. Main Circus will be seen here on Wednesday, May 11.

The Street Parade will be given at 11 a. m., and doors open to the immense menagerie at 1 and 7 p. m., with the performances starting at 2 and 8 p. m.

HOOSIERS WILL SPEND FORTUNE FOR HIGHWAYS

Nine Millions to be Invested in Concrete.

TO BUILD BRIDGE

Will Pay for Big Program Out of Gasoline Taxes.

INDIANAPOLIS.—With the paving season barely started, Indiana is planning to lay approximately $9,000,000 worth of concrete on her state highways this year, besides starting preliminary work on a $3,000,000 bridge over the Ohio at Evansville, John D. Williams, director of the state highway commission, says.

Although the expenditure has been planned, the state will not go in debt for the construction of its roads, Williams said. The state gasoline tax and automobile licenses will pay for the construction work, the director said.

Under the Indiana laws, the state cannot issue bonds for any purpose. But these are unnecessary, Williams said.

Enviable Position.

The Highway Commission Director showed that Indiana holds an enviable position among other states in hard surfaced roads. This state has more maintained mileage under the federal 7 per cent system than any other in the Union, Williams said.

Williams expressed a belief that Indiana would construct more concrete roads this year than any of the states surrounding it. Several of the neighbors, Williams said, are out of funds for construction work, although some are making plans to lay more mileage than Indiana.

The director said the Indiana commission has a hang over from last year, of 35 miles, contracted for, but unpaved. So far this year contracts have been let for the construction of 150 miles more, and bids will be asked for the construction of 150 miles additional before the end of the summer.

$3,000,000 Bridge.

Besides this work, the commission is making arrangements to start building the $3,000,000 bridge over the Ohio river at Evansville.

The last legislature made provisions whereby the state commission could undertake the work.

Although the work will be done by Indiana, and paid for by the state, Vanderburg county, in which Evansville is located, will be assessed one-fourth of the cost. Kentucky will be asked to share the other fourth of the expenses, leaving the state to bear one-half of the total cost.

Construction of the bridge at Evansville is expected to open up a large territory in the western part of Kentucky.

WATER POWER BILL VETOED

Measure Passed on Last Day of Legislature Disapproved.

Governor Howard M. Gore last night vetoed house bill No. 500, concerning water power legislation and senate bill No. 294, embodying recommendations of the legislative committee which investigated the state workmen's compensation law.

The governor indicated it was his purpose to promptly resubmit the water power bill to the consideration of the legislature in order that it may have an opportunity to consider the difficulties that are, to his mind, contained in the bill.

This will enable the legislature to protect with certainty the interests of the state of West Virginia in conserving its hydro-electric power for use within the state, he said. No great delay will be occasioned by the disapproval of the bill, due to the fact that the legislature will be again in session in 30 days, when they can take up and further consider this matter, it was pointed out.

The governor expressed regret that he believed it his duty to disapprove this legislation in the form that it now is, but because of the grave doubts as to the form in which these protections are expressed, he was impressed with the fact that the wise course was to give the legislature an opportunity to pass upon the suggestions made with respect thereto.

The fact that this bill was not finally enacted until the last night of the legislature deprived him of an opportunity to point out the objections to the bill in order if the legislature concurred they might recall the bill and make such changes as appeared to them to be wise and needful, it was stated.

Referring to the compensation bill, the governor said that while it contained many commendable features, one section of it so materially changes the operation of the law that he could not assent to it.

"I understand the theory and purpose of workmen's compensation laws are to eliminate insofar as possible the litigation of claims resulting from personal injuries. This section in effect destroys this commendable feature of the law and gives to the employer a right to litigate every award made by the commissioner without affording a like privilege to the employe," the governor said.

"It is apparent that if this section became the law of the state, the supreme court of appeals could be clogged with litigation growing out of the workmen's compensation act and that the administration as well as the beneficial results to employed and employe flowing from the act would result in much confusion and delay. I, therefore, disapprove the bill."

LAD IS PLACED ON PROBATION

When arraigned before Judge Baker Wednesday for sentence, Russell Cunningham, a 13-year-old boy of near Chester, was placed on probation by the court. The boy pleaded guilty Wednesday to a charge of breaking into a private rural mail box and stealing a letter.

The Cunningham boy was ordered by the court to attend Sunday school each Sunday, attend the public school regularly and write twice a year to the court. He was placed in the care of Justice of the Peace A. G. Allison of Chester.

Congressman Carl G. Bachman was appointed Wednesday to represent the boy. He advised the court that the boy be placed on probation, declaring he did not think a sentence to a reformatory would do him good.

To Attend Services.

Members of the Odd Fellows and Rebekah lodges will attend services Sunday morning in the First Christian church. Appropriate sermon will be delivered by Rev. A. E. Sims.

LEAGUE SEASON OPENS TOMORROW

Large crowd is expected the opening game of the Industrial league season here tomorrow afternoon between Superior Cord Tires and Wellsville.

Smith field has been placed in good condition for the initial contest of the 1927 campaign.

T. T. Timothy, general manager of the Chester plant of the American Sheet and Tin Plate company, announced today that close to $400 had been raised for the Mississippi Valley flood sufferers this week from employes of the plant. Every worker subscribed.

The money will be forwarded to the headquarters of the National Red Cross at Washington.

CAPACITY CROWD AT CLASS PLAY

Capacity crowd witnessed the initial performance of "Amazon Isle" presented last night in the Lincoln theatre under the auspices of the Senior class of the Chester high school.

Members of the cast showed to advantage. Specialties were introduced between acts. The production was staged under the direction of Miss Helen V. Lewis.

The performance will be repeated tonight.

CERAMIC BOOKS NOVEL MOVIE

"The Man They Could Not Hang" Coming Monday.

A novelty combining both film and stage presentation is "The Man They Could Not Hang," coming to the Ceramic theatre on Monday for a three-day run. The story of John Lee, convicted slayer of his aged mistress, who, protesting his innocence was led to the scaffold which three times refused to act and Lee's consequent escape from death is told vocally in Scenic Operatic Prologue, orally by the well known Broadway favorite, W. Leonard Howe so long with "Doug" Fairbanks, who relates the marvelous manner of Lee's triple escape as well as pictorially. The special music carried by the company is a feature of the show as is Miss Boreen Thompson, Canadian lyric soprano who sings the music incidental to the picture.

The company carries special vaudeville and a full program of comics, etc.

Governor Signs Game Bills; Adds One to Veto List

COLUMBUS, O., May 6.—Two bills, enacted at the present session of the Ohio legislature, yesterday received Governor Vic Donahey's approving signature. These measures are: The Emory-McRitchie bill, protecting game, and the Davidson bill, protecting fish.

The Emory-McRitchie bill reduces the open season on squirrel and pheasant and limits the rabbit catch to five. The Davidson bill limits the possession of minnows by one person, except dealers, to 100.

The governor also signed the Laybourne bill, legalizing sale of church property without a court order, and the Herbert bill, authorizing police departments to sell unclaimed automobiles after 90 days.

He vetoed the Hodson-Loughead bill, authorizing appointment of county dog-wardens and deputies to "seize and impound on sight all dogs," is on record today. The governor recided there is "no need" for such officials.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our appreciation to all our friends and neighbors, Rev. Duncan and Singers, for their kindness to us during our sorrow in the loss of our infant son, Fred, Jr. We also thank those who sent the many floral offerings and those who gave the use of their cars.

We, the SERVICE STORES of Chester, are glad to announce this as the first of a series of advertisements to the housewives of Chester, pointing out the special advantages to be obtained by dealing with members of the SERVICE STORES.

Our business is established in this community. We are citizens of Chester, proud of her achievements and hopeful for the future. You know us individually. You know that our prosperity depends upon fair and honest dealing with you.

For the sake of a small temporary gain, we cannot jeopardize our future. We will not sacrifice the great good will you hold toward us for temporary profit.

When you deal with us, you are assured fair dealing, good merchandise, prompt and courteous service.

We buy our goods from local wholesalers. All our social and business interests are definitely tied to Chester. If we prosper our prosperity is reflected in this community.

Every dollar we spend for our "daily bread" is spent in Chester. Not one penny of our profit is divided among those who live in other cities and have no other interests in our community than to "reap and sow elsewhere."

We hope in this series of advertisements appearing each Friday evening, to point out to you, the Chester housewives, the advantages of dealing with us.

Ours is in no sense an argument of charity. It is not even one of civic pride, but is based solely on sound business principles of a dollar's worth for a dollar, and service worthy of the name.

WATER POWER BILL VETOED

Measure Passed on Last Day of Legislature Disapproved.

Governor Howard M. Gore last night vetoed house bill No. 500, concerning water power legislation and senate bill No. 294, embodying recommendations of the legislative committee which investigated the state workmen's compensation law.

The governor indicated it was his purpose to promptly resubmit the water power bill to the consideration of the legislature in order that it may have an opportunity to consider the difficulties that are, to his mind, contained in the bill.

This will enable the legislature to protect with certainty the interests of the state of West Virginia in conserving its hydro-electric power for use within the state, he said. No great delay will be occasioned by the disapproval of the bill, due to the fact that the legislature will be again in session in 30 days, when they can take up and further consider this matter, it was pointed out.

The governor expressed regret that he believed it his duty to disapprove this legislation in the form that it now is, but because of the grave doubts as to the form in which these protections are expressed, he was impressed with the fact that the wise course was to give the legislature an opportunity to pass upon the suggestions made with respect thereto.

The fact that this bill was not finally enacted until the last night of the legislature deprived him of an opportunity to point out the objections to the bill in order if the legislature concurred they might recall the bill and make such changes as appeared to them to be wise and needful, it was stated.

Referring to the compensation bill, the governor said that while it contained many commendable features, one section of it so materially changes the operation of the law that he could not assent to it.

"I understand the theory and purpose of workmen's compensation laws are to eliminate insofar as possible the litigation of claims resulting from personal injuries. This section in effect destroys this commendable feature of the law and gives to the employer a right to litigate every award made by the commissioner without affording a like privilege to the employe," the governor said.

"It is apparent that if this section became the law of the state, the supreme court of appeals could be clogged with litigation growing out of the workmen's compensation act and that the administration as well as the beneficial results to employed and employe flowing from the act would result in much confusion and delay. I, therefore, disapprove the bill."

LAD IS PLACED ON PROBATION

When arraigned before Judge Baker Wednesday for sentence, Russell Cunningham, a 13-year-old boy of near Chester, was placed on probation by the court. The boy pleaded guilty Wednesday to a charge of breaking into a private rural mail box and stealing a letter.

The Cunningham boy was ordered by the court to attend Sunday school each Sunday, attend the public school regularly and write twice a year to the court. He was placed in the care of Justice of the Peace A. G. Allison of Chester.

Congressman Carl G. Bachman was appointed Wednesday to represent the boy. He advised the court that the boy be placed on probation, declaring he did not think a sentence to a reformatory would do him good.

To Attend Services.

Members of the Odd Fellows and Rebekah lodges will attend services Sunday morning in the First Christian church. Appropriate sermon will be delivered by Rev. A. E. Sims.

LEAGUE SEASON OPENS TOMORROW

Large crowd is expected the opening game of the Industrial league season here tomorrow afternoon between Superior Cord Tires and Wellsville.

CAPACITY CROWD AT CLASS PLAY

Capacity crowd witnessed the initial performance of "Amazon Isle" presented last night in the Lincoln theatre under the auspices of the Senior class of the Chester high school.

Members of the cast showed to advantage. Specialties were introduced between acts. The production was staged under the direction of Miss Helen V. Lewis.

The performance will be repeated tonight.

CERAMIC BOOKS NOVEL MOVIE

"The Man They Could Not Hang" Coming Monday.

A novelty combining both film and stage presentation is "The Man They Could Not Hang," coming to the Ceramic theatre on Monday for a three-day run. The story of John Lee, convicted slayer of his aged mistress, who, protesting his innocence was led to the scaffold which three times refused to act and Lee's consequent escape from death is told vocally in Scenic Operatic Prologue, orally by the well known Broadway favorite, W. Leonard Howe so long with "Doug" Fairbanks, who relates the marvelous manner of Lee's triple escape as well as pictorially. The special music carried by the company is a feature of the show as is Miss Boreen Thompson, Canadian lyric soprano who sings the music incidental to the picture.

The company carries special vaudeville and a full program of comics, etc.

Governor Signs Game Bills; Adds One to Veto List

COLUMBUS, O., May 6.—Two bills, enacted at the present session of the Ohio legislature, yesterday received Governor Vic Donahey's approving signature. These measures are: The Emory-McRitchie bill, protecting game, and the Davidson bill, protecting fish.

The Emory-McRitchie bill reduces the open season on squirrel and pheasant and limits the rabbit catch to five. The Davidson bill limits the possession of minnows by one person, except dealers, to 100.

The governor also signed the Laybourne bill, legalizing sale of church property without a court order, and the Herbert bill, authorizing police departments to sell unclaimed automobiles after 90 days.

He vetoed the Hodson-Loughead bill, authorizing appointment of county dog-wardens and deputies to "seize and impound on sight all dogs," is on record today. The governor recided there is "no need" for such officials.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our appreciation to all our friends and neighbors, Rev. Duncan and Singers, for their kindness to us during our sorrow in the loss of our infant son, Fred, Jr. We also thank those who sent the many floral offerings and those who gave the use of their cars.

THE GRAB BAG

May 6, 1927.

Here is a photo of Miss Anne Nichols as she appeared at the beginning of a stage success of which she is author. What is the play?

Today marks the anniversary of the last day of the Battle of the Wilderness. In what war was this famous battle fought?

Name a word meaning to fasten or to join, as by tying knots.

The earth, like most of the other planets, is very nearly a perfect sphere. Can you give its diameter in miles?

Rhode Island with an area of 1,248 square miles is the smallest state in the union. Can you name the second smallest state?

"The truth shall make you free." Where does this passage appear in the Bible?

Today's Horoscope.

Women born on this date are inclined to dislike everything pertaining to housework, and should carefully consider this before marrying any man who cannot afford to have the heaviest of the drudgery done for them.

Snappy Saying.

Speaking of questions and answers—who ran for vice president on the Democratic ticket last election?

Answers to Foregoing Questions.

1. "Abie's Irish Rose."
2. The Civil war.
3. To knit.
4. 7,926 miles.
5. Delaware.
6. John, VIII, 32.

Dinner Stories.

A negro stoker was crossing the Atlantic for the first time. One day when he came up on deck to get a breath of fresh air, he looked out over the broad expanse of water, with no object whatever in sight, and said in disgruntled tones, "Shucks! We is right whar we was dis time yistaday."

His Error!

He: "Who is that handsome boy with the cropped head?" She: "That's my cousin Betty." "And the blonde man with the monocle?" "That's my younger sister Lu." Laughing, but embarrassed, "So I suppose the other young man in the dinner jacket is your elder sister?" "No, that's my grandmother!"

Un-natural History.

"These are our goldfish," said one small boy to another. "Do you have goldfish?"

"No, my mother only buys sardines."

Conclusive Evidence.

Dudley—What makes you think that your wife got your money?

Jenkins—Well, I'm not sure about it, but I reached in my pants pocket this morning and instead of finding my bank roll I found a thimble.

Cleveland School Girl's Abbreviated Stockings Get O. K.

CLEVELAND, May 6.—Gertrude Bates, 8, will attend school wearing abbreviated stockings, as usual.

When the little girl was sent home by her teacher with others "to cover her knees," the matter was taken up with the superintenednt and the director of health work in the schools. Each declared no such order had been handed down from his office. The director of health work, Dr. L. W. Childs, said he was in favor of "bare knees."

"The more body surface exposed to the wind and sun, the better," said Dr. Childs. "Children should get all the sunlight possible through the skin. It helps to build bone."

We, the SERVICE STORES of Chester, are glad to announce this as the first of a series of advertisements to the housewives of Chester, pointing out the special advantages to be obtained by dealing with members of the SERVICE STORES.

Our business is established in this community. We are citizens of Chester, proud of her achievements and hopeful for the future. You know us individually. You know that our prosperity depends upon fair and honest dealing with you.

For the sake of a small temporary gain, we cannot jeopardize our future. We will not sacrifice the great good will you hold toward us for temporary profit.

When you deal with us, you are assured fair dealing, good merchandise, prompt and courteous service.

We buy our goods from local wholesalers. All our social and business interests are definitely tied to Chester. If we prosper our prosperity is reflected in this community.

Every dollar we spend for our "daily bread" is spent in Chester. Not one penny of our profit is divided among those who live in other cities and have no other interests in our community than to "reap and sow elsewhere."

We hope in this series of advertisements appearing each Friday evening, to point out to you, the Chester housewives, the advantages of dealing with us.

Ours is in no sense an argument of charity. It is not even one of civic pride, but is based solely on sound business principles of a dollar's worth for a dollar, and service worthy of the name.

WELLSVILLE AGENTS NAB MAN

E. LIVERPOOL RESIDENT HELD FOR $300 FINE

Elmer Pritchard Goes to Jail After Rum Seizure.

SECOND ARREST

Carlos Gilbert Assessed $100 and Costs by Acting Mayor.

Charged with possession of intoxicating liquor, Elmer Pritchard, who lives at Stop 61 along the Y. & O. railroad, north of East Liverpool, was arrested yesterday, shortly before noon by State Prohibition Inspector G. A. Baynham and his squad, working out of Wellsville.

The raiders, it is said, obtained a quantity of alleged whisky and beer, which was taken to the city hall in Wellsville.

Pritchard was given a hearing before Acting Mayor Clyde Baker last night. He pleaded guilty and was fined $300 and costs.

Pending arrangements to pay he has been committed to jail.

Carlos Gilbert, of Second street, was arrested last night on an affidavit signed by Chief of Police John Fultz, charging possession. A small quantity of liquor, it is said, was found in a jug at Gilbert's place.

He was fined $100 and costs and made arrangements to pay.

W. Fagan, of Wellsville, arrested on a charge of intoxication, was fined $5 and costs.

Charged with reckless driving, C. M. Bailey, driver for a Kaufman company truck, Pittsburgh, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Chief of Police John Fultz. He was fined $10 and costs and made arrangements to pay.

PLAN MOTHERS DAY PROGRAMS

Services are Arranged at Christian Church.

Mother's day will be observed with appropriate programs Sunday morning and evening in the First Christian church, according to announcement today by Rev. L. E. Lee, pastor.

Special recognition will be advanced all mothers present and a gift of flowers will be made to the oldest mother. The church asks that everyone attending bring his or her mother.

Rev. Lee will deliver an appropriate sermon at the morning services when honors will be paid to all mothers present.

The Girls' Glee club, under the direction of Mrs. L. E. Lee, will present a program of music and readings in the evening at 7:30 o'clock, the program being constructed around the Mother's Day theme. Rev. L. E. Lee will give a 30-minute talk. "Two Types of Womanhood" will be his theme.

Any mother who has no way to go to church Sunday morning will be provided with transportation through John Ralston or Rev. Lee.

JONES FILES APPEAL NOTICE

Stay of Execution Granted in Arson Case.

RUBIN BUYS BIG BUILDING

Report $850,000 Involved in Pittsburgh Deal.

The Keenan building, an 18-story office structure at the northwest corner of Liberty Avenue and Seventh street, Pittsburgh has been sold for the City Real Estate Holdings company to S. W. Rubin, of the Wellsville Iron & Metal company, brokers. The transfer of the property will be completed on or before June 1, for a private consideration.

The building is on a lot 60x80 feet, directly across Seventh street from the Clark office building and the Stanley-Clark theatre, Avey & Irish and Walter H. Coyle, of John A. Sharp's office, were the brokers.

The Keenan building was built in 1903 and 1904, by Colonel Thomas Keenan who managed the property until its sale to the City Real Estate Holdings company early in the war, this company being composed of a number of local investors. For many years, the building attracted attention by reason of the big ball on the dome. This ball was removed by the Holdings company.

Except to make announcement that a sale of the property had been negotiated, there was no further official information as to its sale price. Unofficial discussions yesterday placed a value around $850,000 on the property, and there were those who said that another property had figured in the negotiations as part consideration.

GIRL INJURED IN CAR CRASH

Miss Grace Polsley Hurt in Cleveland Accident.

Miss Grace Polsley, of Cleveland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Polsley, 1522 Commerce street, is confined to her home in the Fifth city as a result of injuries sustained Tuesday morning in a street car collision, according to word received here.

Mrs. Polsley, the girl's mother, left for Cleveland this morning.

According to information received by Mrs. Polsley, her daughter sustained torn ligaments in her back and was bruised to some extent in the collision. Her injuries, however, are not said to be serious.

Miss Polsley has been employed for sometime in the C. & P. railroad division accountant's office.

WELLSVILLE AGENTS NAB MAN

E. LIVERPOOL RESIDENT HELD FOR $300 FINE

Elmer Pritchard Goes to Jail After Rum Seizure.

SECOND ARREST

Carlos Gilbert Assessed $100 and Costs by Acting Mayor.

Charged with possession of intoxicating liquor, Elmer Pritchard, who lives at Stop 61 along the Y. & O. railroad, north of East Liverpool, was arrested yesterday, shortly before noon by State Prohibition Inspector G. A. Baynham and his squad, working out of Wellsville.

The raiders, it is said, obtained a quantity of alleged whisky and beer, which was taken to the city hall in Wellsville.

Pritchard was given a hearing before Acting Mayor Clyde Baker last night. He pleaded guilty and was fined $300 and costs.

Pending arrangements to pay he has been committed to jail.

Carlos Gilbert, of Second street, was arrested last night on an affidavit signed by Chief of Police John Fultz, charging possession. A small quantity of liquor, it is said, was found in a jug at Gilbert's place.

He was fined $100 and costs and made arrangements to pay.

W. Fagan, of Wellsville, arrested on a charge of intoxication, was fined $5 and costs.

Charged with reckless driving, C. M. Bailey, driver for a Kaufman company truck, Pittsburgh, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Chief of Police John Fultz. He was fined $10 and costs and made arrangements to pay.

PLAN MOTHERS DAY PROGRAMS

Services are Arranged at Christian Church.

Mother's day will be observed with appropriate programs Sunday morning and evening in the First Christian church, according to announcement today by Rev. L. E. Lee, pastor.

Special recognition will be advanced all mothers present and a gift of flowers will be made to the oldest mother. The church asks that everyone attending bring his or her mother.

Rev. Lee will deliver an appropriate sermon at the morning services when honors will be paid to all mothers present.

The Girls' Glee club, under the direction of Mrs. L. E. Lee, will present a program of music and readings in the evening at 7:30 o'clock, the program being constructed around the Mother's Day theme. Rev. L. E. Lee will give a 30-minute talk. "Two Types of Womanhood" will be his theme.

Any mother who has no way to go to church Sunday morning will be provided with transportation through John Ralston or Rev. Lee.

JONES FILES APPEAL NOTICE

Stay of Execution Granted in Arson Case.

Nathan Jones, colored, Wellsville man convicted by a jury in common pleas court last week on a charge of burning a building with intent to prejudice the insurers, yesterday filed a notice of appeal.

Stay of execution was granted the defendant by Judge W. F. Lones before whom the case was tried.

Must Use Rubber Tires.

In response to complaints filed by residents of Lisbon street, Acting Mayor Clyde Baker yesterday requested J. M. Kerr, of Yellow Creek, to equip a tractor with rubber tires before permitting it to be used on city streets here.

F. F. Debolt Becomes Sole Owner of Travelers' Garage

Sole ownership of the Travelers' garage, East Fourth street, has been acquired by F. F. Debolt, through the purchase of the interests of W. N. Wilson, former manager, according to announcement made today.

Active management has been placed in the hands of Karl J. Krug, who has been with the company since June, 1925.

The change in ownership will have no effect on the operations of the company which will continue the sale and service of the Stutz, Peerless and Little Marmon automobiles.

Special For Saturday — Millinery apart from the ordinary. $5.00, $7.50, $10.00. The Little Hat Shoppe, 2nd Floor, Little Bldg.

RUBIN BUYS BIG BUILDING

Report $850,000 Involved in Pittsburgh Deal.

The Keenan building, an 18-story office structure at the northwest corner of Liberty Avenue and Seventh street, Pittsburgh has been sold for the City Real Estate Holdings company to S. W. Rubin, of the Wellsville Iron & Metal company, brokers. The transfer of the property will be completed on or before June 1, for a private consideration.

The building is on a lot 60x80 feet, directly across Seventh street from the Clark office building and the Stanley-Clark theatre, Avey & Irish and Walter H. Coyle, of John A. Sharp's office, were the brokers.

The Keenan building was built in 1903 and 1904, by Colonel Thomas Keenan who managed the property until its sale to the City Real Estate Holdings company early in the war, this company being composed of a number of local investors. For many years, the building attracted attention by reason of the big ball on the dome. This ball was removed by the Holdings company.

Except to make announcement that a sale of the property had been negotiated, there was no further official information as to its sale price. Unofficial discussions yesterday placed a value around $850,000 on the property, and there were those who said that another property had figured in the negotiations as part consideration.

GIRL INJURED IN CAR CRASH

Miss Grace Polsley Hurt in Cleveland Accident.

Miss Grace Polsley, of Cleveland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Polsley, 1522 Commerce street, is confined to her home in the Fifth city as a result of injuries sustained Tuesday morning in a street car collision, according to word received here.

Mrs. Polsley, the girl's mother, left for Cleveland this morning.

According to information received by Mrs. Polsley, her daughter sustained torn ligaments in her back and was bruised to some extent in the collision. Her injuries, however, are not said to be serious.

Miss Polsley has been employed for sometime in the C. & P. railroad division accountant's office.

EAST END P.-T. A. MEET MONDAY

Officers of the East End Parent Teachers' association today announced the organization will hold its May meeting on Monday evening in the school building, Wells avenue, instead of the following week.

A program of music will follow the business session during which officers for next year will be elected.

MASONS' FINAL DANCE TONIGHT

Wellsville lodge, No. 180, F. & A. Masons, will hold their final dance of the spring season tonight in the lodgerooms in Main street, the affair taking the form of a May party.

Guests will be in attendance from Wellsville, East Liverpool, Salineville, Lisbon and Youngstown.

Music for the dancing will be furnished by DeMar Miller's orchestra.

Luncheon will be served by members of the local chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star.

SALINEVILLE

The Brushcreek township grange met Wednesday evening at the Smith school house. The following program was given, in charge of Mrs. George Martin, chairman of the Northeast Section: Selection by the grange orchestra; a Mormon wedding, by 13 characters; vocal solo, Clyde Smith; reading, W. G. Dallas; solo, Miss Virgil Hull, accompanied on the banjo and violin by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hull; oriental story, by Frank Smith; duet, Mrs. Ernet Hull and Mrs. Larry Kestler; vocal solo, Larry Kestler, accompanied by the orchestra; reading, Clarence Landis; solo, Mrs. Ida Bowman; banjo, and violin duet, Mr. and Mrs. Hull; original story, Miss Leona Bowman; reading by Miss Vera Dallis; demonstration of the Charleston, by three little Hull girls; violin solo, Eugene Hughie; reading, Charles Hunter; instrumental duet, by Mr. and Mrs. Hull, "Farewell to Thee."

The Young Ladies' Missionary society of the Presbyterian church, met in the church Tuesday evening. Mrs. Mabel H. Martin conducted the devotional service. Miss Faye Heatherington had charge of the home topic and Mrs. Walter Lange discussed the foreign topic.

The business session was in charge of the president, Mrs. Blanche Hanley.

During the social hour, Miss Fae Smith sang a solo. The hostesses, Mrs. Blaine Patterson, and Miss Ruth Green, served lunch.

The Dorcas Bible class of the Presbyterian church met in the chapel of the church Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. The devotional service was conducted by Mrs. Charles Johnson. The president, Mrs. Helen James, had charge of the business session. The advisability of putting on the "Passion Play" was discussed.

Rev. H. L. Peoples substituted in the Junior High Tuesday for Miss Margarite Burns, while she was attending the wedding of her brother, Charles Burns, to Miss Regina Keating.

Mrs. Ross Allison and son, James of West End, are both ill with rheumatism. Young Allison has been sick for more than two months.

Miss Grace Grove, of West End, is reported on the sick list.

Mrs. Harold Rowe, of Cleveland, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gould.

Mrs. Walter Kelley, of Philadelphia, Pa., is visiting her brother, R. W. Daley, and family.

Miss Faye Hancock, of New York City, is spending several days in Salineville.

John Allicon, employed at Youngstown, spent several days with relatives in Salineville.

Promises to "Clean Up."

A Twelfth and Commerce street grocer, said to have been dumping fish over the Yellow Creek bank near the street car bridge, was arraigned before Acting Mayor Clyde Baker yesterday.

Baker released the man on his promise to "clean up."

TORONTO MAN SHOOTS SELF

Despondent, Oil Truck Driver Attempts Suicide.

Dean Hotchkiss, 24, driver for the Standard Oil company at Toronto, is in a critical condition today at the Ohio Valley hospital as a result of an attempt at suicide yesterday afternoon.

Hotchkiss, becoming despondent, it is said, because of illness, fired a .38 calibre bullet into his right temple after parking his truck a short distance from Toronto on the Knoxville-Empire road. His body was found by schoolboys.

Hospital authorities express the hope that he may live although it is feared he will lose his sight.

DISTRICT ELDER HOLDS SERVICES

Rev. J. T. Foy, district elder of the Free Methodist church, will launch quarterly meeting services in the local church, Seventeenth street, tonight.

Mother's Day services will be held Sunday, in connection with the regular church program. Sunday school will meet at 9:30 followed by preaching at 10:30 and communion at 11:30. Song service and preaching will be held in the evening.

DINNER PARTY AT CARTER HOME

In honor of Dr. K. T. Thomas, of Alliance, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Carter entertained last night at a 6 o'clock dinner at their home here.

Among the guests were: Rev. and Mrs. I. A. Brown, pastor of the A. M. E. church; Rev. G. W. White, pastor of the Baptist church; J. W. Malbrough and Miss Mary Jones.

Mrs. Carter was assisted by her mother, Mrs. C. A. Spires.

Dr. Thomas gave an illustrated lecture in the A. M. E. church following the dinner.

Yellow Creek Church Services.

Services will be held in the Yellow Creek Presbyterian church next Sunday at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.; Sunday school at 10:00 a. m.; Young people's meeting at 7:00 p. m.; subject, "Elements in Ideal Home Life"; leaders, Mrs. W. A. Falconer and Chas. McIntosh. A young people's rally will be held in the Yellow Creek church on Friday evening, May 20th, at 8:00 o'clock. Refreshments will be served following a program.

GOV. DONAHEY CHARGES "POLITICAL BUCK-PASSING"

HITS ASSEMBLY AS HE VETOES LEWIS MEASURE

Alleges Legislature is Derelict in Its Duty.

REVENUE NEEDED

Executive Expected to Sign Franchise Tax Bill.

COLUMBUS, O., May 6.—Charging the Ohio legislature with "political buck-passing" and with being "derelict in its constitutional duty in failing to provide necessary revenues," Governor Vic Donahey today vetoed the bill, by Senator Earl R. Lewis, Belmont county, which sought to require the governor to issue orders to state departments, offices and institutions which would "prevent their expenditures and obligations from exceeding revenue receipts and balances."

Vigorous Objections to Bill.

Governor Donahey registered vigorous objections to the following provisions of the Lewis' bill:

"On, or before, the tenth day of each month, the department of finance shall furnish to the governor statements in such form as he may require, showing the condition of each fund and appropriation account, to enable the governor to exercise and maintain effective supervision and control over the expenditures of the state.

"If, at any time, the governor ascertains that the available revenue receipts and balances for the current fiscal year will, in all probability, be less than the appropriations for the year, he shall issue such orders to the respective departments, offices, and institutions as will prevent their expenditures and incurred obligations from exceeding the said revenue receipts and balances."

Referring to the first paragraph cited, the governor said:

"The governor now has ample authority to secure, at any time, reports from the directors of finance and this paragraph adds not one whit to his powers in this respect.

"The second paragraph, I can only deem a meaningless and manifestly insincere attempt at political buck-passing.

"Three-fourths of the expenditures of the state are for the care and treatment of wards of the state in charitable, correctional and penal institutions to whom the state owes its first duty, for education and for highways.

"No act of mine as governor will deprive the helpless wards of the state of the best care that can be given them. Neither would I be expected to cripple educational facilities for the youth of our state nor to let our system of highways go to pieces.

Indications today were that the governor will attach his approving signature to the Aigler bill increasing the corporation franchise tax, and the Kumbler bill, boosting the state excise tax levied upon certain public utilities.

The governor has until next Tuesday midnight to act upon these two measures, appropriation bills and the Norton bill, recodifying the Ohio's highway laws.

May Veto Norton Bill.

Unless the legislature, after it reconvenes here Monday, makes certain changes in the Norton bill, so as to eliminate provisions objected to by Donahey, the governor will veto the bill, it was stated.

Appropriation measures now being considered by the governor include the Williamson bill, appropriating about $53,000,000 for state governmental expenditures during the 18-month fiscal period ending Dec. 31, 1928.

The governor indicated that his pruning of items in the Williamson bill will be relatively small in the aggregate, because of his belief that heavy cutting with the veto axe would not be consistent with his policy of carrying forward the state's educational, highway and welfare programs.

Although insisting that it is up to state legislature to determine how funds are to be raised with which to wipe out the approximate $20,000,000 deficit, which State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy estimated may exist in the state's general revenue fund Dec. 31, 1928, Governor Donahey voiced his approval of the suggestion that the solons provide for a temporary cigarette tax, an amusement tax and a mortgage recording tax, provided "the bills are properly drawn."

Gray Leaves Stand

break down any of the essential points of his story. He stoutly maintained, that Mrs. Snyder also struck a blow, not only to Mrs. Snyder's lawyer, the fiery Dana Wallace, but also when cross-examined by District Attorney Richard S. Newcombe. In fact, at one stage of his cross-examination he stood dramatically in the witness box and, taking the sashweight in his two hands, demonstrated how he brought it down on Snyder's head.

Throughout his long cross-examination Gray was a polite, gentlemanly witness, saying in effect "yes, I did it, sir, and I'll tell you all about it." He gave his dreadful picture of the crime from the stand late Wednesday and no subsequent questioning could force him to change it. It was his story and he stuck to it.

There was on indication on Gray's part when he stepped off the stand that he was glad the ordeal was over. He walked quietly to his chair at counsel table and sat down.

TODAY

European Powers to come to its assistance.

The Chinese were civilized, using the compass and shooting off firecrackers, a thousand years before any proud Nordic could count to one hundred.

But they are philosophical, peaceful, indifferent. They often attack and retreat laughing. This does not mean weakness; it means a peaceable character. You'll make a "giant Japan" out of China when you make a genuine game cock out of a Leghorn rooster.

Joseph Pulitzer would be glad to know that an annual prize established by him has been awarded for work done by Don R. Mellett, editor of the Canton Daily News.

Mellett is dead, murdered by those whose graft, gambling, bootlegging and general rascality he persistently exposed.

If there is a place in heaven for editors, and if Mellett has met Pulitzer, they will get on well. Not everybody could do that with Joseph Pulitzer. He was a fighter, had something to say, and when he said it there was no mistaking his meaning.

That's why he succeeded, and from an immigrant without a dollar, but with good brain and education, became a great power in this country.

Flood Fund Soars

One Crevasse 1,500 Feet Wide.

The Milliken Bend crevasse, 20 miles north of Vicksburg, is now more than 1,500 feet wide. Reports from Hard Times, 20 miles south of here, said that the St. Joseph lake spillway had grown to 1,200 feet. Waters rushing through these breaks upon Madison and Tensas parishes added to the havoc by the overflow from the Tensas and Oachita rivers. Should the Red river levees hold, and thus divert the entire northern Louisiana flood into the Mississippi chanel again, the danger point would lie at Angolia, La., on the east bank of the river, just below the Mississippi state boundary, where an old levee has been in grave danger since Saturday. With the fate of the southern half of the state in the balance, Secretaries Hoover and Davis arrived here today to set in motion the machinery which is ultimately to restore more than 150,000 refugees in Mississippi and Louisiana to their farms and homes.

Governor Dennis Murphree arrived from Jackson last night to confer with the cabinet officers and Major General Edgar Jadwin, chief of army engineers, before they boarded the steamer Control at 11 o'clock for Baton Rouge where thew will discuss relief and rehabilitation plans with former Governor John M. Parker of Louisiana, federal relief director in that state. From Baton Rouge, the party will proceed to New Orleans.

Reports of Typhoid Fever.

Reports of typhoid fever in two Mississippi concentrations camps were received at Red Cross headquarters here today. Although the sick list from the fifteen camps caring for more than 60,000 refugees carried only 262 names, the early development of the dreaded typhoid in two centers called for emphatic orders to all camp directors to take drastic steps to avoid danger of epidemic.

Returning to Mississippi and Louisiane after an absence of less than a week, Secretary Hoover received reports today of the millions of additional acres flooded in the interim, of tens of thousands added to the nomadic armies of refugees and of uncounted millions piled upon the staggering total of property loss.

With property damage now estimated at approximately $225,000,000, L. O. Crosby, relief dictator for Mississippi, has prepared tabulations distributing $170,000,000 of the total to Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana, the three principal sufferers.

153,000 Flood Refugees.

Supporting Crosby's assertions of almost complete devastation throughout large sections of the state Adjutant General Green presented to the cabinet members a list of Mississippi relief camps which are caring for some 70,000 refugees, as follows:

Vicksburg, 17,000; Greenville, 8,000; Yazoo City, 7,000; Glen Allen, 7,000; Hollandale, 5,500; Leleand, 3,000; Deezon, 2,700; Cleveland, 2,600; Anguilla, 2,500; Indianapola, 2,500; Belzoni, 2,000; Shaw, 2,000; Natchez, 1,400; Rolling Form, 1,000; Greenwood, 500.

Arkansas camps have slightly more than 83,000 flood exiles on their registries, Red Cross reports to the cabinet officers revealed.

Last reports from Adjutant General Toombs indicated more than 40,000 in Louisiana camps, with the bulk of those from the most recently inundated parishes still enroute to the larger concentration points. Rescue work and transportation of supplies throughout the entire area between Memphis and New Orleans was speeded up today by the operation of a complete net work of naval radio communications.

Use of Another's Auto Sends Man to State Reformatory

Joseph Sever, resident of New Brighton, Pa., formerly of Alliance, indicted by the April grand jury for operating a motor vehicle without the consent of the owner, was sentenced to serve from one to 20 years in the Mansfield reformatory by Common Pleas Judge W. F. Lones at Lisbon yesterday.

Sever entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned about two weeks ago. During a recess in the Rini-Chorgas murder trial yesterday afternoon he was brought before Judge Lones where he changed his plea to guilty. He was represented by Attorney De Vere Grappy, Leetonia.

Mothers' Day candy special packages at Carnahan's Drug Stores.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, May 6.—A brisk advance in prices of a few of the market specialties, investment buying of the better grade of dividend stocks and further moderate rallies in the independent oil stocks were the features of the early trading in the stock market today. The railroad stocks were active and firm, with good buying of the standard dividend shares.

Not much significance was attached to the decline in the reserve ratio of the New York reserve bank from 86.3 to 81.7 per cent of resources, or in the ratio of the reserves of the whole system to resources of from 79.5 to 78 per cent. The financing operations of the U. S. treasury department were taken care of in that period, and dislocation of funds rather than their permanent use elsewhere, is indicated by the report.

United States Steel sold above 169 in an active movement, while General Motors was well bought around 197. Mack Trucks pushed upward to above 117 in its aggressive movement. International Mercantile Marine preferred was bid up strongly to 47⅞ on reports of "recapitulation" in a form to liquidate accumulate ddividends on the stock. Union Bag and Paper advanced sharply for a new four-point gain. Strength in the oils was due largely to short covering, news from the industry indicating no relief whatever from the huge over-production of crude.

Call money rates were unchanged at 4 per cent. Cotton advanced sharply in the early trading, prices advancing about a dollar a bale. Grain prices were fractionally higher in New York and Chicago, and the general commodity price lists were firm.

views, told council that already the street is showing signs of wear and complained regarding material used on the job. One speaker termed the patent process a "frost," and charged that the company had re-surfaced a street in Lisbon at a lower cost despite the fact that material had been hauled from this city. The matter was referred to the claims committee for adjustment.

R. B. Stevenson presented a petition signed by 65 per cent of the property holders, asking for the resurfacing of West Ninth street. The proposal carried the endorsement of the West Side Civic league. Question of material to be used was debated. The petition was referred back to the sponsors owing to the fact that it was not accompanied by waiver rights.

It developed during the discussion that members of the Civic league had suggested the possibility of merging the office of mayor and service-safety director and making the combined salary $3,500 annually.

Merchants Protest.

Attorney R. G. Thompson presented a petition signed by merchants in the Diamond and other sections, asking repeal of the ordinance dealing with removal of obstruction from sidewalks. He explained that the measure was not necessary, as the state law gives the service director the right to act.

He stressed the provisions of the legislation now on the books and said that it applied to all obstructions, including show cases in front of business houses. Declaring that it would impose a hardship upon business men, he urged the solons to reconsider their action. A motion prevailed that action on repeal be deferred for two weeks pending an investigation by the street committee.

Later in the meeting Attorney Thompson spoke on the condition of Tanyard Run under West Eighth street. He proposed that a culvert be built for a distance of probably 120 feet at a cost estimated between $3,000 and $5,000, of which $1,500 would be paid by the Litten Motor Sales company operating a filling station on the bank of the run. This matter was also referred to the street committee.

Harker Company's Protest.

Members of the ordinance committee were instructed to prepare the necessary legislation for the asphaltic resurfacing of East and West Fourth street from Broadway to Monroe; paving and grading of Orchard Grove avenue to Smithfield street nad improvement of the stretch of road running from East Second street to Broadway, former site of the old Conant building. Solicitor Frank Hoover replying to a question of assessments on the latter project ruled that the Pennsylvania Railroad company would be subject to assessment for improvement.

Resolution was passed under suspension of rules, providing for adjustment of special assessments levied against several East End properties. Like action was taken on a resolution to appropriate property for the opening of Dresden avenue.

Communication was read from the Harker Pottery company in which attention was called to dangerous condition of the hill overlooking their plant and urging removal of the reservoir ato ynother location. The letter signed by W. W. Harker, pointed out that the company had protested against the building of the present reservoir. The communication was ordered received and filed.

Vote Against Crook Alley Parking.

Motion to take from the table a resolution for the purchase of a new fire chassis and light cars for the chief of police and fire department was defeated by a vote of 5 to 2.

Petition was read from R. E. Hoopes, owner of Fisher park, in which he outlined proposed street improvements. It was received and filed.

Legislation for installing a sanitary sewer in Black Oak alley was authorized to be drawn up for presentation at the next meeting.

Solicitor Hoover ruled that the joint petition asking for the sewering and grading of Erie street was legal. The point was raised that separate petitions should have been filed.

Resolution prohibiting the parking of vehicles in Crook alley was taken from the table and passed on first reading by a vote of 5 to 2. Hayes and Farrall voted in the negative. Motion to suspend the rules was defeated by the same vote.

Defer Street Car Track Removal.

Complaint registered by property holders of Edgewood avenue in regard to sewer assessments was referred to the claims committee.

Action was deferred for two weeks upon the matter of removing the street car tracks in Union street between Second and Third street. Letter was read from officials of the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company suggesting that the matter be held in abeyance until such time as it was definitely established whether or not the Pennsylvania Railroad company would resume excursions to Rock Springs park.

Councilman Kelly, reporting for the franchise committee, said he expected to hold a meeting with officials of the traction company within the next week relative to the extension of the Grandview division franchise.

Solon Farrall reported that a special committee appointed at a recent meeting met with trustees of the City hospital and had been permitted to inquire into the financial condition of the institution. He said that they had been extended every courtesy and were well satisfied with the operations of the hospital. He stated that any expense involving the treatment of firemen or policemen at the institution would be paid by the state industrial commission from money paid into the fund by the county.

Service-Safety Director Moore informed the solons that the question of water overflowing into Chestnut street and the possible flooding of the run in Virginia avenue would be given prompt attention by his department.

Engineer Flay Clapsaddle submitted maps of the city, including the recently annexed territory. Council will fix the ward boundary lines at the next meeting. It was announced that one additional election precinct would be added by the election board in the Second ward.

The WOLVERINES are coming!

North of the last frontier, north of the white man, you'll find him on the go—the wolverine.

Fearless, amazingly strong, the wolverine pushes his way across uncounted leagues of wilderness woods—a king of his domain by right of his ability to go where he pleases, to take what he wants when he wants it.

Nowhere in the woods is there an animal so strong for his size, so tireless in his travelings.

He gives his name now to something new in the smaller car field, a car that is thoroughly American in design and construction, a car made for Americans and for American conditions.

This new automobile is small enough for easy handling and for low operating cost, but no power nor brawn nor beauty were sacrificed in making it small. It is fast—fast on the getaway, fast on the open road, and quick to stop.

It is the Wolverine—strongest of its size.

GOV. DONAHEY CHARGES "POLITICAL BUCK-PASSING"

HITS ASSEMBLY AS HE VETOES LEWIS MEASURE

Alleges Legislature is Derelict in Its Duty.

REVENUE NEEDED

Executive Expected to Sign Franchise Tax Bill.

COLUMBUS, O., May 6.—Charging the Ohio legislature with "political buck-passing" and with being "derelict in its constitutional duty in failing to provide necessary revenues," Governor Vic Donahey today vetoed the bill, by Senator Earl R. Lewis, Belmont county, which sought to require the governor to issue orders to state departments, offices and institutions which would "prevent their expenditures and obligations from exceeding revenue receipts and balances."

Vigorous Objections to Bill.

Governor Donahey registered vigorous objections to the following provisions of the Lewis' bill:

"On, or before, the tenth day of each month, the department of finance shall furnish to the governor statements in such form as he may require, showing the condition of each fund and appropriation account, to enable the governor to exercise and maintain effective supervision and control over the expenditures of the state.

"If, at any time, the governor ascertains that the available revenue receipts and balances for the current fiscal year will, in all probability, be less than the appropriations for the year, he shall issue such orders to the respective departments, offices, and institutions as will prevent their expenditures and incurred obligations from exceeding the said revenue receipts and balances."

Referring to the first paragraph cited, the governor said:

"The governor now has ample authority to secure, at any time, reports from the directors of finance and this paragraph adds not one whit to his powers in this respect.

"The second paragraph, I can only deem a meaningless and manifestly insincere attempt at political buck-passing.

"Three-fourths of the expenditures of the state are for the care and treatment of wards of the state in charitable, correctional and penal institutions to whom the state owes its first duty, for education and for highways.

"No act of mine as governor will deprive the helpless wards of the state of the best care that can be given them. Neither would I be expected to cripple educational facilities for the youth of our state nor to let our system of highways go to pieces.

Indications today were that the governor will attach his approving signature to the Aigler bill increasing the corporation franchise tax, and the Kumbler bill, boosting the state excise tax levied upon certain public utilities.

The governor has until next Tuesday midnight to act upon these two measures, appropriation bills and the Norton bill, recodifying the Ohio's highway laws.

May Veto Norton Bill.

Unless the legislature, after it reconvenes here Monday, makes certain changes in the Norton bill, so as to eliminate provisions objected to by Donahey, the governor will veto the bill, it was stated.

Appropriation measures now being considered by the governor include the Williamson bill, appropriating about $53,000,000 for state governmental expenditures during the 18-month fiscal period ending Dec. 31, 1928.

The governor indicated that his pruning of items in the Williamson bill will be relatively small in the aggregate, because of his belief that heavy cutting with the veto axe would not be consistent with his policy of carrying forward the state's educational, highway and welfare programs.

Although insisting that it is up to state legislature to determine how funds are to be raised with which to wipe out the approximate $20,000,000 deficit, which State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy estimated may exist in the state's general revenue fund Dec. 31, 1928, Governor Donahey voiced his approval of the suggestion that the solons provide for a temporary cigarette tax, an amusement tax and a mortgage recording tax, provided "the bills are properly drawn."

break down any of the essential points of his story. He stoutly maintained, that Mrs. Snyder also struck a blow, not only to Mrs. Snyder's lawyer, the fiery Dana Wallace, but also when cross-examined by District Attorney Richard S. Newcombe. In fact, at one stage of his cross-examination he stood dramatically in the witness box and, taking the sashweight in his two hands, demonstrated how he brought it down on Snyder's head.

Throughout his long cross-examination Gray was a polite, gentlemanly witness, saying in effect "yes, I did it, sir, and I'll tell you all about it." He gave his dreadful picture of the crime from the stand late Wednesday and no subsequent questioning could force him to change it. It was his story and he stuck to it.

There was on indication on Gray's part when he stepped off the stand that he was glad the ordeal was over. He walked quietly to his chair at counsel table and sat down.

European Powers to come to its assistance.

The Chinese were civilized, using the compass and shooting off firecrackers, a thousand years before any proud Nordic could count to one hundred.

But they are philosophical, peaceful, indifferent. They often attack and retreat laughing. This does not mean weakness; it means a peaceable character. You'll make a "giant Japan" out of China when you make a genuine game cock out of a Leghorn rooster.

Joseph Pulitzer would be glad to know that an annual prize established by him has been awarded for work done by Don R. Mellett, editor of the Canton Daily News.

Mellett is dead, murdered by those whose graft, gambling, bootlegging and general rascality he persistently exposed.

If there is a place in heaven for editors, and if Mellett has met Pulitzer, they will get on well. Not everybody could do that with Joseph Pulitzer. He was a fighter, had something to say, and when he said it there was no mistaking his meaning.

That's why he succeeded, and from an immigrant without a dollar, but with good brain and education, became a great power in this country.

Flood Fund Soars

One Crevasse 1,500 Feet Wide.

The Milliken Bend crevasse, 20 miles north of Vicksburg, is now more than 1,500 feet wide. Reports from Hard Times, 20 miles south of here, said that the St. Joseph lake spillway had grown to 1,200 feet. Waters rushing through these breaks upon Madison and Tensas parishes added to the havoc by the overflow from the Tensas and Oachita rivers. Should the Red river levees hold, and thus divert the entire northern Louisiana flood into the Mississippi chanel again, the danger point would lie at Angolia, La., on the east bank of the river, just below the Mississippi state boundary, where an old levee has been in grave danger since Saturday. With the fate of the southern half of the state in the balance, Secretaries Hoover and Davis arrived here today to set in motion the machinery which is ultimately to restore more than 150,000 refugees in Mississippi and Louisiana to their farms and homes.

Governor Dennis Murphree arrived from Jackson last night to confer with the cabinet officers and Major General Edgar Jadwin, chief of army engineers, before they boarded the steamer Control at 11 o'clock for Baton Rouge where thew will discuss relief and rehabilitation plans with former Governor John M. Parker of Louisiana, federal relief director in that state. From Baton Rouge, the party will proceed to New Orleans.

Reports of Typhoid Fever.

Reports of typhoid fever in two Mississippi concentrations camps were received at Red Cross headquarters here today. Although the sick list from the fifteen camps caring for more than 60,000 refugees carried only 262 names, the early development of the dreaded typhoid in two centers called for emphatic orders to all camp directors to take drastic steps to avoid danger of epidemic.

Returning to Mississippi and Louisiane after an absence of less than a week, Secretary Hoover received reports today of the millions of additional acres flooded in the interim, of tens of thousands added to the nomadic armies of refugees and of uncounted millions piled upon the staggering total of property loss.

With property damage now estimated at approximately $225,000,000, L. O. Crosby, relief dictator for Mississippi, has prepared tabulations distributing $170,000,000 of the total to Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana, the three principal sufferers.

153,000 Flood Refugees.

Supporting Crosby's assertions of almost complete devastation throughout large sections of the state Adjutant General Green presented to the cabinet members a list of Mississippi relief camps which are caring for some 70,000 refugees, as follows:

Vicksburg, 17,000; Greenville, 8,000; Yazoo City, 7,000; Glen Allen, 7,000; Hollandale, 5,500; Leleand, 3,000; Deezon, 2,700; Cleveland, 2,600; Anguilla, 2,500; Indianapola, 2,500; Belzoni, 2,000; Shaw, 2,000; Natchez, 1,400; Rolling Form, 1,000; Greenwood, 500.

Arkansas camps have slightly more than 83,000 flood exiles on their registries, Red Cross reports to the cabinet officers revealed.

Last reports from Adjutant General Toombs indicated more than 40,000 in Louisiana camps, with the bulk of those from the most recently inundated parishes still enroute to the larger concentration points. Rescue work and transportation of supplies throughout the entire area between Memphis and New Orleans was speeded up today by the operation of a complete net work of naval radio communications.

Use of Another's Auto Sends Man to State Reformatory

Joseph Sever, resident of New Brighton, Pa., formerly of Alliance, indicted by the April grand jury for operating a motor vehicle without the consent of the owner, was sentenced to serve from one to 20 years in the Mansfield reformatory by Common Pleas Judge W. F. Lones at Lisbon yesterday.

Sever entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned about two weeks ago. During a recess in the Rini-Chorgas murder trial yesterday afternoon he was brought before Judge Lones where he changed his plea to guilty. He was represented by Attorney De Vere Grappy, Leetonia.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, May 6.—A brisk advance in prices of a few of the market specialties, investment buying of the better grade of dividend stocks and further moderate rallies in the independent oil stocks were the features of the early trading in the stock market today. The railroad stocks were active and firm, with good buying of the standard dividend shares.

Not much significance was attached to the decline in the reserve ratio of the New York reserve bank from 86.3 to 81.7 per cent of resources, or in the ratio of the reserves of the whole system to resources of from 79.5 to 78 per cent. The financing operations of the U. S. treasury department were taken care of in that period, and dislocation of funds rather than their permanent use elsewhere, is indicated by the report.

United States Steel sold above 169 in an active movement, while General Motors was well bought around 197. Mack Trucks pushed upward to above 117 in its aggressive movement. International Mercantile Marine preferred was bid up strongly to 47½ on reports of "recapitulation" in a form to liquidate accumulate ddividends on the stock. Union Bag and Paper advanced sharply for a new four-point gain. Strength in the oils was due largely to short covering, news from the industry indicating no relief whatever from the huge over-production of crude.

Call money rates were unchanged at 4 per cent. Cotton advanced sharply in the early trading, prices advancing about a dollar a bale. Grain prices were fractionally higher in New York and Chicago, and the general commodity price lists were firm.

He said that they had been extended every courtesy and were well satisfied with the operations of the hospital. He stated that any expense involving the treatment of firemen or policemen at the institution would be paid by the state industrial commission from money paid into the fund by the county.

Service-Safety Director Moore informed the solons that the question of water overflowing into Chestnut street and the possible flooding of the run in Virginia avenue would be given prompt attention by his department.

Engineer Flay Clapsaddle submitted maps of the city, including the recently annexed territory. Council will fix the ward boundary lines at the next meeting. It was announced that one additional election precinct would be added by the election board in the Second ward.

Saturday Session Of Snyder-Gray Trial is Planned

COURT HOUSE, LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y., May 6. — Justice Townsend Scudder announced today that a Saturday session of the Snyder-Gray murder trial will be held for the purpose of speeding the case up. It had not been the custom to hold sessions on Saturday.

110 Will Attend Mother and Son Banquet Tonight

Reservations for the Mothers and Son banquet which will be given at the Y. M. C. A. at 6:15 o'clock tonight were closed at noon. No further tickets will be sold.

One hundred and ten mothers and their sons, a capacity crowd, will attend the banquet. Mrs. J. Y. Montague, Steubenville, will be the speaker.

SATURDAY FLAG DAY IN CITY

Grand Army Men Seek Memorial Day Fund.

Plans have been completed for the "Flag Day" sale to be conducted here tomorrow under the auspices of General Lyon Post No. 44, Grand Army of the Republic, to raise funds to defray the costs of the Memorial Day observance.

The sale will be conducted by members of the Sons of Veterans' auxiliary, the Ladies of the G. A. R., Women's Relief Corps and others. Mrs. Susan Howard will have charge of headquarters which will be maintained in the lobby of the Little building in the Diamond.

If sufficient funds are obtained wreaths will be purchased for grave decorating purposes this year. Heretofore auxiliary members of the G. A. R. have made wreaths from laurel each year.

BUCKEYE CLUB'S HOME IS OPENED

About 70 members attended the formal opening for the summer season of the Buckeye club, located along the Lincon highway and Y. & O. railroad, in Madison township last evening.

Dinner was served by the club caterers at 6 o'clock.

It is a Wolverine in every part

The WOLVERINES are coming!

North of the last frontier, north of the white man, you'll find him on the go—the wolverine.

Fearless, amazingly strong, the wolverine pushes his way across uncounted leagues of wilderness woods—a king of his domain by right of his ability to go where he pleases, to take what he wants when he wants it.

Nowhere in the woods is there an animal so strong for his size, so tireless in his travelings.

He gives his name now to something new in the smaller car field, a car that is thoroughly American in design and construction, a car made for Americans and for American conditions.

This new automobile is small enough for easy handling and for low operating cost, but no power nor brawn nor beauty were sacrificed in making it small. It is fast—fast on the getaway, fast on the open road, and quick to stop.

It is the Wolverine—strongest of its size.

Watch for the Wolverine announcement in this newspaper . . . COMING SOON

Miss Jean Leonard And Paul Wiegand Announce Wedding

Announcement was made today of the marriage of Miss Jean A. Leonard, daughter of Mrs. Mary Leonard, of First avenue, East End, and Paul Wiegand, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Wiegand of St. Clair avenue. The ceremony took place Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the parsonage of the Presbyterian church of New Cumberland, with Rev. Mr. Banfield officiating. Mrs. Mary Leonard was the attendant.

Previous to her marriage the bride was employed at the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles pottery. The bridegroom is a contractor.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiegand are spending their honeymoon in Washington, D. C. After May 15, they will reside temporarily with the bride's mother.

Correctly Hatted? You SHOULD be with a smart looking coat or suit. The Little Hat Shoppe, 2nd floor Little Bldg.

Melody Kings Play For Saturday Dance At Rock Springs

The Melody Kings of New York will play for the Saturday night dance at Virginia Gardens, Rock Springs park's palatial ball room.

This orchestra, which has just taken the road after a year's run at Coney Island, was to have appeared here Wednesday, but the dance was cancelled.

Vaudeville hits and melody selections will be featured.

Aloha Club Entertained.

Mrs. H. D. Parsons entertained the members of the Aloha club last evening in her home on St. Clair avenue. Music and five hundred were pastimes. Trophies were awarded Mesdames Frank Green and Minta Campbell.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. W. L. Moore, covers being arranged for 12.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Elmer Eppley in Virginia avenue, Chester.

House of David Band to Appear At Meyers Lake

The House of David Band, direct from their colony at Benton Harbor, Mich., will make their third appearance at Moonlight Ballroom, at Meyers Lake Park, Canton, next week.

Successful engagements were filled by this organization at the park dance hall during February and March, and owing to the demands from park patrons the management signed the band for another week's engagement.

These long haired sheiks of jazz declare the bobbed hair mode is not a product of the present generation, as many suppose, but it dates back hundreds upon hundreds of years ago before the Christian era. "Chick" Bell, comedian for the band, who in an unguarded moment confided that his right name is Clarence, is the long haired record breaker for the band.

Off-stage and at work on the farms and in the shops in The House of David Colony the boys keep their hair braided down their back. They intimated that their long, flowing locks might be the answer to the reason why they didn't have a football team at the colony.

Seton Hill Junior Prom Patrons.

Dr. and Mrs. F. R. Harrison of East Liverpool are patrons of the Seton Hill College Junior Prom which will be held tonight in the college refectory. Their daughters, Misses Claire Harrison and Betty Harrison, are students there.

During the grand march program favors, leather picture frames bearing the college seal, will be distributed. The decoration will be in spring colors but severe and simple in design to harmonize with the Lombard-Gothic architecture of the hall.

Miss Mary Lister, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lister, of East Liverpool is chairlady of the finance committee. Two hundred and fifty couples will attend.

Mrs. Robert H. Perry Hostess.

Mrs. Robert H. Perry entertained the members of her bridge club last evening at her home in Vine street. The affair was in the form of a 6 diversion. Trophies were awarded for 12 guests. The table was decorated with spring flowers and a color scheme of blue and white.

Progressive bridge was after-dinner diversions. Trophies were awarded Mrs. Donald Gass, Charles Craig and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Ferguson.

Don't Spoil your attractiveness with inferior millinery. Be well hatted. The Little Hat Shoppe, Little Bldg.

Fun Finders to Meet.

Mrs. R. W. Johnston of Maplewood will entertain the members of the Fun Finders club Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock, at the home of her mother, Mrs. George White, 112 Ravine street.

Old Fashioned Concert.

Ladies of the Orchard Grove Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, assisted by local artists, will present an old time concert in the Anderson Methodist Episcopal church on Friday, May 13. Robert Stevenson is chairman of the committee in charge. Personnel of the concert group follows:

Director—Mrs. H. Dan Smith.

Soloists—Mrs. W. A. Gerber, Mrs. Okey Heddleston, Mrs. Smith, Misses Ruth Mackey, Dorothy Holmes, Freda McConnell, Messrs. Oliver Johnson, Okey Heddleston, Clifford Smith, Joseph Lawton and Dan Smith.

Readers—Mrs. Harry Holmes, Mrs. Hattie Hapgood and Rev. Clyde B. Conn.

Violinist—A. M. Burns.

Organist—Mrs. A. M. Burns.

"Announcist"—Mrs. Sam Crawford.

Members of chorus — Misses Lucy Burns and Marjory Shope; Mesdames Charles Shope, Howard Moninger, Edwin Walker, Alice Heames, Hubert Hunt, Mattie Crawford, Carl Liebschner, Fred Neiser, Lee Weikart, Joseph Lawton, Harry Thompson, George Hays, Earl Spahr, Clyde Conn, Jack Parker, Clarence Duff, Lee Cooper, Emmet Mylar, McDole, Don Smith and Ed. Dunlap; Messrs Dan Smith, Clifford Smith, Earl Spahr, Clarence Duff, Charles Price, Harry Thompson, George Hays, Jack Parker, Ed Dunlap and Elwin Walker.

The Best dressed women in the world take the greatest pains with their millinery. The Little Hat Shoppe, 2nd floor Little Bldg.

Ladies of Country Club Entertained.

Ladies of the East Liverpool Country club were entertained at their weekly party Wednesday afternoon in the club house, with Mrs. Charles C. Ashbaugh of Seventh street as hostess. Five tables of bridge were in play. The trophy for the highest score was awarded Mrs. G. W. Howe of Wellsville.

Next Wednesday's party will be in charge of Mesdames G. W. Howe and George Patterson, both of Wellsville.

Dr. Reinartz Returns Home.

Dr. J. G. Reinartz, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, has returned to his home in Jackson street after a several days' visit with his son, Frederick Leo Reinartz, in Middletown. Dr. Reinartz will conduct the usual services on Sunday.

Girls' Class Meets.

The Girls' Endeavor class of the La Croft Union mission met last evening at the home of Mrs. William Roach, Lincoln highway. A short business session was followed by devotionals in charge of Miss Bessie Casco.

Music and games were diversions, after which refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Charles Pierce. Covers were arranged for 15.

The next meeting will be held May 19, the place to be announced later.

Dorcas Class Session.

Members of the Dorcas class of the Methodist Protestant church were entertained in the church social room last evening. Mrs. Charles Bright was hostess.

A guessing contest was won by Miss Pauline Esenhuth, after which a musical program was featured.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mesdames E. E. Dunn and Harry Vandergrift. Covers were arranged for 17.

Musical Service on Sunday.

A special musical service will be featured Sunday morning, beginning at 11 o'clock, in the First Presbyterian church, when a male chorus of 20 voices, with W. A. Macdonald as director, will present a program, assisted by Mrs. Richard C. Sant, soprano soloist, and Rowland Kaufman, tenor soloist. Mrs. J. F. Calhoun is organist. Rev. D. W. MacLeod, D. D., pastor, will give a sermonette.

IN MEMORIAM.

In memory of our only daughter, Anna Mae Richards, who died one year ago today at the age of 5 months and 4 days.

Alone in our home we sit today
And think of our darling that's gone away.
Gone to dwell with the God of Love
Our darling baby is safe above.
Dearest Anna Mae how we miss you
You were sunshine in our home
Which has grown oh, so lonely
Since God called you for His own.
Sadly missed by Father and Mother.
MR. AND MRS. GEORGE RICHARDS.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Elsworth Ours who died one year ago today, May 6, 1926.

Just a thought of sweet remembrance
Just a memory fond and true
Just a token of affection
And our heart aches still for you
Jus ta sigh of olden moments
Just a sigh a love anew
Just a tear in silence falling
And a yearning just for you.
Tonight the stars are gleaming upon a lonely grave
There sleepeth without dreaming one we loved but could not save
All is sad within our dwelling
Lonely are our hearts today
For the one who smiled to cheer us
Has forever passed away.
More and more each day we miss you
Friends may think the wound is healed
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within our hearts concealed.
Sadly missed by wife and daughter,
MRS. ROSE OURS AND HELEN.

AUTO LICENSE PLATES HERE NET $30,087

Four-month Report Made by Deputy J. S. Hilbert.

4,352 ON LIST

Car Owners Requested to Call for Bills of Sale.

Receipts from sale of automobile licenses by James S. Hilbert, deputy commissioner of motor vehicles, from the George H. Owen & Company agency here, for the four-month period ending April 30, totalled $30,087.71, it was announced today.

The commissioner issued 4,352 sets of plates. Of this number 3,761 were for pleasure cars, bringing in $16,841; 486 for trucks, netting $11,820.60; 84 pleasure commercial cars, $898.78; ten motor cycles, adding $25; five trailers for which $36.15 was collected and six side cars, netting $9.

In addition, 265 transfers also have been made, which added $370.10. Fourteen duplicate tags, bringing in $14, and five duplicate certificates at $1 each were also issued.

Automobile owners, who left their bills of sale with the license commissioner, for certification with the clerk of courts, are requested to call for them at the Owen & Company office. These bills of sale must be preserved as licenses cannot be issued until they are presented.

Six City League Clubs Face Barrier For 1927 Pennant Race

Unfurling of Title Flag Big Feature of Newell's Home Game Opener

W. E. Wells to Toss Out First Ball at Clash Between Laughlin, 1926 Champs, and Turk Nash; Wellsville at Chester; American Billiards, K. T. K. Tangle at Columbian Park.

City Industrial Baseball League players will heed the umpire's "Play Ball" call on three different district diamonds tomorrow afternoon as the 1927 campaign officially gets under way, with games billed for Columbian Park, Chester and Newell.

All clubs of the organization, rejuvenated by the off-season rest and the addition of numerous new players, will go into action, with the feature ceremonies of the afternoon scheduled at Newell where the Homer Laughlin club will unfurl the championship pennant, won in 1926 in the final series with Chester, prior to their opener with Turk Nash.

Wellsville, piolted by Roy Nicholson, old time local star, will debut against the Chester Superior Cords at Smith Field and the American Billiards with Ed McVeigh in command, will battle K. T. K. at Columbian park.

This latter contest, originally billed for Klondyke, was transferred to Columbian park because the former field lacks a few days' labor to be in proper condition for entertaining the clubs and spectators.

A street parade, led by the Ceramic City band will preface the three baseball battles. Players of the six clubs, resplendent in new uniforms, will assemble at 1 o'clock on Fourth street between the Carnegie Library and the Central school building. The procession will move east to Broadway, then north to Sixth, west to Jefferson and then to Fifth.

Laughlin and Turk-Nash will leave the ranks at this point and head westward for Newell. Chester and Wellsville later will head toward Smith Field and the American Billards and K. T. K. will proceed to the East End. All three games, at the conclusion of the preliminary proceedings will begin at 3:30 o'clock. All will go nine innings.

The band will continue with the Turk-Nash-Laughlin clubs to Newell where before and between innings they will dispense music for players and spectators.

The Motors and the Laughlins will hold their customary practice drills first. This will be followed by a parade of teams, Laughlin plant officials and the band to the flag pole, recently erected, near the new school lot. Following the ceremonies, the scene of action will shift back to the diamond. W. E. Wells, secretary-treasurer of the Homer Laughlin plants, will toss out the first ball and Justice John Mylar will receive it.

One row of seats will be reserved for the Laughlin plant officials, including W. E. Wells, J. M. Wells, W. E. Wells, Jr., Dr. A. V. Bleininger and others.

The Newell seating capacity has been increased almost three times as a result of the installation of new bleachers and they will probably be occupied tomorrow afternoon. Dugouts have been constructed for both the home and visiting clubs and later on it is possible that dressing quarters will be erected near the diamond.

The middle garden has been leveled to the car tracks alongside by the Homer Laughlin company. The new field will be a decided boon to the new W. E. Wells high school next and succeeding falls. It is now nearing completion.

The batteries for the three opening contests will likely be as follows, according to the various managers:

Chester—"Curley" Evans or Zorzie and Potts or Vanaman; Wellsville—Kestner and McCort.

Turk-Nash — Deshler or Fife and Schneidmiller or Maley; Laughlin—Digman or Burris and Renaldi.

K. T. K.—Jackson and Hunselman; American Billiards — Thomas or Church and Crystle or Stoddard.

Plans have been completed by the City league finance committee to obtain funds needed to carry the organization through the season. The fund campaign will be launched within a few days.

MANY NEW FACES IN CITY LOOP AS TEAMS OPEN PENNANT CHASE

A number of new players have been added to league clubs and other changes have taken place during the off-season. Bill Mundy will manage the Turk Nash club as a result of the trade which sent Dewey Morgan, Talbot and Howell to the American Billiards. Later Morgan went to Wellsville in a deal by the Billiards for Audrey Morris, second baseman.

Del Manning, former Wellsville player, is now with the Billiards through a trade for C. Coleman, who will play the infield for the down river aggregation.

Chester will have new men in Cook, of Monessen, Pa., an outfielder, now employed at the Superior Cord Tire plant. John Vanaman, old Grand Athletics catcher, will assist behind the plate. Zorzie, a pitcher, a former Reserve, will be on the hurling staff, along with Lipscomb, a left hander from Parsons, W. Va., whom Manager Riley is planning to use against Bill Mundy, of Turk Nash when the latter elects to pitch. Then there are Infielder Reese, Outfielder Ward and Pitchers Evans, New Cumberland, and Alvis, a former Sebring lad, captain of the West Virginia Wesleyan football team this fall.

Turk Nash will utilize the rapidly developing Tommy Maley as second string catcher this year, understudying the veteran Schneidmiller. Tommy has graduated from the mascot ranks after serving a several years' course with the Motors. Lloyd and Carl Fife, Lisbon brothers, now living here, will infield and pitch, respectively. Carl Kinney, former star shortstop for Hall China, has returned to the game and will be used at short by the Motors. Gardener Walker, National Drawn Steel company employe, formerly of Canton, and young Scott, a promising West End lad, will also be seen in action.

Tony Renaldi, formerly of Sebring, is to do the chief backstopping for Laughlin. He will be assisted by Force, a big chap from Columbus, and the veteran Mountford, who played with Niles and the Man O' War club there. Burris, a New Haven, W. Va., lad will fling a bit as will Ashe, a 19 year old boy from Newell. A. R. Williams, six feet, four inches tall, will be anchored at first. He hails from Grafton, W. Va. Two other New Haven residents, Otto and Ralston Grim, will shortstop and "hot corner" as needed by the club.

Talbot and Morris will be back with the Billiards. The latter can pitch or play either the infield or the outfield. The former is a first sacker. Cracker Howell, he of the side arm delivery, with Thomas, formerly of Laughlin, Church, Sainer and Baker give the club a formidable pitching staff.

F. and C. Christy, catcher and outfield, respectively, of New Cumberland, will be on the team. Clarence Moore will do third base chores. In addition there are young Bloor, of the high school, Elmer Carey, who faces the task of living up to Carey family baseball traditions, Don Bennet, an outfielder, and Fred Stoddard, a catcher. Wilson, of Steubenville, Dale Laughlin, an outfielder and Harley Reardon, brother of Outfielder Reardon of K. T. K., will also be members of the McVeigh aggregation.

K. T. K. will present "Hi" Myers, long with the Brooklyn and St. Louis National league clubs, who last year was owned by Toledo. His brother Mahl Myers, will also be in the line-up. Ross Tisher, 1925 star with Laughlin, will line up again. Interest also will be taken in Leftfielder and Pitcher Murphy, of New Comerstown, down Cy Young's way.

The club also will have W. Cox, a high school teacher, and from the same source comes Mackel, a catcher, and Bob Witherow, 16 years old, who early in life starts out to follow the path on the diamond his father, Frank Witherow, has blazed for nearly a quarter of a century. Wildblood, curly headed high school lad, will essay a first base role and young Skidmore, another local student, will also attempt to make a place on the aggregation.

Wellsville will have Godfrey Hinton behind the bat as soon as he leaves Bellefonte Academy. "Pick" Nally, veteran outfielder, will also be given a chance. George McCort, of the Toronto Tigers, will backstop also and cavort about the keystone sack. Hackett is another catcher while Kuntzler will be one of the team's premier hurlers.

HUESTON WINS CUE HONORS

NEW YORK, May 6.—After a comeback which took sixteen years, Tom Hueston has regained the world's pocket billiard championship. The former champion won the crown last night when he captured the final block of his 450 point match with Erwin Rudolph by a score of 154 to 59, giving him the match with a total of 450 points to Rudolph's 361.

Rudolph started the final block with a six point lead, but Hueston, scoring many brilliant bank shots and making one run of 41, won in the thirtieth inning.

Hueston said he would defend his title against Frank Taberksi in September after appearing in a series of exhibition matches throughout the country.

RAZZING OF CITY LOOP UMPS BANNED BY PREXY

Davis Instructs Arbiters to "Run the Game"; Use of Imporper Language Will Mean the Bench.

CITY LEAGUE umpires this season, according to announcement by President C. W. Davis, have been ordered to demand courtesy from all players at all times on the playing field.

Those stooping to berate the indicator handlers or using improper language to the officials will very likely be sent to the showers and persistent infractions of the order possibly will mean suspension.

President Davis asserts, truthfully, that umpires, like players or any other human being, are susceptible to errors, and that, when committed, the officials should not be continually "razzed." The umpires' shortcomings, when extremely bad, will be attended to by the league executives.

President Davis has requested that his staff of umpires attend a conference to be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock at "Helmie's" store, Sixth and Washington streets. If any umpire is unable to be there, he is requested to communicate with Davis by telephone.

NASH

Leads the World in Motor Car Value

Advanced Six Sedan $1425 f. o. b. factory

Prominent and very popular in the public life of AMERICA

C. W. NASH has never built a more popular model of Nash than this Advanced Six Sedan.

You see it everywhere, and the reason is: it offers charming style, Nash performance and luxurious comfort for five passengers at a very moderate price.

This Nash—every Nash—is in a value class all its own. The car is designed and built with care high above the average, yet it is priced no higher than the average car.

For exceptional power-smoothness and proper bearing support Nash has 7 big bearings in the Nash six-cylinder motor.

To provide extra chassis strength without excess weight, C. W. Nash tubular-trusses the frame. Nash tubular cross members actually furnish 5 times more resistance to road strain than plain cross members.

Even the 4-wheel brakes in this popular Nash are of special Nash design—with Two-Way action for permanent, care-free efficiency.

Come in and see this car. Let us show and explain to you its many other, equally important, features of extra value.

Six City League Clubs Face Barrier For 1927 Pennant Race

Unfurling of Title Flag Big Feature of Newell's Home Game Opener

W. E. Wells to Toss Out First Ball at Clash Between Laughlin, 1926 Champs, and Turk Nash; Wellsville at Chester; American Billiards, K. T. K. Tangle at Columbian Park.

City Industrial Baseball League players will heed the umpire's "Play Ball" call on three different district diamonds tomorrow afternoon as the 1927 campaign officially gets under way, with games billed for Columbian Park, Chester and Newell.

All clubs of the organization, rejuvenated by the off-season rest and the addition of numerous new players, will go into action, with the feature ceremonies of the afternoon scheduled at Newell where the Homer Laughlin club will unfurl the championship pennant, won in 1926 in the final series with Chester, prior to their opener with Turk Nash.

Wellsville, piolted by Roy Nicholson, old time local star, will debut against the Chester Superior Cords at Smith Field and the American Billiards with Ed McVeigh in command, will battle K. T. K. at Columbian park.

This latter contest, originally billed for Klondyke, was transferred to Columbian park because the former field lacks a few days' labor to be in proper condition for entertaining the clubs and spectators.

A street parade, led by the Ceramic City band will preface the three baseball battles. Players of the six clubs, resplendent in new uniforms, will assemble at 1 o'clock on Fourth street between the Carnegie Library and the Central school building. The procession will move east to Broadway, then north to Sixth, west to Jefferson and then to Fifth.

Laughlin and Turk-Nash will leave the ranks at this point and head westward for Newell. Chester and Wellsville later will head toward Smith Field and the American Billards and K. T. K. will proceed to the East End. All three games, at the conclusion of the preliminary proceedings will begin at 3:30 o'clock. All will go nine innings.

The band will continue with the Turk-Nash-Laughlin clubs to Newell where before and between innings they will dispense music for players and spectators.

The Motors and the Laughling will hold their customary practice drills first. This will be followed by a parade of teams, Laughlin plant officials and the band to the flag pole, recently erected, near the new scho lot. Following the ceremonies, the scene of action will shift back to the diamond. W. E. Wells, secretary-treasurer of the Homer Laughlin plants, will toss out the first ball and Justice John Mylar will receive it.

One row of seats will be reserved for the Laughlin plant officials, including W. E. Wells, J. M. Wells, W. E. Wells, Jr., Dr. A. V. Bleininger and others.

The Newell seating capacity has been increased almost three times as a result of the installation of new bleachers and they will probably be occupied tomorrow afternoon. Dugouts have been constructed for both the home and visiting clubs and later on it is possible that dressing quarters will be erected near the diamond.

The middle garden has been leveled to the car tracks alongside by the Homer Laughlin company. The new field will be a decided boon to the new W. E. Wells high school next and succeeding falls. It is now nearing completion.

The batteries for the three opening contests will likely be as follows, according to the various managers:

Chester—"Curley" Evans or Zorzie and Potts or Vanaman; Wellsville—Kestner and McCort.

Turk-Nash — Deshler or Fife and Schneidmiller or Maley; Laughlin—Digman or Burris and Renaldi.

K. T. K.—Jackson and Hunselman; American Billiards — Thomas or Church and Crystle or Stoddard.

Plans have been completed by the City league finance committee to obtain funds needed to carry the organization through the season. The fund campaign will be launched within a few days.

HUESTON WINS CUE HONORS

NEW YORK, May 6.—After a comeback which took sixteen years, Tom Hueston has regained the world's pocket billiard championship. The former champion won the crown last night when he captured the final block of his 450 point match with Erwin Rudolph by a score of 154 to 59, giving him the match with a total of 450 points to Rudolph's 361.

Rudolph started the final block with a six point lead, but Hueston, scoring many brilliant bank shots and making one run of 41, won in the thirtieth inning.

Hueston said he would defend his title against Frank Taberksi in September after appearing in a series of exhibition matches throughout the country.

MANY NEW FACES IN CITY LOOP AS TEAMS OPEN PENNANT CHASE

A number of new players have been added to league clubs and other changes have taken place during the off-season. Bill Mundy will manage the Turk Nash club as a result of the trade which sent Dewey Morgan, Talbot and Howell to the American Billiards. Later Morgan went to Wellsville in a deal by the Billiards for Audrey Morris, second baseman.

Del Manning, former Wellsville player, is now with the Billiards through a trade for C. Coleman, who will play the infield for the down river aggregation.

Chester will have new men in Cook, of Monessen, Pa., an outfielder, now employed at the Superior Cord Tire plant. John Vanaman, old Grand Athletics catcher, will assist behind the plate. Zorzie, a pitcher, a former Reserve, will be on the hurling staff, along with Lipscomb, a left hander from Parsons, W. Va., whom Manager Riley is planning to use against Bill Mundy, of Turk Nash when the latter elects to pitch. Then there are Infielder Reese, Outfielder Ward and Pitchers Evans, New Cumberland, and Alvis, a former Sebring lad, captain of the West Virginia Wesleyan football team this fall.

Turk Nash will utilize the rapidly developing Tommy Maley as second string catcher this year, understudying the veteran Schneidmiller. Tommy has graduated from the mascot ranks after serving a several years' course with the Motors. Lloyd and Carl Fife, Lisbon brothers, now living here, will infield and pitch, respectively. Carl Kinney, former star shortstop for Hall China, has returned to the game and will be used at short by the Motors. Gardener Walker, National Drawn Steel company employe, formerly of Canton, and young Scott, a promising West End lad, will also be seen in action.

Tony Renaldi, formerly of Sebring, is to do the chief backstopping for Laughlin. He will be assisted by Force, a big chap from Columbus, and the veteran Mountford, who played with Niles and the Man O' War club there. Burris, a New Haven, W. Va., lad will fling a bit as will Ashe, a 19 year old boy from Newell. A. R. Williams, six feet, four inches tall, will be anchored at first. He hails from Grafton, W. Va. Two other New Haven residents, Otto and Ralston Grim, will shortstop and "hot corner" as needed by the club.

Talbot and Morris will be back with the Billiards. The latter can pitch or play either the infield or the outfield. The former is a first sacker. Cracker Howell, he of the side arm delivery, with Thomas, formerly of Laughlin, Church, Sainer and Baker give the club a formidable pitching staff.

F. and C. Christy, catcher and outfield, respectively, of New Cumberland, will be on the team. Clarence Moore will do third base chores. In addition there are young Bloor, of the high school, Elmer Carey, who faces the task of living up to Carey family baseball traditions, Don Bennet, an outfielder, and Fred Stoddard, a catcher. Wilson, of Steubenville, Dale Laughlin, an outfielder and Harley Reardon, brother of Outfielder Reardon of K. T. K., will also be members of the McVeigh aggregation.

K. T. K. will present "Hi" Myers, long with the Brooklyn and St. Louis National league clubs, who last year was owned by Toledo. His brother, Mahl Myers, will also be in the lineup. Ross Tisher, 1925 star with Laughlin, will line up again. Interest also will be taken in Leftfielder and Pitcher Murphy, of New Comerstown, down Cy Young's way.

The club also will have W. Cox, a high school teacher, and from the same source comes Mackel, a catcher, and Bob Witherow, 16 years old, who early in life starts out to follow the path on the diamond his father, Frank Witherow, has blazed for nearly a quarter of a century. Wildblood, curly headed high school lad, will essay a first base role and young Skidmore, another local student, will also attempt to make a place on the aggregation.

Wellsville will have Godfrey Hinton behind the bat as soon as he leaves Bellefonte Academy. "Pick" Nally, veteran outfielder, will also be given a chance. George McCort, of the Toronto Tigers, will backstop also and cavort about the keystone sack. Hackett is another catcher while Kuntzler will be one of the team's premier hurlers.

GUN CLUB PLANS SHOOT SATURDAY

The East Liverpool Gun club will hold its first shoot of the season to morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the country club range.

Officials of the club have invited all members of the organization as well as others interested in the sport, to attend.

NASH

Leads the World in Motor Car Value

Advanced Six Sedan $1425 f. o. b. factory

Prominent and very popular in the public life of AMERICA

C. W. NASH has never built a more popular model of Nash than this Advanced Six Sedan.

You see it everywhere, and the reason is: it offers charming style, Nash performance and luxurious comfort for five passengers at a very moderate price.

This Nash—every Nash—is in a value class all its own. The car is designed and built with care high above the average, yet it is priced no higher than the average car.

For exceptional power-smoothness and proper bearing support Nash has 7 big bearings in the Nash six-cylinder motor.

To provide extra chassis strength without excess weight, C. W. Nash tubular-trusses the frame. Nash tubular cross members actually furnish 5 times more resistance to road strain than plain cross members.

Even the 4-wheel brakes in this popular Nash are of special Nash design—with Two-Way action for permanent, care-free efficiency.

Come in and see this car. Let us show and explain to you its many other, equally important, features of extra value.

[26 different Nash models priced from $865 to $2090 f. o. b. factory]

Rini Tells Story

"Never had any."

"You employed by Felix Anania?"

"Once, when he was in the contracting business."

"Where were you Tuesday?"

"In bed part of the day."

"Talk about this case?"

"No."

"At 5:30 Tuesday night did you see Marie and Patsy and did you observe them?"

"I observed them intoxicated."

"Offer you a drink?"

"Yes, sir."

"See the container?"

"I saw a green pitcher with liquor in it."

"You drink any?"

"I did from a glass, and poured some from the pitcher."

"Eat there that evening?"

"No, sir."

"Why not?"

"It wasn't supper time, and besides there was nothing there to eat anyway. We were drinking and talking."

Purchased Eggs and Meat.

"When did you leave next?"

"I don't know."

"Why did you leave?"

"To get something to eat. I went to the grocery and it was closed and as Patsy and I had credit at the Crystal restaurant we went there."

"What did you get at the Crystal?"

"Dozen eggs and meat. Carried the eggs in my inside coat pocket and in my overcoat pocket."

The blue serge coat Rini wore that Tuesday night and his overcoat were then exhibited the witness, and he identified the garments as the ones he wore that night. Egg stains were on both coats.

"When were the eggs broken?"

"When I got at the foot of the stairs at the Euclid apartment."

"What next did you do?"

"I told Patsy and Marie when I came back I had eggs and meat and laid the raw meat on the table."

The witness was then given the small penknife that had been introduced as an exhibit by the state. Rini admitted he had that knife in his overcoat pocket Tuesday night, March 22, and that when he took the eggs from his pockets there were egg stains on the knife. He said he gave the penknife to Mrs. Chorgas, and that the next time he saw the knife was "when she took it from her pocketbook in the small bureau drawer in the little bedroom and gave it to the officer."

"Did you at any time have that knife after you had the broken eggs?"

"I did not."

First Knowledge of Cutting.

Rini then testified that he had seen the knife in the kitchen cabinet, but it was not broken. He testified that the three were laughing and joking about the broken eggs when they were in the kitchen.

"What did you do with your blue coat?"

"Threw it on the floor, and Patsy asked me what I was going to do with it. Marie had a wet rag and was cleaning my coat. I laid down a few minutes later."

"Patsy and Marie fooling then?"

"They were."

"Describe what they were doing?"

"I can't describe — they were just cutting up. I left them in the kitchen I told Patsy I was tired and wasn't going to cut the meat. I went in the bedroom and lay down, and I was awakened by Marie coming and saying, 'Sal, look what Patsy has done!'"

"She say how it was done?"

"Not just then."

"When did she say?"

"Later."

"What did she say?"

"Said she was in the front room reading and Patsy walked to the door and said 'Marie, look what I've done'"

"You hear that statement from Patsy?"

"No, sir."

"Who awoke you?"

"Marie woke me when she said, 'look, what Patsy has done.'"

"Did you get up then?"

"I got up and laid Patsy on the bed and asked him if he was hurt much, and if he wanted a doctor. He said no, and said he wanted a drink."

Tells of Trip to Drug Store.

"Ask Patsy how it was done?"

"Not sure, Marie asked."

"How long was they talking before you went to sleep?"

"Not very long."

"They leave the kitchen?"

"I can't say."

"When you awoke what did you see?"

"Marie had Patsy by the left arm and was standing next to the bed, and we laid him down on the bed."

"You talk with Mrs. Chorgas about a doctor?"

"Yes, I said Patsy does not want a doctor."

"You believed then Patsy was hurt?"

"No, the wound didn't hardly bleed at all and I didn't think it was serious. I told Marie she had better put something on it, and Marie gave me a $10 bill and I went to get it. Patsy was alive when I left. I got peroxide, iodine and tape, but I didn't call a doctor then. I ran to the drug store and ran back, and when I got back, Marie said Patsy wanted to go to the bathroom. I poured peroxide on the wound, and I suggested Patsy was more drunk than hurt, and I put a cold towel on him."

"Make any investigations in the kitchen?"

"I didn't."

"Mrs. Chorgas?"

"I didn't see her."

Telephoned for Physician.

"What did you do?"

"I took Patsy by the chin and shook his head and he got up and I helped him to the bathroom. I helped him all the way. I had my arm around his back and I helped him to sit down. He talked in the bathroom, and then his head fell to the side. I said, if you are hurt tell me and I'll get a doctor. He moaned something, and then there was a knock at the bathroom door. He called for Marie earlier, and he said, 'Marie hurt me.' Parsons came to the bathroom door in a few seconds and he said he had some soda water. Patsy rolled his head over to the side and wouldn't take it. I said to Parsons, Patsy was stubborn when he was drinking. I don't remember when Parsons left. We put Patsy in bed, and then I went for a doctor. Patsy couldn't walk and we had to carry him.

"I ran to the drug store to telephone and it was closed, and I went to the terminal station. Just as I got to the booth a man was coming out and I told the central to get me a doctor. I asked for Dr. Michaels, and told her if she couldn't get him to get any one, and she got him quickly. She didn't even ask for a nickel. Doctor said he would come as quickly as he could. When I got back Marie was in the bedroom, and I said to notify Felix Anania. When the doctor came, he said, 'this is a police case;'"

Says Marie Broke Knife.

"Marie said she was afradi of the knife and I said that she ought not to have thrown it away She didn't give me any reason for breaking the knife, only she was afraid. I looked for it and thought she threw both pieces away. I told Lister I didn't see Patsy cut himself with the knife, and I don't know anything about the broken knife."

"Did you threaten Marie or take hold of her?"

"No."

"Hurt her wrist any time?"

"No, sir."

"Any disagreement with her?

"No."

"Any cross words with her?"

"We never did to each other."

"How was the injury to the wrist of Marie inflicted?"

"By Patsy."

"How do you know?"

"Patsy told me." The court sustained an objection of the state to the inquiry, and the jury was ordered to disregard the statement. Exceptions were noted by O'Grady.

"Talk to Marie about it?"

"No, sir."

"Did she tell you Patsy said, 'Sal, Sal!?'

"No."

"What did you and Patsy call each others?"

"Pals."

Denies Marie's Statement.

"Know why Marie threw part of the knife out of the window?"

"No, I don't."

'Any of these knives in your hands after you laid Patsy on the bed?"

"Never was."

"You know how deep the cut in Patsy was?"

"No.

"Did Marie say, 'Sal, you do that'?"

"She didn't ask me anything of the kind."

"What did Marie say to you about telling the police?"

"She didn't say anything."

"About going home?"

'I didn't say anything."

Another recess was declared by the court at this part of the testimony.

"Did you give Mrs. Chorgas a letter in Minneapolis?"

"I did."

"Se it again?"

'Yes."

"When was the last time you saw it?"

"Tuesday evening after I came to the apartment."

"Who had it?"

"Patsy."

"What was in it?"

An objection by the state to the inquiry was sustained by the court.

'Did you introduce Patsy to Mrs. Chorgas?"

"I did."

"How?"

"At my home."

"They correspond before you introduced them?"

"Just the letter I gave to Patsy."

The court ordered that the last answer be stricken from the record and that the jury disregard it.

Knives Stolen, Says Rini.

Rini was then handed the penknife by O'Grady.

"She have the penknife prior to the breaking of the eggs?"

"I let her have it Sunday evening or Monday to sharpen a pencil."

"Did she return it."

'She did."

"She have it the night Patsy was injured?"

"I don't know."

The wisness then identified two black handled table knives, and declared they had been stolen from the Crystal restaurant and taken to the Euclid apartment by Patsy, and that the small kitchen paring knife had been taken from the Sixth street or Fourth street apartment.

"You ever make any threats against Marie?"

"Never at any time."

"Did she say she was in fear?"

"She never said that to me."

"Did she at any time give an expression of fear?"

"Non whatever."

'What did she say when you were placed under arrest?"

"You going to take us to jail?"

"She say then she didn't do it?"

"Didn't say anything then."

"She say there was another knife there?"

"No, not then."

"That looks like a filibuster," interjected Prosecutor Brookes.

"Yes, it's all gone over before," came from the court.

Rini then told of being taken to the East Liverpool jail, and from there to the county jail, where he has since remained.

Rini's Cap is Exhibited.

'Where is your cell in the county jail with reference to that occupied by Marie?"

"I can't judge. It's off to one side on the floor under me."

"Hear any conversations there?"

"I did."

"With Sheriff George Wright?"

"It has not been established who was in the cell," said Brookes.

"If court, please, can I run my end of this case?" O'Grady asked.

"You are," said the judge.

"Did you hear any talk?"

'Yes, I did."

"Talk about you?"

"I know the sheriff's voice."

"You know the sheriff was in the cell?"

"Not the statement of the sheriff, but of Mr. Chorgas," put in the court.

"What did Mrs. Chorgas say?"

"Couldn't say, she was crying. It was the sheriff—."

Objection to the latter part of the statement of the witness was sustained by the court.

"Did you at any time go into the vacant lot on the west side of the Euclid apartment?"

"No sir."

"On the night of March 22, what kind of a hat were you wearing?"

"Light cap."

Attorney Raymond Knepper took a light cap from a rack, gave it to O'Grady, and the witness identified the cap as the one he was wearing the night of March 22. It was not put in the record as an exhibit.

"Did you have a hat on?"

"Never did."

Heard No Struggle.

"Did Patsy collapse when you were assisting him to the bathroom?"

"He kicked against the steps as we were walking to the bathroom."

"Other apartments in the building occupied?"

"Yes."

"Know other people?"

"Know the Webber apartment."

"Any complaint ever made about noise?"

"None to my knowledge."

"Is this the cap you wore the night of March 22?"

"Yes, the one I now wear."

"Did you go out of the Euclid apartment in your shirt sleeves?"

"Had my brown overcoat on every time I went out."

"On the night of March 22, did you hear any noise or struggle after you went to bed?"

"No, sir."

"Any struggle in your rooms after you woke?"

"Only walking and talking."

"When you lay down, was your friendship for Patsy the same?"

"Certainly was."

Cross-Examination Begins.

"You may have him," O'Grady then said to Prosecutor Brookes.

"Sal, how long was it after you Patsy was cut that you went to the drug store?" Brookes asked in cross-examination.

"Couldn't say how long."

"Ten or 15 minutes?"

"I don't know the time."

"Closer to 10 minutes than five—give us your best recollection?"

"May be five, may be 10 minutes. I was excited. I'd be afraid to say."

"How long were you in the apartment after you learned Patsy was cut before you went to the drug store?"

"I have no idea."

"How long did it take you to make the trip to Hodson's drug store and get back?"

"I ran all the way to the drug store and ran back, took three or four minutes."

"You say you went to the drug store, got the packages, got the $10 bill changed and in three or four minutes?"

"I ran there and back."

"Why did you run?"

"He was my friend and I wanted to go quickly. I knew Patsy's blood was bad. I thought he was drunk and I didn't want him to go to sleep without treatment."

"You say it took you three or four minutes to get those things?"

"I can't say."

"Marie Hurt Me." Quotes Rini.

"You asked Patsy to go to the bathroom?"

"Yes."

"How long were you in the bathroom?"

"Good while—five or 10 minutes. He was my friend. I was excited. I felt bad about him being hurt."

"Patsy talk to you in the bathroom?"

"Yes."

"What did he say?"

"I said what's the matter, Patsy, and he said 'Marie hurt me.' His head fell back as he said this."

"How long was it before Parsons came?"

"A minute."

"How was Patsy's head?'

"His head lay on one side," the witness indicating by letting his head fall toward his right shoulder.

"Were his eyes closed?"

"Yes."

Rini Tells Story

"Never had any."

"You employed by Felix Anania?"

"Once, when he was in the contracting business."

"Where were you Tuesday?"

"In bed part of the day."

"Talk about this case?"

"No."

"At 5:30 Tuesday night did you see Marie and Patsy and did you observe them?"

"I observed them intoxicated."

"Offer you a drink?"

"Yes, sir."

"See the container?"

"I saw a green pitcher with liquor in it."

"You drink any?"

"I did from a glass, and poured some from the pitcher."

"Eat there that evening?"

"No, sir."

"Why not?"

"It wasn't supper time, and besides there was nothing there to eat anyway. We were drinking and talking."

Purchased Eggs and Meat.

"When did you leave next?"

"I don't know."

"Why did you leave?"

"To get something to eat. I went to the grocery and it was closed and as Patsy and I had credit at the Crystal restaurant we went there."

"What did you get at the Crystal?"

"Dozen eggs and meat. Carried the eggs in my inside coat pocket and in my overcoat pocket."

The blue serge coat Rini wore that Tuesday night and his overcoat were then exhibited the witness, and he identified the garments as the ones he wore that night. Egg stains were on both coats.

"When were the eggs broken?"

"When I got at the foot of the stairs at the Euclid apartment."

"What next did you do?"

"I told Patsy and Marie when I came back I had eggs and meat and laid the raw meat on the table."

The witness was then given the small penknife that had been introduced as an exhibit by the state. Rini admitted he had that knife in his overcoat pocket Tuesday night, March 22, and that when he took the eggs from his pockets there were egg stains on the knife. He said he gave the penknife to Mrs. Chorgas, and that the next time he saw the knife was "when she took it from her pocketbook in the small bureau drawer in the little bedroom and gave it to the officer."

"Did you at any time have that knife after you had the broken eggs?"

"I did not."

First Knowledge of Cutting.

Rini then testified that he had seen the knife in the kitchen cabinet, but it was not broken. He testified that the three were laughing and joking about the broken eggs when they were in the kitchen.

"What did you do with your blue coat?"

"Threw it on the floor, and Patsy asked me what I was going to do with it. Marie had a wet rag and was cleaning my coat. I laid down a few minutes later."

"Patsy and Marie fooling then?"

"They were."

"Describe what they were doing?"

"I can't describe — they were just cutting up. I left them in the kitchen I told Patsy I was tired and wasn't going to cut the meat. I went in the bedroom and lay down, and I was awakened by Marie coming and saying, 'Sal, look what Patsy has done!'"

"She say how it was done?"

"Not just then."

"When did she say?"

"Later."

"What did she say?"

"Said she was in the front room reading and Patsy walked to the door and said 'Marie, look what I've done.'"

"You hear that statement from Patsy?"

"No, sir."

"Who awoke you?"

"Marie woke me when she said, 'Look, what Patsy has done.'"

"Did you get up then?"

"I got up and laid Patsy on the bed and asked him if he was hurt much, and if he wanted a doctor. He said no, and said he wanted a drink."

Tells of Trip to Drug Store.

"Ask Patsy how it was done?"

"Not sure, Marie asked."

"How long was they talking before you went to sleep?"

"Not very long."

"They leave the kitchen?"

"I can't say."

"When you awoke what did you see?"

"Marie had Patsy by the left arm and was standing next to the bed, and we laid him down on the bed."

"You talk with Mrs. Chorgas about a doctor?"

"Yes, I said Patsy does not want a doctor."

"You believed then Patsy was hurt?"

"No, the wound didn't hardly bleed at all and I didn't think it was serious. I told Marie she had better put something on it, and Marie gave me a $10 bill and I went to get it. Patsy was alive when I left. I got peroxide, iodine and tape, but I didn't call a doctor then. I ran to the drug store and ran back, and when I got back, Marie said Patsy wanted to go to the bathroom. I poured peroxide on the wound, and I suggested Patsy was more drunk than hurt, and I put a cold towel on him."

"Make any investigations in the kitchen?"

"I didn't."

"Mrs. Chorgas?"

"I didn't see her."

Telephoned for Physician.

"What did you do?"

"I took Patsy by the chin and shook his head and he got up and I helped him to the bathroom. I helped him all the way. I had my arm around his back and I helped him to sit down. He talked in the bathroom, and then his head fell to the side. I said, if you are hurt tell me and I'll get a doctor. He moaned something, and then there was a knock at the bathroom door. He called for Marie earlier, and he said, 'Marie hurt me.' Parsons came to the bathroom door in a few seconds and he said he had some soda water. Patsy rolled his head over to the side and wouldn't take it. I said to Parsons, Patsy was stubborn when he was drinking. I don't remember when Parsons left. We put Patsy in bed, and then I went for a doctor. Patsy couldn't walk and we had to carry him.

"I ran to the drug store to telephone and it was closed, and I went to the terminal station. Just as I got to the booth a man was coming out and I told the central to get me a doctor. I asked for Dr. Michaels, and told her if she couldn't get him to get any one, and she got him quickly. She didn't even ask for a nickel. Doctor said he would come as quickly as he could. When I got back Marie was in the bedroom, and I said to notify Felix Anania. When the doctor came, he said, 'this is a police case;'"

Says Marie Broke Knife.

"Marie said she was afradi of the knife and I said that she ought not to have thrown it away She didn't give me any reason for breaking the knife, only she was afraid. I looked for it and thought she threw both pieces away. I told Lister I didn't see Patsy cut himself with the knife, and I don't know anything about the broken knife."

"Did you threaten Marie or take hold of her?"

"No."

"Hurt her wrist any time?"

"No, sir."

"Any disagreement with her?

"No."

"Any cross words with her?"

"We never did to each other."

"How was the injury to the wrist of Marie inflicted?"

"By Patsy."

"How do you know?"

"Patsy told me." The court sustained an objection of the state to the inquiry, and the jury was ordered to disregard the statement. Exceptions were noted by O'Grady.

"Talk to Marie about it?"

"No, sir."

"Did she tell you Patsy said, 'Sal, Sal!?"

"No."

"What did you and Patsy call each others?"

"Pals."

Denies Marie's Statement.

"Know why Marie threw part of the knife out of the window?"

"No, I don't."

'Any of these knives in your hands after you laid Patsy on the bed?"

"Never was."

"You know how deep the cut in Patsy was?"

"No.

"Did Marie say, 'Sal, you do that'?"

"She didn't ask me anything of the kind."

"What did Marie say to you about telling the police?"

"She didn't say anything."

"About going home?"

'I didn't say anything."

Another recess was declared by the court at this part of the testimony.

"Did you give Mrs. Chorgas a letter in Minneapolis?"

"I did."

"Se it again?"

'Yes."

"When was the last time you saw it?"

"Tuesday evening after I came to the apartment."

"Who had it?"

"Patsy."

"What was in it?"

An objection by the state to the inquiry was sustained by the court.

'Did you introduce Patsy to Mrs. Chorgas?"

"I did."

"How?"

"At my home."

"They correspond before you introduced them?"

"Just the letter I gave to Patsy."

The court ordered that the last answer be stricken from the record and that the jury disregard it.

Knives Stolen, Says Rini.

Rini was then handed the penknife by O'Grady.

"She have the penknife prior to the breaking of the eggs?"

"I let her have it Sunday evening or Monday to sharpen a pencil."

"Did she return it."

'She did."

"She have it the night Patsy was injured?"

"I don't know."

The wisness then identified two black handled table knives, and declared they had been stolen from the Crystal restaurant and taken to the Euclid apartment by Patsy, and that the small kitchen paring knife had been taken from the Sixth street or Fourth street apartment.

"You ever make any threats against Marie?"

"Never at any time."

"Did she say she was in fear?"

"She never said that to me."

"Did she at any time give an expression of fear?"

"Non whatever."

'What did she say when you were placed under arrest?"

"You going to take us to jail?"

"She say then she didn't do it?"

"Didn't say anything then."

"She say there was another knife there?"

"No, not then."

"This looks like a filibuster," interjected Prosecutor Brookes.

"Yes, it's all gone over before," came from the court.

Rini then told of being taken to the East Liverpool jail, and from there to the county jail, where he has since remained.

Rini's Cap is Exhibited.

'Where is your cell in the county jail with reference to that occupied by Marie?"

"I can't judge. It's off to one side on the floor under me."

"Hear any conversations there?"

"I did."

"With Sheriff George Wright?"

"It has not been established who was in the cell," said Brookes.

"If court, please, can I run my end of this case?" O'Grady asked.

"You are," said the judge.

"Did you hear any talk?"

'Yes, I did."

"Talk about you?"

"I know the sheriff's voice."

"You know the sheriff was in the cell?"

"Not the statement of the sheriff, but of Mr. Chorgas," put in the court.

"What did Mrs. Chorgas say?"

"Couldn't say, she was crying. It was the sheriff—."

Objection to the latter part of the statement of the witness was sustained by the court.

"Did you at any time go into the vacant lot on the west side of the Euclid apartment?"

"No sir."

"On the night of March 22, what kind of a hat were you wearing?"

"Light cap."

Attorney Raymond Knepper took a light cap from a rack, gave it to O'Grady, and the witness identified the cap as the one he was wearing the night of March 22. It was not put in the record as an exhibit.

"Did you have a hat on?"

"Never did."

Heard No Struggle.

"Did Patsy collapse when you were assisting him to the bathroom?"

"He kicked against the steps as we were walking to the bathroom."

"Other apartments in the building occupied?"

"Yes."

"Know other people?"

"Know the Webber apartment."

"Any complaint ever made about noise?"

"None to my knowledge."

"Is this the cap you wore the night of March 22?"

"Yes, the one I now wear."

"Did you go out of the Euclid apartment in your shirt sleeves?"

"Had my brown overcoat on every time I went out."

"On the night of March 22, did you hear any noise or struggle after you went to bed?"

"No, sir."

"Any struggle in your rooms after you woke?"

"Only walking and talking."

"When you lay down, was your friendship for Patsy the same?"

"Certainly was."

Cross-Examination Begins.

"You may have him," O'Grady then said to Prosecutor Brookes.

"Sal, how long was it after you Patsy was cut that you went to the drug store?" Brookes asked in cross-examination.

"Couldn't say how long."

"Ten or 15 minutes?"

"I don't know the time."

"Closer to 10 minutes than five—give us your best recollection?"

"May be five, may be 10 minutes. I was excited. I'd be afraid to say."

"How long were you in the apartment after you learned Patsy was cut before you went to the drug store?"

"I have no idea."

"How long did it take you to make the trip to Hodson's drug store and get back?"

"I ran all the way to the drug store and ran back, took three or four minutes."

"You say you went to the drug store, got the packages, got the $10 bill changed and in three or four minutes?"

"I ran there and back."

"Why did you run?"

"He was my friend and I wanted to go quickly. I knew Patsy's blood was bad. I thought he was drunk and I didn't want him to go to sleep without treatment."

"You say it took you three or four minutes to get those things?"

"I can't say."

"Marie Hurt Me," Quotes Rini.

"You asked Patsy to go to the bathroom?"

"Yes."

"How long were you in the bathroom?"

"Good while—five or 10 minutes. He was my friend. I was excited. I felt bad about him being hurt."

"Patsy talk to you in the bathroom?"

"Yes."

"What did he say?"

"I said what's the matter, Patsy, and he said 'Marie hurt me.' His head fell back as he said this."

"How long was it before Parsons came?"

"A minute."

"How was Patsy's head?'

"His head lay on one side," the witness indicating by letting his head fall toward his right shoulder.

"Were his eyes closed?"

"Yes."

WASHINGTON STEWART'S LETTER

REFUSAL OF COOLIDGE TO CALL CONGRESS ON FLOOD COMMENDED

WASHINGTON, May 6.—President Coolidge is very generally commended for refusing to call an extra session of congress to provide flood relief.

Nobody denies that relief is needed, if ever it was, but the verdict is almost unanimous that an extra session of congress is about the last thing it could reasonably be expected from.

As expressed by one of the representatives who still lingers in the capital, "The situation's plenty bad enough as it is, without an extra session of congress."

TO begin with, this next congress is going to be one of the most political congresses that ever happened.

It's a new congress—the 70th—and senate control is sure to be in doubt from start to finish. Neither big party will have a majority. A few independent votes will decide every question. The dickering and trading for them will be incessant.

And a presidential year is just ahead. That will make the jockeying all the more absorbing—to the jockeys.

OF course, if an extra session were called, the legislators all would arrive full of the idea that they must forget partisanship temporarily, and provide flood relief the first thing.

But the senate can't even "organize," and get ready for business, without a political fight.

Is Senator-elect Frank L. Smith entitled to a seat? How about Senator-elect William S. Vare's seat? Shall Secretary Thayer and Sergeant-at-Arms Barry and all their underlings get their old jobs again or be kicked out into the cold? There'll be a president pro tem to choose.

Some other questions can wait, but these will have to be settled ahead of everything. It may take weeks.

WITH congress scattered to the four corners of the country, flood relief is going ahead under Secretary of Commerce Hoover's auspices. It undoubtedly will continue to go ahead as long as he's left free to administer it. The money will be dug up somehow.

But congress, once in session, would be certain to throw a wrench into the machinery immediately. Everybody concedes that — even congressmen.

Besides, nobody imagines that congress, having provided relief, in its own fashion, would quit and go home until next December. On the contrary, it's a foregone conclusion that it would stick here, and proceed with the manufacture of 1928 presidential medicine until just before the national conventions.

SECRETARY HOOVER'S flood relief, it's agreed on all hands, will be as straight flood relief as he can make it.

No reasonable person questions that congress' kind would be a mixture of one part of flood relief with nobody can guess how many parts of political expediency.

It's estimated that a million dollars' worth of Hoover's pure relief will go as far as several million dollars' worth of congressional blend.

FINALLY, the president is said to be anxious to let a little time elapse before congress takes up flood prevention plans, for the future.

It's foreseen that these schemes' number will be tremendous.

The presidential policy is to let them simmer awhile, until the craziest of them have evaporated, because the one that's finally selected is bound to cost into the billions and it's highly desirable to pick one that will work this time.

Rini Tells Story

"Did he walk to the bathroom?"

"I had my arm around his back. We weren't marching, just walking."

"Parsons said it was 10 o'clock when you were in the bathroom. Is that correct?"

"I can't say."

"If it was 10 o'clock, please explain to the jury what you were doing between 9 and 10 o'clock?"

"I'm not super-human: I can't tell the time."

"How long did it take you to get Dr. Michaels?"

"I ran all the way to the terminal and back."

"Dr. Michaels said it was 10:20 when he got the call. Is that right?"

"If he said I called him then, he ought to know."

"How long were you gone from the apartment?"

"Five, six or seven minutes. I ran both ways."

"Previous to 9 o'clock and until 10:20 o'clock you have only explained the three or four minutes you used in running to the drug store, the 10 minutes spent in the bathroom and the six minutes to the waiting station."

"I had been driking, I don't know the time."

It was after 5 o'clock when the last question was answered, and an adjournment was taken until 9:30 o'clock this morning.

REFUSAL OF COOLIDGE TO CALL CONGRESS ON FLOOD COMMENDED

WASHINGTON, May 6.—President Coolidge is very generally commended for refusing to call an extra session of congress to provide flood relief.

Nobody denies that relief is needed, if ever it was, but the verdict is almost unanimous that an extra session of congress is about the last thing it could reasonably be expected from.

As expressed by one of the representatives who still lingers in the capital, "The situation's plenty bad enough as it is, without an extra session of congress."

TO begin with, this next congress is going to be one of the most political congresses that ever happened.

It's a new congress—the 70th—and senate control is sure to be in doubt from start to finish. Neither big party will have a majority. A few independent votes will decide every question. The dickering and trading for them will be incessant.

And a presidential year is just ahead. That will make the jockeying all the more absorbing—to the jockeys.

OF course, if an extra session were called, the legislators all would arrive full of the idea that they must forget partisanship temporarily, and provide flood relief the first thing.

But the senate can't even "organize," and get ready for business, without a political fight.

Is Senator-elect Frank L. Smith entitled to a seat? How about Senator-elect William S. Vare's seat? Shall Secretary Thayer and Sergeant-at-Arms Barry and all their underlings get their old jobs again or be kicked out into the cold? There'll be a president pro tem to choose.

Some other questions can wait, but these will have to be settled ahead of everything. It may take weeks.

WITH congress scattered to the four corners of the country, flood relief is going ahead under Secretary of Commerce Hoover's auspices. It undoubtedly will continue to go ahead as long as he's left free to administer it. The money will be dug up somehow.

But congress, once in session, would be certain to throw a wrench into the machinery immediately. Everybody concedes that — even congressmen.

Besides, nobody imagines that congress, having provided relief, in its own fashion, would quit and go home until next December. On the contrary, it's a foregone conclusion that it would stick here, and proceed with the manufacture of 1928 presidential medicine until just before the national conventions.

SECRETARY HOOVER'S flood relief, it's agreed on all hands, will be as straight flood relief as he can make it.

No reasonable person questions that congress' kind would be a mixture of one part of flood relief with nobody can guess how many parts of political expediency.

It's estimated that a million dollars' worth of Hoover's pure relief will go as far as several million dollars' worth of congressional blend.

FINALLY, the president is said to be anxious to let a little time elapse before congress takes up flood prevention plans, for the future.

It's foreseen that these schemes' number will be tremendous.

The presidential policy is to let them simmer awhile, until the craziest of them have evaporated, because the one that's finally selected is bound to cost into the billions and it's highly desirable to pick one that will work this time.

Rini Tells Story

"Did he walk to the bathroom?"

"I had my arm around his back. We weren't marching, just walking."

"Parsons said it was 10 o'clock when you were in the bathroom. Is that correct?"

"I can't say."

"If it was 10 o'clock, please explain to the jury what you were doing between 9 and 10 o'clock?"

"I'm not super-human: I can't tell the time."

"How long did it take you to get Dr. Michaels?"

"I ran all the way to the terminal and back."

"Dr. Michaels said it was 10:20 when he got the call. Is that right?"

"If he said I called him then, he ought to know."

"How long were you gone from the apartment?"

"Five, six or seven minutes. I ran both ways."

"Previous to 9 o'clock and until 10:20 o'clock you have only explained the three or four minutes you used in running to the drug store, the 10 minutes spent in the bathroom and the six minutes to the waiting station."

"I had been driking, I don't know the time."

It was after 5 o'clock when the last question was answered, and an adjournment was taken until 9:30 o'clock this morning.

JOHN GILBERT GREAT LOVER

Greta Garbo Hypnotizes Him in "Flesh and Devil."

Girls, what kind of a flapper would you think John Gilbert could make love to the best—a pretty French coquette like the heroine of "The Big Parade"—or a clining vine with languorous eyes and a strange hypnotic charm?

Well—you just ought to see John Gilbert make love when he's hypnotized! And this means that you ought to see him making love to Greta Garbo in "Flesh and the Devil" at the Ceramic theatre.

She's the most exotic, strangest, most beautiful sort of a siren you ever saw—it's almost uncanny—and you can fairly see her hypnotize him as the play goes on. But then who wouldn't hynotize John Gilbert if she could—and John seemed to like it—until he found he'd betrayed his best friend and ruined his life.

The play's taken from Sudermann's "The Undying Past." Of course everybody thought Sudermann drama sounded highbrow—but it's not—it's one of the most gripping stories ever seen on the screen, and one of the greatest entertainments. If this picture is highbrow drama the fans are going to want plenty more of it.

John is the lover and Greta the wife of his best friend—who is the handsome Lars Hanson, the same who played Lillian Gish's lover in "The Scarlet Letter"—and who, they say, is loved by the girls of Sweden just as John Gilbert is adored by the flappers of America. Maybe the American flappers will adore him too—if he gives many more performances like this latest of his!

George Fawcett is the old pastor—and he's funny but still stern when he has to be; and Barbara Kent is a cute little thing that you'll just adore as "Hertha." William Orlamond plays the old uncle and is good for many a laugh—no danger of anyone vamping him or hynotizing him either—and Eugenie Besserer is a delightful mother.

"Semper Paratus"—Ever Ready.

One of the flags, bearing the emblem of a crown with plumes, had a motto, in English, "In God We Trust." This is believed to have been the first use in America of this subsequently much discussed motto.

There were lions rampant, an eagle in flight, an armored warrior, a man on horseback, a city surrounded by ramparts, a figure of Liberty with a lance carrying on its point the bonnet of Liberty, a lion holding a scimitar in one paw and a sheaf of wheat in the other, a feudal home with a soldier on guard, and crossed guns and swords, and the mottoes in addition to those already cited, and most of them in Latin, included "United in Virtue We Conquer," "From God the Victory," "God Aids the Brave," "For King and People," "For God and King George," "Safety in Preparedness," "United Force is Strength," and "For the Liberty of the Homeland."

When the Red Flag Waved.

In 1770 the Sons of Liberty of Boston hoisted upon a tall pine tree in a grove on Harvard campus a plain red flag. This deviceless banner, it is recorded, was lated improved by sewing upon it a Green Pine Tree, a symbol of American liberty, and played an important part in the Revolution.

The exact origin of the 13 stripes idea, embodied in the first flag of the Continental Army and later in the flag of the United States, is not known, but it dates far back of the designing of our national colors. The East India Company had a banner with a red cross upon a white field and 13 stripes, alternate red and white, that was seen in American harbors as early as 1704. A Holland trade flag with 13 stripes, yellow and red, antedates our flag of 1775 by almost 40 years. The famous Philadelphia Light Horse which escorted Washington to Boston when he went there to take command of the troops, carried a flag upon which was emblazoned 13 stripes, alternate blue and white, and in the southern colonies there were two flags of the 13 stripes, in one of alternate red and blue and in the other of alternate red and white.

It is also mistakenly believed by many that the first raising of a starry flag in the New World was at the birth of the United States emblem. Rhode Island had a blue flag with white stars in 1776 and to go back a bit farther, Cortez carried a flag with stars in a circle in his invasion of Mexico more than 200 years before Betsy Ross made the first Star Spangled Banner in this country.

The device of a coiled rattlesnake with the motto, "Don't Tread On Me!" was quite popular with the colonists, and appeared on numerous early flags. It is supposed to have originated from a suggestion by a writer in Franklin's newspaper that in return for the wrongs suffered by the colonists a cargo of rattlesnakes should be shipped to England and distributed in Saint James Park, Spring Garden, and other places of pleasure.

One of the rattlesnake flags was presented to the Continental Congress in February, 1776, with the suggestion that it be used by the commander-in-chief of the American Navy. Another was the banner of the Culpepper Minute Men and bore the words "Liberty or Death" in addition to the familiar motto.

And one of the most historic of colonial emblems was that carried by Capt. Nathan Page of the Bedford Minute Men on the memorable April 19, 1775, at Lexington and Concord. It was of maroon color and bore the words, "Aut Vince Morire"—Conquer or Die!

HATTIE

By Samuel Merwin

CHAPTER FORTY-ONE.

He stood on the curb, looking on, while the limousine moved slowly through the crowd that all but stormed it. Once, before it turned the corner, he saw a white little face with bewildered eyes seeking him. He waved, and the face was gone . . But he couldn't linger there. He must get home to that little mother of his. And his work had stopped. He had meant to write on the train. Now, not without bitterness, he asked himself if he could ever write again.

She called up before nine in the morning. She hadn't been able to sleep much, she said. Somehow she must shake off these people. It was in her mind to slip away for a visit to the mailing room, and she wanted him to come with her. "I'll be down stairs in the lounge in half an hour," she said. "You can pick me up, and we'll walk over. I'd love to walk."

But when he entered the lounge, Mr. Henderson sat beside a crestfallen slip of a girl; and close at hand stood a patient young man with a camera. And he had seen that limousine out in front. There was nothing for it but to go as one of the party. Hattie couldn't be herself. They photographed her in the mailing room, surrounded by her old acquaintances. On the way back to the hotel Mr. Henderson explained that they might not use the pictures. He would have to talk that over, as a matter of policy, with Mr. De Brissac and Mr. Hamlin. They would be in before noon.

Hattie gave him a faltering glance. So Arthur had come along! They were hot after her.

The limousine stopped before the hotel. Mr. Henderson and the photographer stepped down. A profoundly sobered Dempster followed, and waited. But Hattie sat motionless. She couldn't meet the situation. They might already be in there—Arthur and —and De Brissac. She moistened her lips.

"I'm going to do some shopping," she said then, a thought defiantly. "You come with me, Julian."

At once he stepped in beside her, and before them both took one of her little hands firmly in his.

"But Miss John"—this, quickly, from Henderson—"we have a great deal to do. And Mr. De Brissac and Mr. Rosenwald will want you to try your voice in the theater."

"I'll do that this afternoon," said Hattie.

"But you'll surely be back before lunch. Mr. De Brissac will expect you."

Hattie shivered. She might faint again. She couldn't say anything more, could only nod weakly. It was a relief when the car moved off into the traffic. She was clinging desperately to Julian. He said, rather sternly, to the chauffer—"Drive up through the Park." She was glad of that, and glad when he drew her head into the hollow of his shoulder. She didn't care what became of her hat. She didn't care if all Fifth Avenue saw them. And she was glad that he didn't care . . . In the park, she whispered brokenly, "Do you love me, Julian?" and he kissed her. It was almost like that moment in the Canyon. Almost; not quite. It was a relief to cry on his coat.

As they drew near the hotel, he said, very gently—

"I'm not going to try to see you again today, dear. You've got your hands full. And I want you to promise me you'll rest this afternoon. And try to sleep late in the morning. I won't disturb you. You can call me when you wake up."

She had to let him go. She stood for a moment on the sidewalk, where men jostled brusquely by and then turned to look at the girl who had the air of being somebody, who was quaint and little and, in a wistfully childlike way, beautiful. For a moment she pressed a hand to her breast and as if it were a difficult thing to do moistened her lips. Then she went in.

She sat on one of the sofas in a dim corner of the lounge. Arthur had drawn up a chair. She was reflecting, as she whitely watched him, how much he had changed in the year. His face was soft, of course, and almost without expression. You felt no force there; no character, really. But he was well dressed, and seemed brisk and business-like enough. She had paid for those clothes, as for the neat hat, and the smart gloves and the walking stick. It was always irritating to think about this, and about his

By Samuel Merwin

CHAPTER FORTY-ONE.

He stood on the curb, looking on, while the limousine moved slowly through the crowd that all but stormed it. Once, before it turned the corner, he saw a white little face with bewildered eyes seeking him. He waved, and the face was gone . . But he couldn't linger there. He must get home to that little mother of his. And his work had stopped. He had meant to write on the train. Now, not without bitterness, he asked himself if he could ever write again.

She called up before nine in the morning. She hadn't been able to sleep much, she said. Somehow she must shake off these people. It was in her mind to slip away for a visit to the mailing room, and she wanted him to come with her. "I'll be down stairs in the lounge in half an hour," she said. "You can pick me up, and we'll walk over. I'd love to walk."

But when he entered the lounge, Mr. Henderson sat beside a crestfallen slip of a girl; and close at hand stood a patient young man with a camera. And he had seen that limousine out in front. There was nothing for it but to go as one of the party. Hattie couldn't be herself. They photographed her in the mailing room, surrounded by her old acquaintances. On the way back to the hotel Mr. Henderson explained that they might not use the pictures. He would have to talk that over, as a matter of policy, with Mr. De Brissac and Mr. Hamlin. They would be in before noon.

Hattie gave him a faltering glance. So Arthur had come along! They were hot after her.

The limousine stopped before the hotel. Mr. Henderson and the photographer stepped down. A profoundly sobered Dempster followed, and waited. But Hattie sat motionless. She couldn't meet the situation. They might already be in there—Arthur and —and De Brissac. She moistened her lips.

"I'm going to do some shopping," she said then, a thought defiantly. "You come with me, Julian."

At once he stepped in beside her, and before them both took one of her little hands firmly in his.

"But Miss John"—this, quickly, from Henderson—"we have a great deal to do. And Mr. De Brissac and Mr. Rosenwald will want you to try your voice in the theater."

"I'll do that this afternoon," said Hattie.

"But you'll surely be back before lunch. Mr. De Brissac will expect you."

Hattie shivered. She might faint again. She couldn't say anything more, could only nod weakly. It was a relief when the car moved off into the traffic. She was clinging desperately to Julian. He said, rather sternly, to the chauffer—"Drive up through the Park." She was glad of that, and glad when he drew her head into the hollow of his shoulder. She didn't care what became of her hat. She didn't care if all Fifth Avenue saw them. And she was glad that he didn't care . . . In the park, she whispered brokenly, "Do you love me, Julian?" and he kissed her. It was almost like that moment in the Canyon. Almost; not quite. It was a relief to cry on his coat.

As they drew near the hotel, he said, very gently—

"I'm not going to try to see you again today, dear. You've got your hands full. And I want you to promise me you'll rest this afternoon. And try to sleep late in the morning. I won't disturb you. You can call me when you wake up."

She had to let him go. She stood for a moment on the sidewalk, where men jostled brusquely by and then turned to look at the girl who had the air of being somebody, who was quaint and little and, in a wistfully childlike way, beautiful. For a moment she pressed a hand to her breast and as if it were a difficult thing to do moistened her lips. Then she went in.

She sat on one of the sofas in a dim corner of the lounge. Arthur had drawn up a chair. She was reflecting, as she whitely watched him, how much he had changed in the year. His face was soft, of course, and almost without expression. You felt no force there; no character, really. But he was well dressed, and seemed brisk and business-like enough. She had paid for those clothes, as for the neat hat, and the smart gloves and the walking stick. It was always irritating to think about this, and about his

On Arms. Itched and Burned. Cuticura Heals.

"I had pimples on my arms. They were small at first but later became large, hard and red, and hurt awfully. The pimples itched and burned and after about a week would scale over. My clothing irritated the pimples, and if I scratched them it caused the trouble to spread.

"I had pimples about a month when I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment so purchased some, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Wilena Elder, R. F. D. 4, Box 13, Perryville, Mo., June 17, 1926.

"AUCTIONEER" SCREEN WINNER

Human Story Told in Film Version at American.

Fox Films' version of that famous and lovable Warfield-Belasco play, "The Auctioneer," rode into the American theatre on the wings of triumph last night. Everyone who loves motion pictures at their best should see it at least once.

For "The Auctioneer" has almost everything that wholesome entertainment could have. There's pathos, comedy of various sorts, intrigue and romance.

"The Auctioneer" sets forth in a most human manner the story of a little Irish orphan who is adopted by a Russian and his wife on their way to the land of promise. The Russian, upon his arrival in New York, borrows some of the money entrusted to him for the well-being of the little girl he has adopted. With this money he begins on a business career that in years to come carries him and his little family to the luxury of an abode on Riverside Drive.

As played by George Sidney, noted star of the stage and screen, the auctioneer is a lovable figure who strikes directly at the hearts of all who watch him as he rises from street peddler to luxury. If all of Sidney's future performances on the silver sheet are as nearly perfect as his portrait in "The Auctioneer," he will have a place of his own in screen circles for some time to come.

Marion Nixon and Gareth Hughes head a supporting cast which fits into the story like clockwork. Miss Nixon is lovely indeed as the little Irish girl in her teens.

Knowing the Oakland tradition of advanced engineering, you have probably sensed that the Greater Oakland Six offers certain things not found in other cars. The briefest study of the cars in Oakland's field will reveal that "until another car of Oakland's price has all these features, Oakland value is supreme."

But even if you could find another car duplicating the Oakland Six, point by point, that car would not duplicate Oakland value. For Oakland value is based not merely on these features—but on these features, plus super-precision in construction, which makes the Greater Oakland Six the best-built car of its price in the world.

Thousands say it's the best gas in the world

YOU'VE never known a gas to win so many friends. Everybody says Pennzoil is the most volatile gas they've ever used. And you know what that means.

More power on the hills! More pep on the pick-up! More speed on the get-away! More mileage per gallon!

For Pennzoil vaporizes completely. It gives you complete combustion. No waste to cause carbon, or necessitate valve grinding.

Pennzoil gasoline is produced in the same great plant that gives you Pennzoil motor oils—the largest and most modern refinery operating exclusively on 100% pure Pennsylvania crude. It is refined by a unique process that means a finer—drier fuel for your car.

Try Pennzoil gasoline yourself. There's a Pennzoil pump not far away. Make its acquaintance.

Thousands say it's the best gas in the world

YOU'VE never known a gas to win so many friends. Everybody says Pennzoil is the most volatile gas they've ever used. And you know what that means.

More power on the hills! More pep on the pick-up! More speed on the get-away! More mileage per gallon!

For Pennzoil vaporizes completely. It gives you complete combustion. No waste to cause carbon, or necessitate valve grinding.

Pennzoil gasoline is produced in the same great plant that gives you Pennzoil motor oils—the largest and most modern refinery operating exclusively on 100% pure Pennsylvania crude. It is refined by a unique process that means a finer—drier fuel for your car.

Try Pennzoil gasoline yourself. There's a Pennzoil pump not far away. Make its acquaintance.

PEOPLE AS HAPPY AS BIRDS IN SPRINGTIME

No Reason Why Anybody Should Suffer From Spring Fever, Says the World's Tonic Man

"When the warmth of Spring is felt, everything in Nature changes. All vegetation pulses with activity. Animals become brighter, and are more active. Why, then, is it that man alone suffers from so-called 'Spring Fever?'"

That question was put to the World's Tonic man at Carnahan's drug store. Instantly he answered: "If men lived like the animals they wouldn't have spring fever. But since they eat heavily all winter, and keep in the houses, their organs fail to throw off all the waste matter and impurities. Then when Spring is at hand, they feel like they couldn't move, and want to lie down and sleep. No wonder. Systems are full of waste, the blood carries a lot of impurities, and often shows its condition in catarrh. What man needs then is something that will clean his blood, correct the catarrhal troubles, and give vigor and pep. Why, thousands of people take two or three bottles of World's Tonic every Spring in order to purify the blood, overcome the catarrhal effects and build up the strength. You can come pretty near telling such a man by his clear eye, springy step and vim. If all you who have Spring fever would do that, this nation would be as happy as the birds in Spring."

World's Tonic is sold by Carnahan's also Brannon, Wellsville and all other good druggists. (270)

"HATTIE"

pretentious little bluff of being a man of affairs. He wasn't of course. He wasn't anything, when you came down to it. He was like so many others in the picture business, nondescript folk, family hangers-on, that cluster inevitably about the successful stars, particularly inexperienced girl stars, and live off them.

But while her thoughts ranged through this uncomfortable region Arthur, moved in a way she didn't at first understand, dropped the bluff. He spoke gently, even brokenly. He was worried.

"De Brissac has talked very freely with me, this trip, Hattie. He is a big man."

She inclined her head.

"He thinks everything in the world of you. Of course, there's no getting around the fact that he's made you."

"I know," said she, sharply for Hattie.

"He has gambled everything on this picture. What it comes down to, of course, it that he has gambled everything on you. He has pinned his whole career to his faith in you. If you were to go back on him now..."

"I haven't said I was going back on him!"

"No, but . . . well, naturally, when you run off like that with a good-looking young fellow—

"I didn't run off with him!"

"But really, Hattie—"

"I didn't run off with him! I had Hedwig with me."

"Of course, Hattie—" he was groping around for something, she wished he'd speak out—"De Brissac has had to carry this whole business. He's had to think of everything. He talked it all out with me. He's not like us, you know, usually. He's a Continental, with a Continental outlook on life, but . . ." he floundered off that course and came back a little nearer to what was in his mind . . . "well, he said right out that if The Soul gets over you'll have to have more money. He does go through with things. He recognizes that it's a peculiar sort of partnership, yours and his. He spoke of giving you a share in the profits. Said he'd fight for that in the Board of Directors. And you and I know they'll do what he tells 'em to. They'll have to. And there was another thing he said . . . I didn't quite get the drift . . . that he'd do this no matter what happened. The only condition would be that you stick with the company. Really, Hattie, I never knew a man . . ."

"I get awfully tired of the pictures sometimes."

"I know. And I know that you're just a kid, and don't appreciate the value of money. It comes so easy to you . . ." She saw now that softening about the mouth, and averted her face.

"You see, Hattie," he went on . . . She had to lean a little forward to catch every word . . . "you're not old enough or experienced enough to know what the real struggle is. You're never had to fight your heart out and then lose. Oh, I know I'm a failure—"

"Don't say that, Arthur!"

"Do you think I don't know it. I'm older than you think. I'm 41. I've had my fight with booze and—other things. I've been down and out. I've been in the gutter. Some of it before I ever knew Alice. And my health broke. Of course, you can say I've no one but myself to blame for that. I know how bad my record is. Nobody'd want me for a regular job. I couldn't go back to Elizabethport and get a single reference."

Hattie nervously shifted her position. Her head ached. She wished he'd stop.

"Don't think I haven't got this situation straight. I have. Probably I could dig up some sort of a living for Alice and Emily and myself, and the new one. But I couldn't swing the problem of Gran'ma. And there's an awful lot of unemployment still. I don't know . . ."

"I think I've got to go upstairs and lie down," said Hattie.

"All right," said he, "that's true enough, you'd better. It's no time for me to play on your feelings. Anyhow, De Brissac wants me. He's busy with publicity men, over at the office. I just wanted you to know, Hattie, that I . . ."

She smiled vaguely, and stepped into the elevator. There, after the door closed, she had to turn away so that the Italian boy wouldn't see her tears.

Named Receiver of Land Bank.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—In a general reorganization of the Kansas City Joint Stock Land bank, the farm loan board today appointed William R. Compton, of St. Louis, as receiver.

An investigation by the board disclosed the necessity for about $500,000 to meet the immediate financial demands of the bank.

U. S. Minister Howell Resigns.

LONDON, May 6.—J. Morton Howell, United States minister to Egypt, has resigned, said a dispatch from Cairo today.

You have to be an old man before you believe a fellow ought to work and save while young.—Martins Ferry Times.

Goody for Kellogg's!

No wonder kiddies love Kellogg's! It's matchless flavor and crispness! Flavor that's never been equaled!

And Kellogg's are fine for everybody. With milk or cream—and add fruits or honey. Serve them for breakfast, lunch—for the children's evening meal.

Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Oven-fresh in the inner-sealed red-and-green package. At hotels, restaurants. On dining-cars. Sold by all grocers.

"HATTIE"

pretentious little bluff of being a man of affairs. He wasn't of course. He wasn't anything, when you came down to it. He was like so many others in the picture business, nondescript folk, family hangers-on, that cluster inevitably about the successful stars, particularly inexperienced girl stars, and live off them.

But while her thoughts ranged through this uncomfortable region Arthur, moved in a way she didn't at first understand, dropped the bluff. He spoke gently, even brokenly. He was worried.

"De Brissac has talked very freely with me, this trip, Hattie. He is a big man."

She inclined her head.

"He thinks everything in the world of you. Of course, there's no getting around the fact that he's made you."

"I know," said she, sharply for Hattie.

"He has gambled everything on this picture. What it comes down to, of course, it that he has gambled everything on you. He has pinned his whole career to his faith in you. If you were to go back on him now . . ."

"I haven't said I was going back on him!"

"No, but . . . well, naturally, when you run off like that with a good-looking young fellow—

"I didn't run off with him!"

The doctor treats all Chronic Diseases and Deformities of men, women and children.

Many cases might be saved from a dangerous operation by going under the doctor's treatment.

All Diseases of Men, Women and Children Treated

Catarrh and Stomach diseases are given special attention.

If you have catarrhal trouble go and be examined. The sick and afflicted should take advantage of the opportunity here offered. Go and have it settled in your mind. If your case is curable, he will tell you so frankly; if incurable, he will give you his advice. No sick man or woman should fail to consult this specialist.

If you have Rheumatism, Nervousness, Dropsy, Swelling of the Feet or Hands, Liver Trouble, Heart Disease, Nervous Debility or any wasting disease or weakness, Sallow Complexion, Dizziness, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, Stomach or Bowel Trouble, Goitre or Epilepsy, go and let Dr. Snell see you.

Blemishes, Blood, Skin and Scalp Diseases, Piles and Ruptures successfully treated.

Ladies

who suffer from Sick Headache, Melancholia, Spinal trouble, special diseases, or having any deviations from health, caused by irregularities, weakness, or disease peculiar to women, should consult this specialist.

Ovarian or womb troubles treated without the knife. If you have been advised by any one to undergo a surgical operation for womb or ovarian difficulties, rupture or piles, do not listen to it and have your life endangered by the lance, knife or needle before consulting this specialist.

Old or Young Men

It matters not what your ailment may be, or how long standing, if your future health and happiness are at stake consult this doctor specialist.

It matters not what the ill may be; it matters not what discouraging reports may have been made from any direction, it matters not if you have been told that you are incurable. Go and consult this eminent doctor and if there is the finest thread upon which to hang a hope you will find hope there, with the treatment that will lead you to health, contentment and happiness.

SPECIAL ATTENTION given to Chemical and Microscopical examination of Blood, Urine and Sputum and all patients suffering from Nervous and Mental complications.

ROCK SPRINGS OPENS MAY 26

Management Rushes Work on Chester Park Improvements.

Formal opening of Rock Springs park, Chester, has been set for Thursday, May 26, it was announced today.

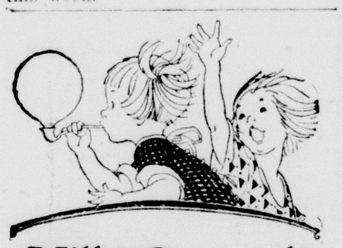
Improvements to the grounds are being rushed. Park officials are arranging for a free outdoor exhibition to take the place of Dare Devil Babcock, who was forced to cancel his engagement because of illness.

First shipment of equipment for the new $25,000 merry-go-round has arrived and is now being installed. The merry-go-round building has been repainted and presents an attractive appearance.

First cars over the new coaster ride were operated this week. The trains make the trip over the 2,500 feet of track in a little more than one minute. Two trains, each having a seating capacity of 24, will be operated.

Mrs. Jessie Ludlow, Cleveland, who for many years was the privat, secretary to State Senator L. G. Collister, has joined the park staff as secretary to Charles C. Macdonald manager. Mrs. Ludlow is a business woman of experience. She will maintain her headquarters in the park office near Virginia Gardens, the palatial ballroom.

The Melody Kings of New York, will play for the Saturday night dance this week.



Milk! Oatmeal! Sunshine!

A wonderful trinity of growth-promoters

Today children are healthier than they ever were before. For mothers everywhere are learning new facts about the real needs of the growth years.

Simpler foods—foods that provide for growth and health—these are now being urged by nutrition authorities, in place of the heavy adult meals that children used to get.

Sunlight's strengthening power is being more appreciated. And oatmeal with milk, long known to be valuable, is now considered a growth food of the first importance.

A bowl of Quick Mother's Oats with milk makes a remarkable contribution to perfect development. Not only energy and tissue-building elements—but vitamins! minerals! and bran!

For Quick Mother's Oats is a whole-grain food, rich in flavor and as naturally nourishing as sunshine.

Two kinds—the kind you have always known or Quick (cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes). Both with coupons interchangeable with Aunt Jemima coupons, redeemable for dinnerware, hand bags, clothing—many other fine premiums.

ROCK SPRINGS OPENS MAY 26

Management Rushes Work on Chester Park Improvements.

Formal opening of Rock Springs park, Chester, has been set for Thursday, May 26, it was announced today.

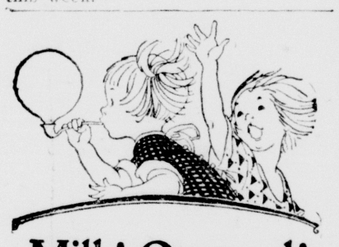
Improvements to the grounds are being rushed. Park officials are arranging for a free outdoor exhibition to take the place of Dare Devil Babcock, who was forced to cancel his engagement because of illness.

First shipment of equipment for the new $25,000 merry-go-round has arrived and is now being installed. The merry-go-round building has been repainted and presents an attractive appearance.

First cars over the new coaster ride were operated this week. The trains make the trip over the 2,500 feet of track in a little more than one minute. Two trains, each having a seating capacity of 24, will be operated.

Mrs. Jessie Ludlow, Cleveland, who for many years was the privat, secretary to State Senator L. G. Collister, has joined the park staff as secretary to Charles C. Macdonald manager. Mrs. Ludlow is a business woman of experience. She will maintain her headquarters in the park office near Virginia Gardens, the palatial ballroom.

The Melody Kings of New York, will play for the Saturday night dance this week.



Milk! Oatmeal! Sunshine!

A wonderful trinity of growth-promoters

Today children are healthier than they ever were before. For mothers everywhere are learning new facts about the real needs of the growth years.

Simpler foods—foods that provide for growth and health—these are now being urged by nutrition authorities, in place of the heavy adult meals that children used to get.

Sunlight's strengthening power is being more appreciated. And oatmeal with milk, long known to be valuable, is now considered a growth food of the first importance.

A bowl of Quick Mother's Oats with milk makes a remarkable contribution to perfect development. Not only energy and tissue-building elements—but vitamins! minerals! and bran!

For Quick Mother's Oats is a whole-grain food, rich in flavor and as naturally nourishing as sunshine.

Two kinds—the kind you have always known or Quick (cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes). Both with coupons interchangeable with Aunt Jemima coupons, redeemable for dinnerware, hand bags, clothing—many other fine premiums.

WALTER L. MAIN SHOW GROUND
REAL MINIATURE CITY ITSELF

The show grounds of the Walter L. Main circus which will exhibit on Wednesday, May 11, is a city within itself, lacking a town council and state charter. It has its own lawyer, postmaster, dentist, doctor, carpenters, detectives, painters, wagon makers, blacksmiths, laundryzien, barbers, shoemakers, tailors, sailmakers, harness makers, store keepers and photographers. It supports a great tented hotel in which thousands of meals are cooked and eaten every day in the year.

Five acres of ground are required for space in which to house the score of tents forming the Walter L. Main circus. Four gigantic oak poles form the chief support of the biggest tent. Any one of these poles would be sufficient to support the largest mast on any giant sea sailing vessel. The smallest tent is one used to house the circus barber shop.

At night the circus is transported on two special trains of double length cars and each new sun sees the circus institution in another city. In a single season the circus travels about 20,000 miles, making stops in about 200 cities and giving about 400 performances. The Walter L. Main circus has exhibited in practically every city of any size in the United States. Each year it has grown steadily better and this season it is rated as second to none of its kind.

More than six hundred people are carried with the big circus this year. The number of animals carried exceeds 400. The big tent has been enlarged and now can seat 5,000. Two great herds of elephants will be seen. The music is furnished by five bands. Prof. John Griffin and his military band of 25 soloists, furnish concerts daily at 1 and 7 p. m.

The program is featured by scores of aerialists, acrobats, equestrians, and clowns. The big show has 40 clowns, 30 aerialists, 40 equestrians, and 50 acrobats this season.

Individual stars in the circus performance are too numerous to be mentioned but special tribute may be paid to Madam Julia Rebras, interpid French artiste, who faces death twice daily in her loop the loop on a bicycle.

The Hollis riding troupe, England's champion bareback equestrians, with Pinkie Hollis, the greatest somersault rider of all times, is also another of the headliners on the program. Other features include the DeLong sisters, equilibrists of Belgium. The Brock trio, Viennese aerialists, in perilous lofty mid-air feats and executing triple somersaults from flying trapese to standing bar; Koban and Sakata, Maxwell trio, Lyle & Irma Conner, Yokio trio and Sylvester Brothers, all well known circus acts which have gained international distinction and rank at the very top of the profession.

A spectacular parade will be given at 11 a. m. Doors to the menagerie open at 1 and 7 p. m., and the performance starts at 2 and 8 p. m.

She Got Rid of Those Two Bad Mornings

Menstruation is a perfectly natural process, but the painful part is NEEDLESS. Long study has absolutely conquered menstrual pain. Science now offers women reliable and complete relief—in a simple, utterly harmless tablet called midol.

This newest achievement of the laboratory has nothing to do with drastic, habit-forming drugs that kill pain by benumbing the whole system! Midol acts directly on the organs affected by menstruation, and nowhere else. Yet relief and absolute comfort come in five to seven minutes!

So, why have a twinge of pain—feel "low" or even uncomfortable? Or take anything to depress the heart or upset the system? All drug stores have midol in a thin aluminum box that tucks in purse or pocket—for 50 cents.

RINI FACES BROOKES' FIRE

Today

When Chinese Entice.

100 Towns Flooded.

4,000 Tons of Gold.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

RUSSIAN "Reds" in China are enticing sailors of the American and British warships, seeking to make Bolsheviki of them. It is safe to say that a British or American tar will be difficult to convert to the Communist theory. He believes in getting what he can and keeping what he gets.

Besides, Chinese things do not look very real to the honest sailor man.

In London Punch a sailor on duty asked by his superior, "Has anybody passed this way?" replies, "Yes, fifty Chinks, or may be the same Chink fifty times."

One hundred cities and towns are flooded along the lower Mississippi. The total flood damage amounts to two thousand million dollars. Less than half that money, combined with brains and engineering skill, would have made this flood impossible.

The best engineers in the United States, including the experts of the army, men such as those that put hundred feet of the richest soil, de-Lesseps and France had failed, should map out a plan, and the country should supply the money to carry it out.

Fortunately, the great city of New Orleans is undoubtedly safe. Colonel Ewing, editor of the New Orleans States, quoting General Jadwin, an experienced engineer, says that as far as the city is concerned all danger is past.

Those that realize the importance of soil fertility will be interested in Colonel Ewing's casual remark that men digging for artesian wells in lower Louisiana, went through fifteen hundred feet of the richest soil, deposited by the great river, a soil far richer and deeper than that of Egypt.

Senator Capper in his interesting weekly tells you that "the biggest pile of pure gold in the world is under a little square building in Wall Street in New York City, 4,000 tons of the yellow metal in bars like bricks. Each weighs 20 pounds and is worth $6,000."

That building holds 4,000 tons, eight hundred thousand pounds, of solid gold.

There is one comfort for New York City, in case we never do have an air fleet, and in case a real air fleet should ever visit the city. There will be enough money to load a ship and pay the price to save our biggest city from destruction.

Concerning Lloyd George's prediction that China would emerge from the present agitation and take her place in the world as "a giant Japan," take notice that Tankow, attacked by its enemies, is already asking the

COUNCIL ADOPTS BAN ON FIREWORKS

Mayor's Salary Reduction Plan Approved By 5 to 2 Vote at Hectic Session

Legislation for Improvement of Fourth and East Second Streets and Orchard Grove Avenue Authorized.

Protests Filed Against Obstruction Ordinance, While One Solon Turns Guns on Water Works Clerk.

Ordinance providing for a "safe and sane" observance of Fourth of July was enacted on third reading by a vote of 5 to 2, last night, at a hectic session of city council. Solons Hughes and Goodballet voted in opposition, while the measure was supported by Members Farrall, Kommel, Hayes, Kelly and Poole.

Mayor Approves Ordinance.

The legislation, which Mayor Benedum said he would approve, prohibits the sale and discharge of fireworks within the city limits.

Opponents of the plan hinted a referendum vote will be asked.

Question of reducing the mayor's salary was reviewed in an ordinance calling for $1,200 a year, introduced by N. P. Kerr, president of council. The proposal was passed on first reading by a vote of 5 to 2, but when a motion to suspend the rules failed by a like vote the economy measure went over to the next session. Hughes and Kommel cast the dissenting votes.

President Kerr, in placing the measure before council, said that while he believed in economy he was of the opinion that the amount of $600 set in the initiative proposal to be presented to the voters in November was too much of a cut. Farrell declared that he voted for a like measure two years ago and would cast his vote for the ordinance.

Goodballet's Charge.

Solon Goodballet tossed a bombshell into the meeting shortly before adjournment, when he launched an attack upon Water Works Clerk Frank Robinson, charging the latter had acted discourteously to a resident of Monaca street who visited his office to lodge a complaint about water service. Closing his talk, he declared that "the clerk should keep out of the business of council" and intimated that he (Robinson) had strong influence with the board of control. His remarks brought Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore to his feet with a prompt denial that Robinson had ever attempted to control the action of the board. The discussion was exciting for a few minutes, with other solons taking little part in it.

Attorney Ben L. Bennett, representing the West End Civic association, urged council to take steps to reduce the assessments of property holders in West Eighth street which was recently improved. He said that in the improvement of St. Clair avenue part of the assessment had been borne by general taxation, and declared that West Eighth street was one of the most heavily traveled streets.

Property owners, supporting his

Miss Olive Ikirt And Her Classes Council Visitors

Boys of the American history and Civic classes of the high school, who will graduate this year, "looked in" at the meeting of city council in municipal court headquarters, last evening.

President of Council N. P. Kerr welcomed the students, who were accompanied by Miss Olive Ikirt, their teacher.

Girls of the class will be guests at the next council meeting.

GRAY LEAVES STAND IN LOVE CRIME TRIAL

Salesman Led Back to Death Chamber of Art Editor.

FAILS TO BREAK

Relentless Cross-examination Under Way in Snyder Trial.

BY JAMES L. KILGALLEN.

COURTHOUSE, LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y., April 6.—"The Defendant Gray" rested his case at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the trial of Henry Judd Gray and Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder, jointly accused of the brutal murder of the woman's husband, Albert Snyder, an art editor.

COURTHOUSE, LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y., May 6.—Henry Judd Gray, self-confessed slayer, left the witness stand at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon after having been on the witness stand for sixteen hours and twenty minutes, ten hours' direct examination and six hours and twenty minutes cross-examination.

During that time he told one of the most remarkable stories ever recited at a murder trial. He not only admitted that he struck Albert Snyder, art editor, over the head and killed him while he lay asleep in his home, but he swore that Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder, who is jointly accused with him of the murder, also took up the bludgeon and helped him execute the ghastly crime.

Cross-examination of Gray failed to

U. S. Scores First Victory in Tennis Matches in Berlin

BERLIN, May 6.—The United States scored the first victory in the German-American tennis matches here today.

Francis Hunter defeated Dr. Heinz Landmann, the German star who defeated Vincent Richards and Howard Kinsey last year, by a score of 6-2, 6-1, 9-7.

DARING FRENCH AIRMAN FORCED TO LAND IN SEA, FRIENDS FEAR

Ten Hours Overdue on His Flight to Pernambuco.

DEFIED PARIS

May Have Been Picked Up by Tramp Steamer.

PERNAMBUCO, May 6.—All hopes that Captain St. Roman, French trans-Atlantic flier, is still in the air have been abandoned here.

The only hopes held out for the safety of the flier are that he has been picked up by a tramp steamer or that he made a forced landing on the African coast, in some deserted spot. The latter hope is very slight, however, as St. Roman reported that he was still flying at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, some eight hours after his start.

Flew Without Floats.

RIO JANEIRO, May 6.—Grave fears are felt here that Captain St. Roman, daring French aviator, has lost his life in an attempt to fly across the Atlantic.

Captain St. Roman has not been heard from since he left St. Louis, Senegal, early yesterday morning. He was due in Pernambuco at midnight last night and is already more than ten hours overdue.

The French aviator flew without floats on his aeroplane, defying the orders of his government and taking the flight on his own responsibility.

Aviation experts here believe that the aviator, if forced down, could not have kept afloat for very long without floats and the chances of his being picked up by some passing boat are slight.

Fourteen Ships Comb Waters.

There is a possibility that St. Roman may have been in difficulties and may have sought out some steamer before landing. It is possible that he is now on board some small tramp steamer without powerful wireless. It is recalled that Harry Hawker was many days aboard a tramp steamer before his safety was announced.

Fourteen ships on the route between Pernambuco and Africa, which St. Roman planned to follow, have been queried by radio and none of them has sighted St. Roman.

Radio stations have sent out continual calls for news of St. Roman, but without any responses.

"GOOSE" GOSLIN SERIOUSLY ILL

PITTSBURGH, May 6.—"Goose" Goslin, slugging outfielder of the Washington Senators, was taken off a train here early this morning and removed to Mercy hospital in an ambulance.

Goslin suffered an attack of pleurisy several days ago and has been out of the line-up. He felt well enough to start the western trip with the team, but suffered a relapse last night on the train. His condition was considered so serious he was taken off. Coach Jack Onslow of the Washington club accompanied him.

DAHLIA SOCIETY MEETS TONIGHT

Meeting of the East Liverpool Dahlia society will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms in the Little building at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Flood Relief Fund Hits $7,813,908 Mark

Red Cross Contributions Increase as Raging Mississippi Pounds Against Last Barrier on Way to Gulf.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Contributions to the American Red Cross for the relief of flood sufferers in the Mississippi valley this morning passed the three-quarters mark in the race for the $10,000,000 total set by President Coolidge.

Red Cross headquarters announced a total of $7,813,908 received up until 10 o'clock, of which $5,029,470 came from eastern states, $1,924,000 from mid-western states and $748,967 from the Pacific coast. Insular and foreign contributions totalled $11,471.

Army Engineers on Job.

VICKSBURG, Miss., May 6.—Spreading destruction with ever increasing fury, the flood waters of the Mississippi pounded today against the last barrier obstructing their path to the Gulf.

Hoping against hope that further levee breaks might be avoided, army engineers and relief directors watching the rush of the northern Louisiana flood into the wedge of dikes at the confluence of the Mississippi and Red rivers maintained a constant vigil for the [illegible] which would unleash the inland [illegible] covering the northeast quarter of the state into the nine remaining parishes in the Atchafalaya valley between the Red river and the sea.

More than 1,500 square miles in Avoyelles, Rapides and St. Landry parishes have been evacuated in anticipation of a break in the bayou Des Glaises levee near Hamburg.

A second break is threatened in the same bayou at Big Ben, also in Avoyelles parish, and a third in the Red river protecting wall around Echo, in Rapides parish. Twelve hundred men who have fought the flood from the tops of the Big Bend dikes for more than a week redoubled their efforts today [illegible] the waters from three Mississippi [illegible] passes north of Natchez [illegible] with the flood from the Arkansas in Tensas and Catahoula parishes.

Three East End Cases in Court; One Man Fined

Lee Wyke, East End, was fined $5 and costs by Municipal Judge Hanley this morning after he was found guilty upon a charge of disorderly conduct by using profane language. He was arrested upon information of Charles Kaufman, Mulberry street furniture dealer, who was represented by Attorney Ben L. Bennett.

Paul Moore, East End, has signed affidavits for the arrest of John W. Stacey, Sr., and John W. Stacey, Jr., charging them with threatening him. They will probably be given a hearing tomorrow morning.

Information has also been preferred by David Quarterman asking that Howard Rhodes, Ohio avenue, be placed under a peace warrant.

Midland Motorist Held for Inquiry in Hook Boy's Death

Michael Brozic, 21, Midland motorist, was held for the Beaver county grand jury, under $1,500 bond, by Justice of the Peace David Stewart, Beaver, last evening, after he entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of involuntary manslaughter in connection with the death of 10-year-old David Hook, Industry Heights, last Sunday evening, when struck by an automobile.

Brozic's father furnished the bond.

St. Clair Avenue Section Will be Closed Tomorrow

St. Clair avenue, from Youngs alley to North street, will be closed to all traffic excepting street cars, starting tomorrow, Service-Safety Director John W. Moore announced today. Traffic will be detoured over Avondale street.

Contractor George B. Patterson, Wellsville, started work today on the resurfacing of the street from Youngs alley to the north line of the J. T. Croxall property. The improvement will be completed within a month.

ONE MAN DEAD, TWO ARE HELD IN KIDNAPING

Abducted Victims are Released by New York Police.

SUSPECT SHOT

Alleged Slain Kidnaper Believed Member of Chicago Gang.

NEW YORK, May 6.—With one alleged kidnaper dead and two others under arrest, Abraham Scharlin and James H. Taylor, the kidnaped victims, were released mysteriously today.

Scharlin and Taylor were immediately brought to police headquarters to identify Charles Kraemer and David Bernan, the two men arrested after their alleged comrade, Joseph Marcus, was shot and killed by a policeman.

Marcus was said by police to have been a member of a Chicago kidnaping gang and it is believed that the present kidnaping plot may show connections with recent kidnapings in the mid-western city.

Teachers Honor Edward Harries at Closing Session

Last meeting of the East Liverpool Teachers' Association during the present school term was held in the assembly room of the Central school, last evening, when Edward Harries was elected president. Other officers include; vice-president, Miss Adeline Blake; recording secretary, Miss Helen Allison; corresponding secretary, Miss Anna Welch; treasurer, Miss Edith Shaw.

Next meeting of the association, to be held September 15, will take the form of a reception for new teachers. The following committee was named to arrange for this affair: H. D. Rist, Miss Lena Howard, Mrs. John Goodwin, Miss Grace Smurthwaite and I. A. Hoffman.

Prisoner on Hunger Strike.

CLEVELAND, May 6.—Held in jail on a suspicious person charge, John Green, 28, Cleveland, has been on a hunger strike for over a week. He is growing weak and has been placed under the care of a physician.

POINTS FINGER OF SUSPICION AT WOMAN IN ANANIA DEATH

Co-defendant Reiterates Denial of Part in Tragedy.

QUOTES MARIE

Defense Hints Possibility of Suicide Instead of Crime.

Reiterating his denial of any responsibility for the tragedy and seemingly pointing the finger of suspicion toward the woman, in the event a crime had been committed, Salvatore Rini, 22, of East Liverpool, on trial with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Marie Chorgas, 28, of Minneapolis, for second degree murder in the death of Pasquale Anania, 25, underwent cross-examination at Lisbon today.

Refers to Chorgas Woman.

Rini, who took the stand yesterday afternoon in his own defense, was called for a new ordeal at 9:30 o'clock this morning by Prosecutor Robert M. Brookes, who began an attack on the co-defendant's story.

Additional testimony in Rini-Chorgas case on pages 3, 15 and 16.

During his cross-examination, Rini repeatedly used the phrases, "She did this," "Marie told me this," and "Marie told me that."

He denied the Chorgas' woman's story, given when she, as a state witness, testified that Anania, in a dying declaration said, "Sal did it."

Other Defense Witnesses.

The defense hinted the possibility of suicide on the part of Anania, when Dr. A. J. Michaels, the physician who was summoned to attend the victim of the tragedy, was called during the forenoon. Dr. Michaels, testified that the wound in Anania's heart would have caused death within two minutes.

Other defense witnesses who testified before the noon recess were Mrs. Bess Johnson, of East Liverpool; Miss Gladys Nicholson, of Canton; Eileen Bartley, of East Liverpool. The Nicholson and Bartley girls occupied an apartment in the Euclid hotel building.

Whether or not a Saturday session of court will be held had not been determined by Judge W. F. Lones early this afternoon.

Rini also denied Mrs. Chorgas' statement that he had threatened her if she "squawked." He declared that Patsy Anania had taken the broken bladed butcher knife from a restaurant.

Witnesses Heard Noise.

Defense counsel objected to the question, "Are you the Bess referred to in the letter from Sal to Patsy?" when Mrs. Bess Allison Johnson was recalled to the stand after Rini was excused. The object was sustained by the court and the woman was then excused.

Miss Gladys Nicolson, who formerly occupied an apartment at the Euclid hotel, testified that she heard a noise in the bathroom of the Rini rooms at 9:30 on the night of March 22. She said that she saw Parsons take a glass of water to the fath room.

Miss Eileen Bartley was the last witness called before the noon recess. She also testified concerning the noise in the adjoining apartment.

REVIEW-TRIBUNE PICNIC FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN OF THREE STATES WILL BE HELD AT ROCK SPRINGS PARK, JUNE 1, 2 and 3

Public and parochial school children of East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester, Newell, Toronto and other towns in the tri-state district will be guests of the management of Rock Springs park, Chester, at the Review-Tribune's annual school pupils' outing on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, June 1, 2 and 3.

The board of education, meeting in the high school building last evening, accepted the invitation of C. C. Macdonald lessee of the park, for the three-day affair.

As the result of arrangements made by the Revied-Tribune and the park management, free transportation will by the Review-Tribune and the park Prior to the closing of the schools, children will be given identification tickets which will entitle them to street car transportation. Amusement tickets will be furnished upon their arrival at the resort. The schools will be divided as evenly as possible so that some of the children will attend on the first day, another group on the second day and the remainder on the last day.

Amusement tickets will be accepted on 11 riding devices and other attractions at the Chester play ground. Additional workers will be on duty during the three days to assist in handling more than 15,000 children, who are expected to visit the park.

School pupils will be given a half holiday next Wednesday when the Walter L. Main circus exhibits at Patterson Field, the board ordered. They will be dismissed in time for the street parade in the morning and will not be required to report for the afternoon session.

Mrs. Harriet Anderson and Miss Myrtle McElroy, elementary teachers, were granted permission to conduct a kindergarten school in the Lincoln building, from May 31 to July 1, inclusive. Rev. A. E. Walker, pastor of the Emmanuel Chapel, was also given permission to use the Maplewood building for a Daily Vacation Bible school to be conducted for five weeks this summer.

Application of the East Liverpool Teachers' association for a change in the board's regulations, increasing the period allowed with pay for sickness or professional visiting from five to seven days, was also received. The board deferred action on the request.

The state was asked to send a representative to inspect the Horace Mann school with a view toward providing two more rooms in the building by using space now utilized for halls and corridors. The two additional rooms, it was said, would relieve the congestion in East End buildings.

Emmett J. Gaston, clerk-treasurer of the board, reported a balance of $56,282.24 in school funds on May 2.

The board also discussed proposed repairs to school buildings. Because of the lack of funds many of these improvements must be delayed until next year.

Another meeting of the board will be held next Thursday evening when the building and grounds committee will submit an estimate of the cost of the proposed improvements.

ACCUSED MAN TELLS SORDID STORY TO JURY

Declares Sister-in-law Advised Him of Ania's Wound.

ASSAILS WOMAN

Swears he and Victim of Tragedy Were Good Friends.

Salvatore Rini, 22, of East Liverpool, testifying in his own defense in common pleas court, Lisbon, yesterday afternoon, made a point blank denial of any responsibility for the death of Pasquale (Patsy) Anania, 25, of Wellsville, for the alleged murder of whom he and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Marie Chorgas, 28, of Minneapolis, are on trial.

Declaring that he and Anania were good friends, he swore that he had no knowledge of the manner in which Patsy was stabbed in the heart until his sister-in-law said, "Sal, look what Patsy has done!"

Rini testified this statement was made by Mrs. Chorgas when she stepped to the door of his bedroom, after he had returned from a trip uptown to obtain eggs and meat for the evening meal on March 22, the night of Anania's death.

Denies Chorgas Woman's Story.

He entered a general denial of the story told by his sister-in-law in her direct examination and cross-examination Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning, when she repeated Anania's purported deathbead declaration, 'Sal did it!"

Rini told a sordid story on the witness stand, charging alleged intimate relations between Anania and Mrs. Chorgas, who, waiving her exemption as a co-defendant, had testified for the state against him. Portions of the testimony were revolting.

Women and young girls predominated in the large crowd, including the entire senior class of the Salineville High school, which occupied every inch if space in the courtroom while Rini was on the stand.

No Motive Shown.

No motive for the death of Anania, which the defense claims was the result of an accident when the man was cutting meat with a large knife, has been revealed so far. However, during the cross-examination of state witnesses the defense has attempted to bring out that jealousy entered into the tragedy.

Rini admitted he went to a drug store, purchased peroxide, iodine and adhesive tape, with which he later bound the knife wound in Anania's heart, and then summoned a physician, Dr. A. J. Michaels. The physician, who found Anania dead, notified the police.

Rini was under direct examination by Attorney W. A. O'Grady from 1:10 to 4:50 o'clock, during which three brief recesses were ordered. His cross-examination, started late yesterday, was resumed this morning.

Rini on Stand.

Guy Saponara was the first defense witness, and he was followed by his brother, Thomas. Both testified Rini was at their home, 1301 Center street, on March 22.

Rini was the next called. He said in his boyhood he attended the Methodist Episcopel Sunday school at Wellsville, that he had learned the cobbler trade, and later he became a barber by trade. He said he had also worked at the Pennsylvania railroad shops at Wellsville, and also at the plant of the American Sheet and Tin Plate company, Wellsville.

At this juncture O'Grady made a motion that Felix Anania, uncle of the slain youth, who was sitting at the side of Prosecutor Brookes, be excluded from the courtroom. The motion was overruled for the reason that Felix Anania had already testified, and therefore, had a right to remain in court. The state also requested his presence for the purpose of consultation throughout the trial.

Rini explained that he was married, that his wife was a sister of Mrs. Chorgas, and that her maiden name was Mary Wallen, a sister of Roy Wallen, who was convicted of the murder of Rodney Ogle on Feb. 6, last.

Met Mrs. Chorgas in Minneapolis.

He said that he had known Patsy Anania at least five years, and the only work he knew Patsy to have done was to be "a dealer in a card game" and a "bootlegger." He testified that Patsy had been a card dealer in Wellsville and also in games at Steubenville, and that he had worked "off and on during the last two or three years."

"The last I knew him to work was hauling whisky in a machine," Rini testified under direct examination.

He went on to relate that he had met Mrs. Chorgas at Minneapolis in January, that he was married then, and that he was on his way to the coast and had stopped there with a friend and rented a room in the building in which Mrs. Chorgas and her husband resided.

"Patsy was my closest associate for two years," he said. "We never had any cross words. Patsy was always jolly, and we were out together every day. We went out with the girls, and we came to the Wallen trial with them."

Rini then referred to visits he made to the O'Donnell house in Sixth street and in Fourth street, East Liverpool, where Mrs. Chorgas and her sister were living during the Wallen trial.

'Drank Every Night," He Says.

He testified that he and Patsy called on Mrs. Chorgas and her sister every day when they lived at East Liverpool during the Wallen trial and "that we drank about every night" and "we furnished the liquor."

"Patsy furnish any?" Mr. O'Grady queried.

"He did."

"Patsy and Marie out in an auto?"

"They were."

"How frequently?"

"They came to Lisbon with a suit of clothes for her brother."

"Whose Fourth street house they lived in?"

"Don't know who owns it."

"Why did you leave?"

"Too much noise, arguments, noise and drinking."

"Mrs. Chorgas do any drinking?"

"She did."

The witness after a request described the rooms occupied in the rear of the Euclid hotel.

"You and Patsy ever have any words?"

"Patsy and I never had any words, nor with Marie."

"She get any money from her husband?"

'Got $200 once and $15 at another time."

"Patsy take any knives there?"

"Yes, to the Fourth street apartment and to the Euclid apartment"

"Patsy carry any knives?"

"Yes, I saw them."

"Ever see that knife?" he was asked as counsel held a broken kitchen knife before the witness.

"Never saw the broken off knife, but I did see one about two and one-half inches longer.

Claims Patsy Hit Marie.

"Who had the knife you described?"

"Patsy Anania. He had it to cut meat and other stuff. It was used every day to cut something."

"This the same knife Patsy had that you saw Marie use?"

"Same knife in the kitchen."

"What kept Marie at East Liverpool?" Objected to by Brookes and objection sustained.

"Why didn't she go home with her mother?"

"Said she was old enough to take care of herself."

"When did she say she was going home?"

"Said she was going to leave next night, March 21."

"She have any trouble with Patsy on Sunday?"

"Had an argument with Patsy."

"You present?"

"Yes."

"Heard conversation?"

"I did."

"What was done between them?"

"Nothing then."

"What next?"

"We all went to sleep."

"That Sunday night did Patsy burn a cork and rub it on Marie's face?"

"Yes, and she got angry. There was a scuffle. Marie was angry."

"How did Marie get an injury to her wrist?"

"Monday night—Patsy hit her on the neck or shoulder."

"Marks on Patsy?"

"I didn't see them wrestle."

"See marks on Patsy's body?"

Claims Marie Threatened Patsy.

"That Monday night I saw a red ring-like mark, it looked like teeth marks."

"Now on Sunday night what did you do?"

"Sunday night we all went to bed."

"Any drinking in the apartment Monday night?"

"Drank it all up before we went to bed."

"What you see Patsy do?"

"Patsy went up street with me. We went to ask Ralph Anania for the use of his car to take Marie to Salem so she could take her train for home. Marie had her grips packed, but she didn't go Monday night. Patsy asked her to stay and we went back to the apartment."

"Before that what time did you go back to the apartment?"

"I came back at 5:55 o'clock by Bess Johnson's watch."

"Why was Mrs. Johnson there?"

"Patsy wanted to talk with her."

"Marie threaten Patsy?"

"Yes."

Girl's Wrist Cut Monday Night.

"What occurred between them, Marie and Patsy, Sunday night?"

"Nothing."

"What did you hear said later?"

"Nothing."

"Marie come to you?"

"She did not."

"When did you leave the Euclid apartment, Monday?"

"Who left with you?"

"Patsy and Mrs. Johnson. We went to Wellsville in Ralph Anania's Buick."

"How often was Ralph Anania's car at the Euclid apartment?"

"Frequently."

"What did you do in Wellsville?"

"Drove to Riverside avenue between Third and Fourth street. I sent a telegram for Marie, then went to my home, 1411 Center street, got my overcoat and returned to East Liverpool."

"When you came back what did you observe?"

"Marie and Patsy had a half-pint, but there was only about an ounce in the bottle."

"What night was Marie's wrist cut?"

"Monday night."

"What occurred on Sunday night?"

"He put the burnt cord on her face."

"When did you leave Monday night?"

"Before midnight."

Denies He Had Knife.

The court ordered a recess at this part of the testimony.

"When you left the Chorgas apartment Monday night where did you go?"

"To the American pool room in East Liverpool."

"What did you go there for?"

"To ask Ralph Anania to take me home to Wellsville."

"Ever have any trouble with the Anania family?"

Radio Mergers

This is another era of business mergers, and the best field for them just at present seems to be the radio field.

Everybody knows there are too many stations in the country for their own good, or the public good. They interfere a great deal with each other, because of the duplication and closeness of wave-lengths used, making them less effective and less popular than they might be. They also provide too much competition for the good of the industry. Many a city has two or more stations struggling along with inferior programs, low power and high cost, when by combination the programs might be improved, better equipment installed, the public better pleased and more profit on the investment. Incidentally it would economize the wave-band and make more room in the crowded ether.

This procedure, recommended by Chairman Bullard of the federal radio commission, does not mean necessarily the elimination of known broadcasting stations, but merely the elimination of duplicated plants. He points out that it is a simple and business-like thing to consolidate the mechanical plants while preserving the call letters by which the different stations are known, letting them send out their individual programs from one station, and dividing their time.

This is done already in several American communities, and may become the usual thing before long, to the benefit alike of the industry and the public.

Frenzied Athletics

"Your fellows go at their games much more intensely than we do," remarks an English athletic star attending an American track meet.

"Perhaps that accounts for the fact," he adds, "that so many of your American college stars 'burn out' after brief competitive careers. They put all they have into three or four years of keen action.

"In England we take track and field sports less seriously; we do not train so sharply, either. One of my leading rivals in the hurdles, for instance, is a man 32 years old, getting better at an age when nearly all of your Americans have retired from competition."

Sane words! We need a little of such sanity sprinkled over American amateur athletics, no matter from what quarter—and England, with its sane love of outdoor sport, is a good quarter for it.

Not only are our college and high school athletes often "burned out" by the strain of intense training and competition, so that they are of little value to themselves and society in their maturity, but the craze for athletic championships is burning out a large part of the scholarship and culture of our educational institutions.

As for the general run of boys and girls who need to have their bodies built up by a rational system of mild, wholesome exercise in their formative years, they are not getting it. The physical development of those who need it most is sacrificed for the over-development of the exceptional ones who do not need it.

High schools and colleges become institutions of competitive sport rather than mental training, and the majority do not even share in the sport except in the form of artificial enthusiasm that burns up their nervous energy and warps their judgment of real values.

Cheaters Cheated

The world never lack proof of human gullibility and greed. Recently the New York Better Business Bureau has exposed nine concerns whose "business" has been to sell to small tradesmen fictitious protection from officials charged with the enforcement of municipal ordinances.

There was enough demand for such hoped-for protection to create quite a thriving business. That the people who paid good money to these concerns were duped probably served them right. They were trying to evade reasonable ordinances concerning the community's welfare, such as fire, health and building regulations. They were trying to enjoy a little small-scale graft, completely failing to realize either their duty to the community as a whole or their own best good.

A Kind Little Negro Town

Among the heart-touching stories coming out of the flood region is the news of the heroism of the little town of Mound Bayou, Miss. The 1,600 inhabitants of that community are all negroes, excepting only the railroad station master.

Mound Bayou, having escaped flood waters itself, has been the haven of more than a thousand refugees—almost as many as the town's own population. The natives of the little town have taken care of all the flood sufferers who have come to it for help. When the only local physician died, two weeks ago, the Red Cross sent in two colored physicians. All other services have been provided by Mound Bayou citizens at their own expense.

Heroism and service are not confined to the white race.

Anybody who thinks people are being too much standardized should pick out a dozen people who live in the same kind of houses and drive the same kind of cars and wear the same kind of clothes, and get them to talking politics.

Don't save daylight. Use it.

My Favorite Stories
By IRVIN S. COBB

AN APPEAL TO ONE'S BETTER SELF.

The late Tom O'Connor of San Francisco, who at the time of his sudden death a few years ago was one of the most brilliant young criminal lawyers on the Pacific coast, assured me that this story was of actual occurrence.

A venerable gentleman was elected county judge up in an interior county of northern California on the strength of the fact that he had a kind and gentle disposition and despite the fact that he knew very little about the law.

He had been on the bench only a few weeks when a crime which stirred the entire community was committed. A Mexican youth fell out with his aged mother and father. So he took an ax and while they slept he chopped both his parents up into bits.

He was captured red-handed and confessed and at once was brought before the new county judge to be held for the grand jury. The attorney for the state described the double murder in detail and then, according to formula, asked that the prisoner be committed to jail without bail.

Through the recital His Honor had been uttering little distressed clucking sounds. But now it dawned upon him that he was expected to say something.

He fixed his eyes upon the callous face of the defendant and in a gently reproachful tone spoke as follows:

"Now, look here, son you know you ain't been acting right!"

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, May 6.—Thoughts while strolling: What's become of crash suits? The old Savoy's hedged tea porch is gone. Durland, the ridding academy man. Who is to close his academy. Wondon why you never see a blonde violin virtuoso?

The octogenarian who wears a plush white hat. And smokes gold tipped cigarettes. Fifth Avenue has a $150-a-bob hair bobber. Gamins rolling dice on a cathedral steps. A young girl in a smock carrying a hunting gun. Alan Dale in a taxicab. The cactus plants in florists' windows. A breath of the wild west for cubicle flat dwellers. A lady in furs carries a fan. One cop to another: "I seen three robins today." A lip stick display in a dog shop window. Sheepish firemen putting out a rubbish can blaze.

A shop emblazons: "Ultraish and chic." Tea rooms with Italian villa stucco fronts. And a "Dine-in-a Minute" sandwich shop. New apartment house warns: "Radios barred." And a manicure parlor heralds: "Gertrude Lawrence patronizes us."

Bottles of prepared cocktails—just add the gin. Blades who strap their wrist watches palmward. A dog washing parlor. Those homes where carpets are stretched to the automobile. Monogrammed packets of matches. Old fashioned bed quilts at $500.

The aloofness of the Ritz Tower doormen. Soda jerkers in gold braided coats and pink tambourine caps. A huge building filled with dentists. And you never hear a yelp. From haughty magnificence into a furnished room district.

Women with rag-rapped heads as though in perpetual headache. Soiled window curtains. Soiled white dogs and chattering parrots. Worn steps with foot scrapers. Bowls of gold fish. Rugs aired from up stairs windows. The cry of a scissors grinder.

When a New York taxi driver is untipped he calls himself "skunked." A driver tells me not more than half his fares tip. "The watch the meter," he says, "have the correct change, hand it to you and rush across the sidewalk as though they had stolen something."

The taxi driver, incidentally, is the best paid of all people who expect a gratuity. And in majority of cases, the most insolent. Self respecting drivers who regard their work as selling cab service are conscious of this and there is a movement now to weed out the undesirable or make them change their ways. Taxicab companies have lost thousands of dollars because of drivers' insulting attitude toward pedestrians. Many who can afford taxicabs will not use them. They employ private cars even for short hauls.

Those hideaways behind grilled doors in the Fifties are a striking display of prohibition mockery. Only the extremely elect are permitted and they must not come in groups or in automobiles. They must drop in singly or in pairs as though visiting a private home. Here seasonable food is served, cocktails are shaken at the table. Wine comes in frosted silver buckets. There is every cordial known—from brandy in wide flanged glasses to thimblefuls of Cointreau. Absinthe drips are dipped on lumps of sugar in the standardized New Orleans dripper. But there is one rule that is rigidly observed. One may drink what he pleases but if he ever shows his liquor he can never come again.

One of those hotel-lobby Don Juans was tapped on the shoulder the other morning by a house detective, "What's the idea?" he remonstrated. "You're just too damn purty," was the bored reply.

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Colonial Flags.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 6.—The approach of Flag Day, with sesquicentennial honors to be accorded this year to Old Glory, arouses interest in the flags that were used in this country in colonial times, and their number was legion. George M. Cohan, the well-known dramatist and producer, discovered a quarter of a century ago that modern Americans are a flag-waving people and he turned that discovery to good account in numerous stage successes. Had his predecessors in stage affairs been of an inquiring mind they might have profited from the discovery that Americans have been strong for flags ever since they earned title to their name by stepping foot on this continent.

First they made much of the flags of their mother countries—England, France, Spain and Holland—and then they decided to have flags of their own. Soon there was a multiplicity of colonial flags of different designs containing a great variety of devices. Not only did the respective colonies have their distinctive emblems, but military organizations had their special banners and even counties and boroughs had their own standards.

Perhaps the earlies flag of more than local significance was that known which dates back to 1686. Out of respect to King James it was white quartered by a wide red cross, on the center of which appeared the initials J. R. —— James Rex — with a gold crown above.

Forty years later the New England colonies were using another flag, which had a blue field with a red cross quartering a white canton, or union, with, in its first quartering, a globe symbolizing the New World. This is said to have been the first use of red, white, and blue as a flag of union in the colonies, and the banner is classed as the inspiration of the committee that designed the Cambridge or Grand Union flag, which was the immediate predecessor of the Stars and Stripes.

Ben Franklin's Flags.

Benjamin Franklin, whose versatility seemingly knew no bounds, was a member of the committee that created the Grand Union flag in 1775, but almost thirty years earlier than that he had his first experience in flag-making. In his Autobiography he tells that in 1747, when England was at war with Spain and attacked also by France, he saw the need of colonial preparation for war and assisted in the organization of military companies in the English colonies and in their equipment.

He says that he saw to it that "they furnished themselves as soon as they could with arms, formed themselves into companies and regiments, chose their own exercises and other parts of military discipline. The women, by subscription among themselves, provided 20 silk colors (banners or flags) which they presented to the companies, painted with different devices and mottoes, which I supplied."

These twenty Franklin flags are exceedingly interesting. They presented a wide variety of emblems and every one bore a motto that was intended to express the sentiments of the men over whom it waved or to inspire them with patriotic fervor. One bore the figure of a crouching lion with the motto, "Rouse Me If You Dare!" Another presented the figure of a placid elephant with the mottor,

WALTER L. MAIN CIRCUS TO HAVE NOTED ARRAY OF FORTY CLOWNS

One of the greatest arrays of clowns ever carried on tour by an American circus is found with the Walter L. Main Circus this year. There are forty of the funny fellows-count 'em, forty and their latest laugh provoking creations are guaranteed to bring forth the keenest merriment of the year. These clowns are all guaranteed laugh-getters and many have been seen with the greatest amusement organizations to be found in Europe.

The role of clown is no easy one. The modern clown is a paradox. He is the same as in the days of the celebrated Dan Rice, back in the past century, and yet he is a different clown. The explanation? Well in this way—he is the same in that he paints his face in vermillion and white and adheres to the time-honored ridiculous pattern in his dress, he is different because of the fact that his work of today is practically all pantomine and he never reverts to the old habit of clowns of former days who almost exclusively made up his act of recitations, songs, and jokes.

The change in the clown's method of work is the logical result of shifting conditions in the circus world. In other days, when one ring sufficed, the tent was necessarily small, a fact which permitted the clown to be heard distinctly everywhere under the canvas. At that time one act was quite enough for such a limited audience. And the clown being obliged to contribute his share on the program, happily hit upon the pleasing and successful idea of singing, joking and reciting.

Harry La Pearl.

Nowadays all is changed. Tents have been enlarged to care for many additional rings and are of huge proportions. It is impossible for the clown's voice to be heard from every point and so naturally he has to act entirely in pantomine, or "dumb acting." There are forty clowns with the Walter L. Main Circus who from the greatest collection of this sort ever seen here. The international favorite, Harry La Pearl, heads the list, and among the foremost in his support are Fred Leslie, Chick Reed, Lou Hershey, Harry Loy, Rube Dyer, Eddie Palmer, George St. John, Al DeArman, and Jimmy Jackson.

The Walter L. Main Circus will be seen here on Wednesday, May 11.

The Street Parade will be given at 11 a. m., and doors open to the immense menagerie at 1 and 7 p. m., with the performances starting at 2 and 8 p. m.

HOOSIERS WILL SPEND FORTUNE FOR HIGHWAYS

Nine Millions to be Invested in Concrete.

Will Pay for Big Program Out of Gasoline Taxes.

INDIANAPOLIS.—With the paving season barely started, Indiana is planning to lay approximately $9,000,000 worth of concrete on her state highways this year, besides starting preliminary work on a $3,000,000 bridge over the Ohio at Evansville, John D. Williams, director of the state highway commission, says.

Although the expenditure has been planned, the state will not go in debt for the construction of its roads, Williams said. The state gasoline tax and automobile licenses will pay for the construction work, the director said.

Under the Indiana laws, the state cannot issue bonds for any purpose. But these are unnecessary, Williams said.

Enviable Position.

The Highway Commission Director showed that Indiana holds an enviable position among other states in hard surfaced roads. This state has more maintained mileage under the federal 7 per cent system than any other in the Union, Williams said.

Williams expressed a belief that Indiana would construct more concrete roads this year than any of the states surrounding it. Several of the neighbors, Williams said, are out of fduns for construction work, although some are making plans to lay more mileage than Indiana.

The director said the Indiana commission has a hang over from last year, of 35 miles, contracted for, but unpaved. So far this year contracts have been let for the construction of 150 miles more, and bids will be asked for the construction of 150 miles additional before the end of the summer.

$3,000,000 Bridge.

Besides this work, the commission is making arrangements to start building the $3,000,000 bridge over the Ohio river at Evansville.

The last legislature made provisions whereby the state commission could undertake the work.

Although the work will be done by Indiana, and paid for by the state, Vanderburg county, in which Evansville is located, will be assessed one-fourth of the cost. Kentucky will be asked to share the other fourth of the expenses, leaving the state to bear one-half of the total cost.

Construction of the bridge at Evansville is expected to open up a large territory in the western part of Kentucky.

WATER POWER BILL VETOED

Measure Passed on Last Day of Legislature Disapproved.

Governor Howard M. Gore last night vetoed house bill No. 500, concerning water power legislation and senate bill No. 294, embodying recommendations of the legislative committee which investigated the state workmen's compensation law.

The governor indicated it was his purpose to promptly resubmit the water power bill to the consideration of the legislature in order that it may have an opportunity to consider the difficulties that are, to his mind, contained in the bill.

This will enable the legislature to protect with certainty the interests of the state of West Virginia in conserving its hydro-electric power for use within the state, he said. No great delay will be occasioned by the disapproval of the bill, due to the fact that the legislature will be again in session in 30 days, when they can take up and further consider this matter, it was pointed out.

The governor expressed regret that he believed it his duty to disapprove this legislation in the form that it now is, but because of the grave doubts as to the form in which these protections are expressed, he was impressed with the fact that the wise course was to give the legislature an opportunity to pass upon the suggestions made with respect thereto.

The fact that this bill was not finally enacted until the last night of the legislature deprived him of an opportunity to point out the objections to the bill in order if the legislature concurred they might recall the bill and make such changes as appeared to them to be wise and needful, it was stated.

Referring to the compensation bill, the governor said that while it contained many commendable features, one section of it so materially changes the operation of the law that he could not assent to it.

"I understand the theory and purpose of workmen's compensation laws are to eliminate insofar as possible the litigation of claims resulting from personal injuries. This section in effect destroys this commendable feature of the law and gives to the employer a right to litigate every award made by the commissioner without affording a like privilege to the employe," the governor said.

"It is apparent that if this section became the law of the state, the supreme court of appeals could be clogged with litigation growing out of the workmen's compensation act and that the administration as well as the beneficial results to employed and employe flowing from the act would result in much confusion and delay. I, therefore, disapprove the bill."

LAD IS PLACED ON PROBATION

When arraigned before Judge Baker Wednesday for sentence, Russell Cunningham, a 13-year-old boy of near Chester, was placed on probation by the court. The boy pleaded guilty Wednesday to a charge of breaking into a private rural mail box and stealing a letter.

The Cunningham boy was ordered by the court to attend Sunday school each Sunday, attend the public school regularly and write twice a year to the court. He was placed in the care of Justice of the Peace A. G. Allison of Chester.

Congressman Carl G. Bachman was appointed Wednesday to represent the boy. He advised the court that the boy be placed on probation, declaring he did not think a sentence to a reformatory would do him good.

To Attend Services.

Members of the Odd Fellows and Rebekah lodges will attend services Sunday morning in the First Christian church. Appropriate sermon will be delivered by Rev. A. E. Sims.

LEAGUE SEASON OPENS TOMORROW

Large crowd is expected the opening game of the Industrial league season here tomorrow afternoon between Superior Cord Tires and Wellsville.

CAPACITY CROWD AT CLASS PLAY

Capacity crowd witnessed the initial performance of "Amazon Isle" presented last night in the Lincoln theatre under the auspices of the Senior class of the Chester high school.

Members of the cast showed to advantage. Specialties were introduced between acts. The production was staged under the direction of Miss Helen V. Lewis.

The performance will be repeated tonight.

CERAMIC BOOKS NOVEL MOVIE

"The Man They Could Not Hang" Coming Monday.

A novelty combining both film and stage presentation is "The Man They Could Not Hang," coming to the Ceramic theatre on Monday for a three-day run. The story of John Lee, convicted slayer of his aged mistress, who, protesting his innocence was led to the scaffold which three times refused to act and Lee's consequent escape from death is told vocally in Scenic Operatic Prologue, orally by the well known Broadway favorite, W. Leonard Howe so long with "Doug" Fairbanks, who relates the marvelous manner of Lee's triple escape as well as pictorially. The special music carried by the company is a feature of the show as is Miss Boreen Thompson, Canadian lyric soprano who sings the music incidental to the picture.

The company carries special vaudeville and a full program of comics, etc.

Governor Signs Game Bills; Adds One to Veto List

COLUMBUS, O., May 6.—Two bills, enacted at the present session of the Ohio legislature, yesterday received Governor Vic Donahey's approving signature. These measures are: The Emory-McRitchie bill, protecting game, and the Davidson bill, protecting fish.

The Emory-McRitchie bill reduces the open season on squirrel and pheasant and limits the rabbit catch to five. The Davidson bill limits the possession of minnows by one person, except dealers, to 100.

The governor also signed the Laybourne bill, legalizing sale of church property without a court order, and the Herbert bill, authorizing police departments to sell unclaimed automobiles after 90 days.

He vetoed the Hodson-Loughead bill, authorizing appointment of county dog-wardens and deputies to "seize and impound on sight all dogs," is on record today. The governor recided there is "no need" for such officials.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our appreciation to all our friends and neighbors, Rev. Duncan and Singers, for their kindness to us during our sorrow in the loss of our infant son, Fred, Jr. We also thank those who sent the many floral offerings and those who gave the use of their cars.

THE GRAB BAG

May 6, 1927.

Here is a photo of Miss Anne Nichols as she appeared at the beginning of a stage success of which she is author. What is the play?

Today marks the anniversary of the last day of the Battle of the Wilderness. In what war was this famous battle fought?

Name a word meaning to fasten or to join, as by tying knots.

The earth, like most of the other planets, is very nearly a perfect sphere. Can you give its diameter in miles?

Rhode Island with an area of 1,248 square miles is the smallest state in the union. Can you name the second smallest state?

"The truth shall make you free." Where does this passage appear in the Bible?

Today's Horoscope.

Women born on this date are inclined to dislike everything pertaining to housework, and should carefully consider this before marrying any man who cannot afford to have the heaviest of the drudgery done for them.

Snappy Saying.

Speaking of questions and answers—who ran for vice president on the Democratic ticket last election?

Answers to Foregoing Questions.

1. "Abie's Irish Rose."
2. The Civil war.
3. To knit.
4. 7,926 miles.
5. Delaware.
6. John, VIII, 32.

Dinner Stories.

A negro stoker was crossing the Atlantic for the first time. One day when he came up on deck to get a breath of fresh air, he looked out over the broad expanse of water, with no object whatever in sight, and said in disgruntled tones, "Shucks! We is right whar we was dis time yistaday."

His Error!

He: "Who is that handsome boy with the cropped head?" She: "That's my cousin Betty." "And the blonde man with the monocle?" "That's my younger sister Lu." Laughing, but embarrassed, "So I suppose the other young man in the dinner jacket is your elder sister?" "No, that's my grandmother!"

Un-natural History.

"These are our goldfish," said one small boy to another. "Do you have goldfish?"

"No, my mother only buys sardines."

Conclusive Evidence.

Dudley—What makes you think that your wife got your money?

Jenkins—Well, I'm not sure about it, but I reached in my pants pocket this morning and instead of finding my bank roll I found a thimble.

Cleveland School Girl's Abbreviated Stockings Get O. K.

CLEVELAND, May 6.—Gertrude Bates, 8, will attend school wearing abbreviated stockings, as usual.

When the little girl was sent home by her teacher with others "to cover her knees," the matter was taken up with the superintenednt and the director of health work in the schools. Each declared no such order had been handed down from his office. The director of health work, Dr. L. W. Childs, said he was in favor of "bare knees."

"The more body surface exposed to the wind and sun, the better," said Dr. Childs. "Children should get all the sunlight possible through the skin. It helps to build bone."

We, the SERVICE STORES of Chester, are glad to announce this as the first of a series of advertisements to the housewives of Chester, pointing out the special advantages to be obtained by dealing with members of the SERVICE STORES.

Our business is established in this community. We are citizens of Chester, proud of her achievements and hopeful for the future. You know us individually. You know that our prosperity depends upon fair and honest dealing with you.

For the sake of a small temporary gain, we cannot jeopardize our future. We will not sacrifice the great good will you hold toward us for temporary profit.

When you deal with us, you are assured fair dealing, good merchandise, prompt and courteous service.

We buy our goods from local wholesalers. All our social and business interests are definitely tied to Chester. If we prosper our prosperity is reflected in this community.

Every dollar we spend for our "daily bread" is spent in Chester. Not one penny of our profit is divided among those who live in other cities and have no other interests in our community than to "reap and sow elsewhere."

We hope in this series of advertisements appearing each Friday evening, to point out to you, the Chester housewives, the advantages of dealing with us.

Ours is in no sense an argument of charity. It is not even one of civic pride, but is based solely on sound business principles of a dollar's worth for a dollar, and service worthy of the name.

E. LIVERPOOL RESIDENT HELD FOR $300 FINE

Elmer Pritchard Goes to Jail After Rum Seizure.

SECOND ARREST

Carlos Gilbert Assessed $100 and Costs by Acting Mayor.

Charged with possession of intoxicating liquor, Elmer Pritchard, who lives at Stop 61 along the Y. & O. railroad, north of East Liverpool, was arrested yesterday, shortly before noon by State Prohibition Inspector G. A. Baynham and his squad, working out of Wellsville.

The raiders, it is said, obtained a quantity of alleged whisky and beer, which was taken to the city hall in Wellsville.

Pritchard was given a hearing before Acting Mayor Clyde Baker last night. He pleaded guilty and was fined $300 and costs.

Pending arrangements to pay he has been committed to jail.

Carlos Gilbert, of Second street, was arrested last night on an affidavit signed by Chief of Police John Fultz, charging possession. A small quantity of liquor, it is said, was found in a jug at Gilbert's place.

He was fined $100 and costs and made arrangements to pay.

W. Fagan, of Wellsville, arrested on a charge of intoxication, was fined $5 and costs.

Charged with reckless driving, C. M. Bailey, driver for a Kaufman company truck, Pittsburgh, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Chief of Police John Fultz. He was fined $10 and costs and made arrangements to pay.

PLAN MOTHERS DAY PROGRAMS

Services are Arranged at Christian Church.

Mother's day will be observed with appropriate programs Sunday morning and evening in the First Christian church, according to announcement today by Rev. L. E. Lee, pastor.

Special recognition will be advanced all mothers present and a gift of flowers will be made to the oldest mother. The church asks that everyone attending bring his or her mother.

Rev. Lee will deliver an appropriate sermon at the morning services when honors will be paid to all mothers present.

The Girls' Glee club, under the direction of Mrs. L. E. Lee, will present a program of music and readings in the evening at 7:30 o'clock, the program being constructed around the Mother's Day theme. Rev. L. E. Lee will give a 30-minute talk. "Two Types of Womanhood" will be his theme.

Any mother who has no way to go to church Sunday morning will be provided with transportation through John Ralston or Rev. Lee.

Stay of Execution Granted in Arson Case.

RUBIN BUYS BIG BUILDING

Report $850,000 Involved in Pittsburgh Deal.

The Keenan building, an 18-story office structure at the northwest corner of Liberty Avenue and Seventh street, Pittsburgh has been sold for the City Real Estate Holdings company to S. W. Rubin, of the Wellsville Iron & Metal company, brokers. The transfer of the property will be completed on or before June 1, for a private consideration.

The building is on a lot 60x80 feet, directly across Seventh street from the Clark office building and the Stanley-Clark theatre, Avey & Irish and Walter H. Coyle, of John A. Sharp's office, were the brokers.

The Keenan building was built in 1903 and 1904, by Colonel Thomas Keenan who managed the property until its sale to the City Real Estate Holdings company early in the war, this company being composed of a number of local investors. For many years, the building attracted attention by reason of the big ball on the dome. This ball was removed by the Holdings company.

Except to make announcement that a sale of the property had been negotiated, there was no further official information as to its sale price. Unofficial discussions yesterday placed a value around $850,000 on the property, and there were those who said that another property had figured in the negotiations as part consideration.

GIRL INJURED IN CAR CRASH

Miss Grace Polsley Hurt in Cleveland Accident.

Miss Grace Polsley, of Cleveland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Polsley, 1522 Commerce street, is confined to her home in the Fifth city as a result of injuries sustained Tuesday morning in a street car collision, according to word received here.

Mrs. Polsley, the girl's mother, left for Cleveland this morning.

According to information received by Mrs. Polsley, her daughter sustained torn ligaments in her back and was bruised to some extent in the collision. Her injuries, however, are not said to be serious.

Miss Polsley has been employed for sometime in the C. & P. railroad division accountant's office.

GOV. DONAHEY CHARGES "POLITICAL BUCK-PASSING"

Alleges Legislature is Derelict in Its Duty.

REVENUE NEEDED

Executive Expected to Sign Franchise Tax Bill.

COLUMBUS, O., May 6.—Charging the Ohio legislature with "political buck-passing" and with being "derelict in its constitutional duty in failing to provide necessary revenues," Governor Vic Donahey today vetoed the bill, by Senator Earl R. Lewis, Belmont county, which sought to require the governor to issue orders to state departments, offices and institutions which would "prevent their expenditures and obligations from exceeding revenue receipts and balances."

Vigorous Objections to Bill.

Governor Donahey registered vigorous objections to the following provisions of the Lewis' bill:

"On, or before, the tenth day of each month, the department of finance shall furnish to the governor statements in such form as he may require, showing the condition of each fund and appropriation account, to enable the governor to exercise and maintain effective supervision and control over the expenditures of the state.

"If, at any time, the governor ascertains that the available revenue receipts and balances for the current fiscal year will, in all probability, be less than the appropriations for the year, he shall issue such orders to the respective departments, offices, and institutions as will prevent their expenditures and incurred obligations from exceeding the said revenue receipts and balances."

Referring to the first paragraph cited, the governor said:

"The governor now has ample authority to secure, at any time, reports from the directors of finance and this paragraph adds not one whit to his powers in this respect.

"The second paragraph, I can only deem a meaningless and manifestly insincere attempt at political buck-passing.

"Three-fourths of the expenditures of the state are for the care and treatment of wards of the state in charitable, correctional and penal institutions to whom the state owes its first duty, for education and for highways.

"No act of mine as governor will deprive the helpless wards of the state of the best care that can be given them. Neither would I be expected to cripple educational facilities for the youth of our state nor to let our system of highways go to pieces.

Indications today were that the governor will attach his approving signature to the Aigler bill increasing the corporation franchise tax, and the Kumbler bill, boosting the state excise tax levied upon certain public utilities.

The governor has until next Tuesday midnight to act upon these two measures, appropriation bills and the Norton bill, recodifying the Ohio's highway laws.

May Veto Norton Bill.

Unless the legislature, after it reconvenes here Monday, makes certain changes in the Norton bill, so as to eliminate provisions objected to by Donahey, the governor will veto the bill, it was stated.

Appropriation measures now being considered by the governor include the Williamson bill, appropriating about $53,000,000 for state governmental expenditures during the 18-month fiscal period ending Dec. 31, 1928.

The governor indicated that his pruning of items in the Williamson bill will be relatively small in the aggregate, because of his belief that heavy cutting with the veto axe would not be consistent with his policy of carrying forward the state's educational, highway and welfare programs.

Although insisting that it is up to state legislature to determine how funds are to be raised with which to wipe out the approximate $20,000,000 deficit, which State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy estimated may exist in the state's general revenue fund Dec. 31, 1928, Governor Donahey voiced his approval of the suggestion that the solons provide for a temporary cigarette tax, an amusement tax and a mortgage recording tax, provided "the bills are properly drawn."

Gray Leaves Stand

break down any of the essential points of his story. He stoutly maintained, that Mrs. Snyder also struck a blow, not only to Mrs. Snyder's lawyer, the fiery Dana Wallace, but also when cross-examined by District Attorney Richard S. Newcombe. In fact, at one stage of his cross-examination he stood dramatically in the witness box and, taking the sashweight in his two hands, demonstrated how he brought it down on Snyder's head.

Throughout his long cross-examination Gray was a polite, gentlemanly witness, saying in effect "yes, I did it, sir, and I'll tell you all about it." He gave his dreadful picture of the crime from the stand late Wednesday and no subsequent questioning could force him to change it. It was his story and he stuck to it.

There was on indication on Gray's part when he stepped off the stand that he was glad the ordeal was over. He walked quietly to his chair at counsel table and sat down.

TODAY

European Powers to come to its assistance.

The Chinese were civilized, using the compass and shooting off firecrackers, a thousand years before any proud Nordic could count to one hundred.

But they are philosophical, peaceful, indifferent. They often attack and retreat laughing. This does not mean weakness; it means a peaceable character. You'll make a "giant Japan" out of China when you make a genuine game cock out of a Leghorn rooster.

Joseph Pulitzer would be glad to know that an annual prize established by him has been awarded for work done by Don R. Mellett, editor of the Canton Daily News.

Mellett is dead, murdered by those whose graft, gambling, bootlegging and general rascality he persistently exposed.

If there is a place in heaven for editors, and if Mellett has met Pulitzer, they will get on well. Not everybody could do that with Joseph Pulitzer. He was a fighter, had something to say, and when he said it there was no mistaking his meaning.

That's why he succeeded, and from an immigrant without a dollar, but with good brain and education, became a great power in this country.

Flood Fund Soars

One Crevasse 1,500 Feet Wide.

The Milliken Bend crevasse, 20 miles north of Vicksburg, is now more than 1,500 feet wide. Reports from Hard Times, 20 miles south of here, said that the St. Joseph lake spillway had grown to 1,200 feet. Waters rushing through these breaks upon Madison and Tensas parishes added to the havoc by the overflow from the Tensas and Oachita rivers. Should the Red river levees hold, and thus divert the entire northern Louisiana flood into the Mississippi chanel again, the danger point would lie at Angolia, La., on the east bank of the river, just below the Mississippi state boundary, where an old levee has been in grave danger since Saturday. With the fate of the southern half of the state in the balance, Secretaries Hoover and Davis arrived here today to set in motion the machinery which is ultimately to restore more than 150,000 refugees in Mississippi and Louisiana to their farms and homes.

Governor Dennis Murphree arrived from Jackson last night to confer with the cabinet officers and Major General Edgar Jadwin, chief of army engineers, before they boarded the steamer Control at 11 o'clock for Baton Rouge where thew will discuss relief and rehabilitation plans with former Governor John M. Parker of Louisiana, federal relief director in that state. From Baton Rouge, the party will proceed to New Orleans.

Reports of Typhoid Fever.

Reports of typhoid fever in two Mississippi concentrations camps were received at Red Cross headquarters here today. Although the sick list from the fifteen camps caring for more than 60,000 refugees carried only 262 names, the early development of the dreaded typhoid in two centers called for emphatic orders to all camp directors to take drastic steps to avoid danger of epidemic.

Returning to Mississippi and Louisiane after an absence of less than a week, Secretary Hoover received reports today of the millions of additional acres flooded in the interim, of tens of thousands added to the nomadic armies of refugees and of uncounted millions piled upon the staggering total of property loss.

With property damage now estimated at approximately $225,000,000, L. O. Crosby, relief dictator for Mississippi, has prepared tabulations distributing $170,000,000 of the total to Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana, the three principal sufferers.

153,000 Flood Refugees.

Supporting Crosby's assertions of almost complete devastation throughout large sections of the state Adjutant General Green presented to the cabinet members a list of Mississippi relief camps which are caring for some 70,000 refugees, as follows:

Vicksburg, 17,000; Greenville, 8,000; Yazoo City, 7,000; Glen Allen, 7,000; Hollandale, 5,500; Leleand, 3,000; Deezon, 2,700; Cleveland, 2,600; Anguilla, 2,500; Indianapola, 2,500; Belzoni, 2,000; Shaw, 2,000; Natchez, 1,400; Rolling Form, 1,000; Greenwood, 500.

Arkansas camps have slightly more than 83,000 flood exiles on their registries, Red Cross reports to the cabinet officers revealed.

Last reports from Adjutant General Toombs indicated more than 40,000 in Louisiana camps, with the bulk of those from the most recently inundated parishes still enroute to the larger concentration points. Rescue work and transportation of supplies throughout the entire area between Memphis and New Orleans was speeded up today by the operation of a complete net work of naval radio communications.

Use of Another's Auto Sends Man to State Reformatory

Joseph Sever, resident of New Brighton, Pa., formerly of Alliance, indicted by the April grand jury for operating a motor vehicle without the consent of the owner, was sentenced to serve from one to 20 years in the Mansfield reformatory by Common Pleas Judge W. F. Lones at Lisbon yesterday.

Sever entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned about two weeks ago. During a recess in the Rini-Chorgas murder trial yesterday afternoon he was brought before Judge Lones where he changed his plea to guilty. He was represented by Attorney De Vere Grappy, Leetonia.

Mothers' Day candy special packages at Carnahan's Drug Stores.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, May 6.—A brisk advance in prices of a few of the market specialties, investment buying of the better grade of dividend stocks and further moderate rallies in the independent oil stocks were the features of the early trading in the stock market today. The railroad stocks were active and firm, with good buying of the standard dividend shares.

Not much significance was attached to the decline in the reserve ratio of the New York reserve bank from 86.3 to 81-7 per cent of resources, or in the ratio of the reserves of the whole system to resources of from 79.5 to 78 per cent. The financing operations of the U. S. treasury department were taken care of in that period, and dislocation of funds rather than their permanent use elsewhere, is indicated by the report.

United States Steel sold above 169 in an active movement, while General Motors was well bought around 197. Mack Trucks pushed upward to above 117 in its aggressive movement. International Mercantile Marine preferred was bid up strongly to 47½ on reports of "recapitulation" in a form to liquidate accumulate ddividends on the stock. Union Bag and Paper advanced sharply for a new four-point gain. Strength in the oils was due largely to short covering, news from the industry indicating no relief whatever from the huge over-production of crude.

Call money rates were unchanged at 4 per cent. Cotton advanced sharply in the early trading, prices advancing about a dollar a bale. Grain prices were fractionally higher in New York and Chicago, and the general commodity price lists were firm.

DEATH ROLL

Adams Funeral Services.

Funeral services for Mrs Anna V Adams, widow of M. A. Adams, will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the home of her son, John T. Adams, 838 Fairview street, in charge of Rev. B. R. Johnson, pastor of the First Church of Christ. Burial will be made in Woodlawn cemetery, Salineville.

Friends may view the body tomorrow, night.

Mrs. Eldorada Cowen.

Mrs. Eldorado Alice Cowen, 79 years old, wife of James C. Cowen, died late yesterday in her home, 730 Oak stret.

Besides her husband, she is survived by a niece, Mary Alice Carey, of this city.

Funeral services will be held in the home at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, in charge of Rev. Frank G. Fowler, D. D., pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Burial will be made in Spring Grove cemetery.

Solons Ban Fireworks

views, told council that already the street is showing signs of wear and complained regarding material used on the job. One speaker termed the patent process a "frost," and charged that the company had re-surfaced a street in Lisbon at a lower cost despite the fact that material had been hauled from this city. The matter was referred to the claims committee for adjustment.

R. B. Stevenson presented a petition signed by 65 per cent of the property holders, asking for the resurfacing of West Ninth street. The proposal carried the endorsement of the West Side Civic league. Question of material to be used was debated. The petition was referred back to the sponsors owing to the fact that it was not accompanied by waiver rights.

It developed during the discussion that members of the Civic league had suggested the possibility of merging the office of mayor and service-safety director and making the combined salary $3,500 annually.

Merchants Protest.

Attorney R. G. Thompson presented a petition signed by merchants in the Diamond and other sections, asking repeal of the ordinance dealing with removal of obstruction from sidewalks. He explained that the measure was not necessary, as the state law gives the service director the right to act.

He stressed the provisions of the legislation now on the books and said that it applied to all obstructions, including show cases in front of business houses. Declaring that it would impose a hardship upon business men, he urged the solons to reconsider their action. A motion prevailed that action on repeal be deferred for two weeks pending an investigation by the street committee.

Later in the meeting Attorney Thompson spoke on the condition of Tanyard Run under West Eighth street. He proposed that a culvert be built for a distance of probably 120 feet at a cost estimated between $3,000 and $5,000, of which $1,500 would be paid by the Litten Motor Sales company operating a filling station on the bank of the run. This matter was also referred to the street committee.

Harker Company's Protest.

Members of the ordinance committee were instructed to prepare the necessary legislation for the asphaltic resurfacing of East and West Fourth street from Broadway to Monroe; paving and grading of Orchard Grove avenue to Smithfield street nad improvement of the stretch of road running from East Second street to Broadway, former site of the old Conant building. Solicitor Frank Hoover replying to a question of assessments on the latter project ruled that the Pennsylvania Railroad company would be subject to assessment for improvement.

Resolution was passed under suspension of rules, providing for adjustment of special assessments levied against several East End properties. Like action was taken on a resolution to appropriate property for the opening of Dresden avenue.

Communication was read from the Harker Pottery company in which attention was called to dangerous condition of the hill overlooking their plant and urging removal of the reservoir ato ynother location. The letter signed by W. W. Harker, pointed out that the company had protested against the building of the present reservoir. The communication was ordered received and filed.

Vote Against Crook Alley Parking.

Motion to take from the table a resolution for the purchase of a new fire chassis and light cars for the chief of police and fire department was defeated by a vote of 5 to 2.

Petition was read from R. E. Hoopes, owner of Fisher park, in which he outlined proposed street improvements. It was received and filed.

Legislation for installing a sanitary sewer in Black Oak alley was authorized to be drawn up for presentation at the next meeting.

Solicitor Hoover ruled that the joint petition asking for the sewering and grading of Erie street was legal. The point was raised that separate petitions should have been filed.

Resolution prohibiting the parking of vehicles in Crook alley was taken from the table and passed on first reading by a vote of 5 to 2. Hayes and Farrall voted in the negative. Motion to suspend the rules was defeated by the same vote.

Defer Street Car Track Removal.

Complaint registered by property holders of Edgewood avenue in regard to sewer assessments was referred to the claims committee.

Action was deferred for two weeks upon the matter of removing the street car tracks in Union street between Second and Third street. Letter was read from officials of the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company suggesting that the matter be held in abeyance until such time as it was definitely established whether or not the Pennsylvania Railroad company would resume excursions to Rock Springs park.

Councilman Kelly, reporting for the franchise committee, said he expected to hold a meeting with officials of the traction company within the next week relative to the extension of the Grandview division franchise.

Solon Farrall reported that a special committee appointed at a recent meeting met with trustees of the City hospital and had been permitted to inquire into the financial condition of the institution. He said that they had been extended every courtesy and were well satisfied with the operations of the hospital. He stated that any expense involving the treatment of firemen or policemen at the institution would be paid by the state industrial commission from money paid into the fund by the county.

Service-Safety Director Moore informed the solons that the question of water overflowing into Chestnut street and the possible flooding of the run in Virginia avenue would be given prompt attention by his department.

Engineer Flay Clapsaddle submitted maps of the city, including the recently annexed territory. Council will fix the ward boundary lines at the next meeting. It was announced that one additional election precinct would be added by the election board in the Second ward.

Saturday Session Of Snyder-Gray Trial is Planned

COURT HOUSE, LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y., May 6. — Justice Townsend Scudder announced today that a Saturday session of the Snyder-Gray murder trial will be held for the purpose of speeding the case up. It had not been the custom to hold sessions on Saturday.

SATURDAY FLAG DAY IN CITY

Grand Army Men Seek Memorial Day Fund.

Plans have been completed for the "Flag Day" sale to be conducted here tomorrow under the auspices of General Lyon Post No. 44, Grand Army of the Republic, to raise funds to defray the costs of the Memorial Day observance.

The sale will be conducted by members of the Sons of Veterans' auxiliary, the Ladies of the G. A. R., Women's Relief Corps and others. Mrs. Susan Howard will have charge of headquarters which will be maintained in the lobby of the Little building in the Diamond.

If sufficient funds are obtained wreaths will be purchased for grave decorating purposes this year. Heretofore auxiliary members of the G. A. R. have made wreaths from laurel each year.

BUCKEYE CLUB'S HOME IS OPENED

About 70 members attended the formal opening for the summer season of the Buckeye club, located along the Lincon highway and Y. & O. railroad, in Madison township last evening.

Dinner was served by the club caterers at 6 o'clock.

The WOLVERINES are coming!

North of the last frontier, north of the white man, you'll find him on the go—the wolverine.

Fearless, amazingly strong, the wolverine pushes his way across uncounted leagues of wilderness woods—a king of his domain by right of his ability to go where he pleases, to take what he wants when he wants it.

Nowhere in the woods is there an animal so strong for his size, so tireless in his travelings.

He gives his name now to something new in the smaller car field, a car that is thoroughly American in design and construction, a car made for Americans and for American conditions.

This new automobile is small enough for easy handling and for low operating cost, but no power nor brawn nor beauty were sacrificed in making it small. It is fast—fast on the getaway, fast on the open road, and quick to stop.

It is the Wolverine—strongest of its size.

Miss Jean Leonard And Paul Wiegand Announce Wedding

Announcement was made today of the marriage of Miss Jean A. Leonard, daughter of Mrs. Mary Leonard, of First avenue, East End, and Paul Wiegand, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Wiegand of St. Clair avenue. The ceremony took place Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the parsonage of the Presbyterian church of New Cumberland, with Rev. Mr. Banfield officiating. Mrs. Mary Leonard was the attendant.

Previous to her marriage the bride was employed at the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles pottery. The bridegroom is a contractor.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiegand are spending their honeymoon in Washington, D. C. After May 15, they will reside temporarily with the bride's mother.

Correctly Hatted? You SHOULD be with a smart looking coat or suit. The Little Hat Shoppe, 2nd floor Little Bldg.

Melody Kings Play For Saturday Dance At Rock Springs

The Melody Kings of New York will play for the Saturday night dance at Virginia Gardens, Rock Springs park's palatial ball room.

This orchestra, which has just taken the road after a year's run at Coney Island, was to have appeared here Wednesday, but the dance was cancelled.

Vaudeville hits and melody selections will be featured.

Aloha Club Entertained.

Mrs. H. D. Parsons entertained the members of the Aloha club last evening in her home on St. Clair avenue. Music and five hundred were pastimes. Trophies were awarded Mesdames Frank Green and Minta Campbell.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. W. L. Moore, covers being arranged for 12.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Elmer Eppley in Virginia avenue, Chester.

House of David Band to Appear At Meyers Lake

The House of David Band, direct from their colony at Benton Harbor, Mich., will make their third appearance at Moonlight Ballroom, at Meyers Lake Park, Canton, next week.

Successful engagements were filled by this organization at the park dance hall during February and March, and owing to the demands from park patrons the management signed the band for another week's engagement.

These long haired sheiks of jazz declare the bobbed hair mode is not a product of the present generation, as many suppose, but it dates back hundreds upon hundreds of years ago before the Christian era. "Chick" Bell, comedian for the band, who in an unguarded moment confided that his right name is Clarence, is the long haired record breaker for the band.

Off-stage and at work on the farms and in the shops in The House of David Colony the boys keep their hair braided down their back. They intimated that their long, flowing locks might be the answer to the reason why they didn't have a football team at the colony.

Seton Hill Junior Prom Patrons.

Dr. and Mrs. F. R. Harrison of East Liverpool are patrons of the Seton Hill College Junior Prom which will be held tonight in the college refectory. Their daughters, Misses Claire Harrison and Betty Harrison, are students there.

During the grand march program favors, leather picture frames bearing the college seal, will be distributed. The decoration will be in spring colors but severe and simple in design to harmonize with the Lombard-Gothic architecture of the hall.

Miss Mary Lister, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lister, of East Liverpool is chairlady of the finance committee. Two hundred and fifty couples will attend.

Mrs. Robert H. Perry Hostess.

Mrs. Robert H. Perry entertained the members of her bridge club last evening at her home in Vine street. The affair was in the form of a 6 diversion. Trophies were awarded for 12 guests. The table was decorated with spring flowers and a color scheme of blue and white.

Progressive bridge was after-dinner diversions. Trophies were awarded Mrs. Donald Gass, Charles Craig and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Ferguson.

IN MEMORIAM.

In memory of our only daughter, Anna Mae Richards, who died one year ago today at the age of 5 months and 4 days.

Alone in our home we sit today
And think of our darling that's gone away.
Gone to dwell with the God of Love
Our darling baby is safe above.
Dearest Anna Mae how we miss you
You were sunshine in our home
Which has grown oh, so lonely
Since God called you for His own.
Sadly missed by Father and Mother.
MR. AND MRS. GEORGE RICHARDS.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Elsworth Ours who died one year ago today, May 6, 1926.

Just a thought of sweet remembrance
Just a memory fond and true
Just a token of affection
And our heart aches still for you
Jus ta sigh of olden moments
Just a sigh a love anew
Just a tear in silence falling
And a yearning just for you.
Tonight the stars are gleaming upon a lonely grave
There sleepeth without dreaming one we loved but could not save
All is sad within our dwelling
Lonely are our hearts today
For the one who smiled to cheer us
Has forever passed away.
More and more each day we miss you
Friends may think the wound is healed
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within our hearts concealed.
Sadly missed by wife and daughter,
MRS. ROSE OURS AND HELEN.

Four-month Report Made by Deputy J. S. Hilbert.

4,352 ON LIST

Car Owners Requested to Call for Bills of Sale.

Receipts from sale of automobile licenses by James S. Hilbert, deputy commissioner of motor vehicles, from the George H. Owen & Company agency here, for the four-month period ending April 30, totalled $30,087.71, it was announced today.

The commissioner issued 4,352 sets of plates. Of this number 3,761 were for pleasure cars, bringing in $16,841; 486 for trucks, netting $11,820.60; 84 pleasure commercial cars, $898.78; ten motor cycles, adding $25; five trailers for which $36.15 was collected and six side cars, netting $9.

In addition, 265 transfers also have been made, which added $370.10. Fourteen duplicate tags, bringing in $14, and five duplicate certificates at $1 each were also issued.

Automobile owners, who left their bills of sale with the license commissioner, for certification with the clerk of courts, are requested to call for them at the Owen & Company office. These bills of sale must be preserved as licenses cannot be issued until they are presented.

Six City League Clubs Face Barrier For 1927 Pennant Race

Unfurling of Title Flag Big Feature of Newell's Home Game Opener

W. E. Wells to Toss Out First Ball at Clash Between Laughlin, 1926 Champs, and Turk Nash; Wellsville at Chester; American Billiards, K. T. K. Tangle at Columbian Park.

City Industrial Baseball League players will heed the umpire's "Play Ball" call on three different district diamonds tomorrow afternoon as the 1927 campaign officially gets under way, with games billed for Columbian Park, Chester and Newell.

All clubs of the organization, rejuvenated by the off-season rest and the addition of numerous new players, will go into action, with the feature ceremonies of the afternoon scheduled at Newell where the Homer Laughlin club will unfurl the championship pennant, won in 1926 in the final series with Chester, prior to their opener with Turk Nash.

Wellsville, piolted by Roy Nicholson, old time local star, will debut against the Chester Superior Cords at Smith Field and the American Billiards with Ed McVeigh in command, will battle K. T. K. at Columbian park.

This latter contest, originally billed for Klondyke, was transferred to Columbian park because the former field lacks a few days' labor to be in proper condition for entertaining the clubs and spectators.

A street parade, led by the Ceramic City band will preface the three baseball battles. Players of the six clubs, resplendent in new uniforms, will assemble at 1 o'clock on Fourth street between the Carnegie Library and the Central school building. The procession will move east to Broadway, then north to Sixth, west to Jefferson and then to Fifth.

Laughlin and Turk-Nash will leave the ranks at this point and head westward for Newell. Chester and Wellsville later will head toward Smith Field and the American Billards and K. T. K. will proceed to the East End. All three games, at the conclusion of the preliminary proceedings will begin at 3:30 o'clock. All will go nine innings.

The band will continue with the Turk-Nash-Laughlin clubs to Newell where before and between innings they will dispense music for players and spectators.

The Motors and the Laughlins will hold their customary practice drills first. This will be followed by a parade of teams, Laughlin plant officials and the band to the flag pole, recently erected, near the new school lot. Following the ceremonies, the scene of action will shift back to the diamond. W. E. Wells, secretary-treasurer of the Homer Laughlin plants, will toss out the first ball and Justice John Mylar will receive it.

One row of seats will be reserved for the Laughlin plant officials, including W. E. Wells, J. M. Wells, W. E. Wells, Jr., Dr. A. V. Bleininger and others.

The Newell seating capacity has been increased almost three times as a result of the installation of new bleachers and they will probably be occupied tomorrow afternoon. Dugouts have been constructed for both the home and visiting clubs and later on it is possible that dressing quarters will be erected near the diamond.

The middle garden has been leveled to the car tracks alongside by the Homer Laughlin company. The new field will be a decided boon to the new W. E. Wells high school next and succeeding falls. It is now nearing completion.

The batteries for the three opening contests will likely be as follows, according to the various managers:

Chester—"Curley" Evans or Zorzie and Potts or Vanaman; Wellsville—Kestner and McCort.

Turk-Nash — Deshler or Fife and Schneidmiller or Maley; Laughlin—Digman or Burris and Renaldi.

K. T. K.—Jackson and Hunselman; American Billiards — Thomas or Church and Crystle or Stoddard.

Plans have been completed by the City league finance committee to obtain funds needed to carry the organization through the season. The fund campaign will be launched within a few days.

MANY NEW FACES IN CITY LOOP AS TEAMS OPEN PENNANT CHASE

A number of new players have been added to league clubs and other changes have taken place during the off-season. Bill Mundy will manage the Turk Nash club as a result of the trade which sent Dewey Morgan, Talbot and Howell to the American Billiards. Later Morgan went to Wellsville in a deal by the Billiards for Audrey Morris, second baseman.

Del Manning, former Wellsville player, is now with the Billiards through a trade for C. Coleman, who will play the infield for the down river aggregation.

Chester will have new men in Cook, of Monessen, Pa., an outfielder, now employed at the Superior Cord Tire plant. John Vanaman, old Grand Athletics catcher, will assist behind the plate. Zorzie, a pitcher, a former Reserve, will be on the hurling staff, along with Lipscomb, a left hander from Parsons, W. Va., whom Manager Riley is planning to use against Bill Mundy, of Turk Nash when the latter elects to pitch. Then there are Infielder Reese, Outfielder Ward and Pitchers Evans, New Cumberland, and Alvis, a former Sebring lad, captain of the West Virginia Wesleyan football team this fall.

Turk Nash will utilize the rapidly developing Tommy Maley as second string catcher this year, understudying the veteran Schneidmiller. Tommy has graduated from the mascot ranks after serving a several years' course with the Motors. Lloyd and Carl Fife, Lisbon brothers, now living here, will infield and pitch, respectively. Carl Kinney, former star shortstop for Hall China, has returned to the game and will be used at short by the Motors. Gardener Walker, National Drawn Steel company employe, formerly of Canton, and young Scott, a promising West End lad, will also be seen in action.

Tony Renaldi, formerly of Sebring, is to do the chief backstopping for Laughlin. He will be assisted by Force, a big chap from Columbus, and the veteran Mountford, who played with Niles and the Man O' War club there. Burris, a New Haven, W. Va., lad will fling a bit as will Ashe, a 19 year old boy from Newell. A. R. Williams, six feet, four inches tall, will be anchored at first. He hails from Grafton, W. Va. Two other New Haven residents, Otto and Ralston Grim, will shortstop and "hot corner" as needed by the club.

Talbot and Morris will be back with the Billiards. The latter can pitch or play either the infield or the outfield. The former is a first sacker. Cracker Howell, he of the side arm delivery, with Thomas, formerly of Laughlin, Church, Sainer and Baker give the club a formidable pitching staff.

F. and C. Christy, catcher and outfield, respectively, of New Cumberland, will be on the team. Clarence Moore will do third base chores. In addition there are young Bloor, of the high school, Elmer Carey, who faces the task of living up to Carey family baseball traditions, Don Bennet, an outfielder, and Fred Stoddard, a catcher. Wilson, of Steubenville, Dale Laughlin, an outfielder and Harley Reardon, brother of Outfielder Reardon of K. T. K., will also be members of the McVeigh aggregation.

K. T. K. will present "Hi" Myers, long with the Brooklyn and St. Louis National league clubs, who last year was owned by Toledo. His brother, Mahl Myers, will also be in the lineup. Ross Tisher, 1925 star with Laughlin, will line up again. Interest also will be taken in Leftfielder and Pitcher Murphy, of New Comerstown, down Cy Young's way.

The club also will have W. Cox, a high school teacher, and from the same source comes Mackel, a catcher, and Bob Witherow, 16 years old, who early in life starts out to follow the path on the diamond his father, Frank Witherow, has blazed for nearly a quarter of a century. Wildblood, curly headed high school lad, will essay a first base role and young Skidmore, another local student, will also attempt to make a place on the aggregation.

Wellsville will have Godfrey Hinton behind the bat as soon as he leaves Bellefonte Academy. "Pick" Nally, veteran outfielder, will also be given a chance. George McCort, of the Toronto Tigers, will backstop also and cavort about the keystone sack. Hackett is another catcher while Kuntzler will be one of the team's premier hurlers.

Officials of the club have invited all members of the organization as well as others interested in the sport, to attend.

DRUGS WIN EASY GAME AT CHESTER

Workingman's Store Joins League Ranks.

Bulger Drugs soft ball club of the Recreation league last night defeated the Chester mill squad, 22 to 6. The Drugs collected 29 hits. Greene twirled for the Drugs while Johnson and McLane worked for the losers. Greene held the mill force to two hits. Bromby clouted out two home runs, got four hits, five assists and two putouts. Home runs also were registered by Walter Bulger, Howard Wurzel and Art Smith.

The Drugs are scheduled to play the National Furnitures tonight and the Ohio Powers Sunday afternoon in a double bill.

The Workingman's Store team became a member of the circuit today, replacing the Brian Clothiers, who failed to complete the organization of their squad.

The new club submitted the following eligibility list: M. Grollman, L. Krieger, H. Gregg, L. Lavin, M. Turk, N. Caplan, H. Stone, E. Bailey, M. Harris, J. Recht, D. Smally, F. Caputo, A. Gibbons and M. Newman.

The Y. M. C. A. last night defeated the Smith News, 10 to 6, at upper Columbian park. Hancock, for the "Y" and Rose, for Smith News, were the hurlers.

The Ohio Powers and the Johannes Drugs divided a double bill last night at the Northside. The Drugs won the first one, 9 to 5 and the Powers copped the wind-up, 7 to 6.

Todd, Drugs, and Wilson, Powers, were the rival hurlers in the first game. McMillen, Powers, and Smith, Drugs, worked the second. Millbaugh did the receiving for the Powers and H. Riddle caught for the Drugs.

The Powers will clash with the East End Laughlin nine in a practice tilt tonight at East End.

HUESTON WINS CUE HONORS

NEW YORK, May 6.—After a comeback which took sixteen years, Tom Hueston has regained the world's pocket billiard championship. The former champion won the crown last night when he captured the final block of his 450 point match with Erwin Rudolph by a score of 154 to 59, giving him the match with a total of 450 points to Rudolph's 361.

Rudolph started the final block with a six point lead, but Hueston, scoring many brilliant bank shots and making one run of 41, won in the thirtieth inning.

Hueston said he would defend his title against Frank Taberksi in September after appearing in a series of exhibition matches throughout the country.

RAZZING OF CITY LOOP UMPS BANNED BY PREXY

Davis Instructs Arbiters to "Run the Game"; Use of Imporper Language Will Mean the Bench.

CITY LEAGUE umpires this season, according to announcement by President C. W. Davis, have been ordered to demand courtesy from all players at all times on the playing field.

Those stooping to berate the indicator handlers or using improper language to the officials will very likely be sent to the showers and persistent infractions of the order possibly will mean suspension.

President Davis asserts, truthfully, that umpires, like players or any other human being, are susceptible to errors, and that, when committed, the officials should not be continually "razzed." The umpires' shortcomings, when extremely bad, will be attended to by the league executives.

President Davis has requested that his staff of umpires attend a conference to be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock at "Helmie's" store, Sixth and Wasington streets. If any umpire is unable to be there, he is requested to communicate with Davis by telephone.

NASH

Leads the World in Motor Car Value

Advanced Six Sedan $1425 f. o. b. factory

Prominent and very popular in the public life of AMERICA

C. W. NASH has never built a more popular model of Nash than this Advanced Six Sedan.

You see it everywhere, and the reason is: it offers charming style, Nash performance and luxurious comfort for five passengers at a very moderate price.

This Nash—every Nash—is in a value class all its own. The car is designed and built with care high above the average, yet it is priced no higher than the average car.

For exceptional power-smoothness and proper bearing support Nash has 7 big bearings in the Nash six-cylinder motor.

To provide extra chassis strength without excess weight, C. W. Nash tubular-trusses the frame. Nash tubular cross members actually furnish 5 times more resistance to road strain than plain cross members.

Even the 4-wheel brakes in this popular Nash are of special Nash design—with Two-Way action for permanent, care-free efficiency.

Come in and see this car. Let us show and explain to you its many other, equally important, features of extra value.

Rini Tells Story

"Never had any."

"You employed by Felix Anania?"

"Once, when he was in the contracting business."

"Where were you Tuesday?"

"In bed part of the day."

"Talk about this case?"

"No."

"At 5:30 Tuesday night did you see Marie and Patsy and did you observe them?"

"I observed them intoxicated."

"Offer you a drink?"

"Yes, sir."

"See the container?"

"I saw a green pitcher with liquor in it."

"You drink any?"

"I did from a glass, and poured some from the pitcher."

"Eat there that evening?"

"No, sir."

"Why not?"

"It wasn't supper time, and besides there was nothing there to eat anyway. We were drinking and talking."

Purchased Eggs and Meat.

"When did you leave next?"

"I don't know."

"Why did you leave?"

"To get something to eat. I went to the grocery and it was closed and as Patsy and I had credit at the Crystal restaurant we went there."

"What did you get at the Crystal?"

"Dozen eggs and meat. Carried the eggs in my inside coat pocket and in my overcoat pocket."

The blue serge coat Rini wore that Tuesday night and his overcoat were then exhibited the witness, and he identified the garments as the ones he wore that night. Egg stains were on both coats.

"When were the eggs broken?"

"What next did you do?"

"I told Patsy and Marie when I came back I had eggs and meat and laid the raw meat on the table."

The witness was then given the small penknife that had been introduced as an exhibit by the state. Rini admitted he had that knife in his overcoat pocket Tuesday night, March 22, and that when he took the eggs from his pockets there were egg stains on the knife. He said he gave the penknife to Mrs. Chorgas, and that the next time he saw the knife was "when she took it from her pocketbook in the small bureau drawer in the little bedroom and gave it to the officer."

"Did you at any time have that knife after you had the broken eggs?"

"I did not."

First Knowledge of Cutting.

Rini then testified that he had seen the knife in the kitchen cabinet, but it was not broken. He testified that the three were laughing and joking about the broken eggs when they were in the kitchen.

"What did you do with your blue coat?"

"Threw it on the floor, and Patsy asked me what I was going to do with it. Marie had a wet rag and was cleaning my coat. I laid down a few minutes later."

"Patsy and Marie fooling then?"

"They were."

"Describe what they were doing?"

"I can't describe — they were just cutting up. I left them in the kitchen I told Patsy I was tired and wasn't going to cut the meat. I went in the bedroom and lay down, and I was awakened by Marie coming and saying, 'Sal, look what Patsy has done!'"

"She say how it was done?"

"Not just then."

"When did she say?"

"Later."

"What did she say?"

"Said she was in the front room reading and Patsy walked to the door and said 'Marie, look what I've done.'"

"You hear that statement from Patsy?"

"No, sir."

"Who awoke you?"

"Marie woke me when she said, 'look, what Patsy has done.'"

"Did you get up then?"

"I got up and laid Patsy on the bed and asked him if he was hurt much, and if he wanted a doctor. He said no, and said he wanted a drink."

Tells of Trip to Drug Store.

"Ask Patsy how it was done?"

"Not sure, Marie asked."

"How long was they talking before you went to sleep?"

"Not very long."

"They leave the kitchen?"

"I can't say."

"When you awoke what did you see?"

"Marie had Patsy by the left arm and was standing next to the bed, and we laid him down on the bed."

"You talk with Mrs. Chorgas about a doctor?"

"Yes, I said Patsy does not want a doctor."

"You believed then Patsy was hurt?"

"No, the wound didn't hardly bleed at all and I didn't think it was serious. I told Marie she had better put something on it, and Marie gave me a $10 bill and I went to get it. Patsy was alive when I left. I got peroxide, iodine and tape, but I didn't call a doctor then. I ran to the drug store and ran back, and when I got back, Marie said Patsy wanted to go to the bathroom. I poured peroxide on the wound, and I suggested Patsy was more drunk than hurt, and I put a cold towel on him."

"Make any investigations in the kitchen?"

"I didn't."

"Mrs. Chorgas?"

"I didn't see her."

Telephoned for Physician.

"What did you do?"

"I took Patsy by the chin and shook his head and he got up and I helped him to the bathroom. I helped him all the way. I had my arm around his back and I helped him to sit down. He talked in the bathroom, and then his head fell to the side. I said, if you are hurt tell me and I'll get a doctor. He moaned something, and then there was a knock at the bathroom door. He called for Marie earlier, and he said, 'Marie hurt me.' Parsons came to the bathroom door in a few seconds and he said he had some soda water. Patsy rolled his head over to the side and wouldn't take it. I said to Parsons, Patsy was stubborn when he was drinking. I don't remember when Parsons left. We put Patsy in bed, and then I went for a doctor. Patsy couldn't walk and we had to carry him.

"I ran to the drug store to telephone and it was closed, and I went to the terminal station. Just as I got to the booth a man was coming out and I told the central to get me a doctor. I asked for Dr. Michaels, and told her if she couldn't get him to get any one, and she got him quickly. She didn't even ask for a nickel. Doctor said he would come as quickly as he could. When I got back Marie was in the bedroom, and I said to notify Felix Anania. When the doctor came, he said, 'this is a police case;'"

Says Marie Broke Knife.

"Marie said she was afradi of the knife and I said that she ought not to have thrown it away She didn't give me any reason for breaking the knife, only she was afraid. I looked for it and thought she threw both pieces away. I told Lister I didn't see Patsy cut himself with the knife, and I don't know anything about the broken knife."

"Did you threaten Marie or take hold of her?"

"No."

"Hurt her wrist any time?"

"No, sir."

"Any disagreement with her?

"No."

"Any cross words with her?"

"We never did to each other."

"How was the injury to the wrist of Marie inflicted?"

"By Patsy."

"How do you know?"

"Patsy told me." The court sustained an objection of the state to the inquiry, and the jury was ordered to disregard the statement. Exceptions were noted by O'Grady.

"Talk to Marie about it?"

"No, sir."

"Did she tell you Patsy said, 'Sal, Sal!?'"

"No."

"What did you and Patsy call each others?"

"Pals."

Denies Marie's Statement.

"Know why Marie threw part of the knife out of the window?"

"No, I don't."

"Any of these knives in your hands after you laid Patsy on the bed?"

"Never was."

"You know how deep the cut in Patsy was?"

"No.

"Did Marie say, 'Sal, you do that'?"

"She didn't ask me anything of the kind."

"What did Marie say to you about telling the police?"

"She didn't say anything."

"About going home?"

"I didn't say anything."

Another recess was declared by the court at this part of the testimony.

"Did you give Mrs. Chorgas a letter in Minneapolis?"

"I did."

"Se it again?"

"Yes."

"When was the last time you saw it?"

"Tuesday evening after I came to the apartment."

"Who had it?"

"Patsy."

"What was in it?"

An objection by the state to the inquiry was sustained by the court.

"Did you introduce Patsy to Mrs. Chorgas?"

"I did."

"How?"

"At my home."

"They correspond before you introduced them?"

"Just the letter I gave to Patsy."

The court ordered that the last answer be stricken from the record and that the jury disregard it.

Knives Stolen, Says Rini.

Rini was then handed the penknife by O'Grady.

"She have the penknife prior to the breaking of the eggs?"

"I let her have it Sunday evening or Monday to sharpen a pencil."

"Did she return it."

"She did."

"She have it the night Patsy was injured?"

"I don't know."

The wisness then identified two black handled table knives, and declared they had been stolen from the Crystal restaurant and taken to the Euclid apartment by Patsy, and that the small kitchen paring knife had been taken from the Sixth street or Fourth street apartment.

"You ever make any threats against Marie?"

"Never at any time."

"Did she say she was in fear?"

"She never said that to me."

"Did she at any time give an expression of fear?"

"Non whatever."

"What did she say when you were placed under arrest?"

"You going to take us to jail?"

"She say then she didn't do it?"

"Didn't say anything then."

"She say there was another knife there?"

"No, not then."

"This looks like a filibuster," interjected Prosecutor Brookes.

"Yes, it's all gone over before," came from the court.

Rini then told of being taken to the East Liverpool jail, and from there to the county jail, where he has since remained.

Rini's Cap is Exhibited.

"Where is your cell in the county jail with reference to that occupied by Marie?"

"I can't judge. It's off to one side on the floor under me."

"Hear any conversations there?"

"I did."

"With Sheriff George Wright?"

"It has not been established who was in the cell," said Brookes.

"If court, please, can I run my end of this case?" O'Grady asked.

"You are," said the judge.

"Did you hear any talk?"

"Yes, I did."

"Talk about you?"

"I know the sheriff's voice."

"You know the sheriff was in the cell?"

"Not the statement of the sheriff, but of Mr. Chorgas," put in the court.

"What did Mrs. Chorgas say?"

"Couldn't say, she was crying. It was the sheriff—."

Objection to the latter part of the statement of the witness was sustained by the court.

"Did you at any time go into the vacant lot on the west side of the Euclid apartment?"

"No sir."

"On the night of March 22, what kind of a hat were you wearing?"

"Light cap."

Attorney Raymond Knepper took a light cap from a rack, gave it to O'Grady, and the witness identified the cap as the one he was wearing the night of March 22. It was not put in the record as an exhibit.

"Did you have a hat on?"

"Never did."

Heard No Struggle.

"Did Patsy collapse when you were assisting him to the bathroom?"

"He kicked against the steps as we were walking to the bathroom."

"Other apartments in the building occupied?"

"Yes."

"Know other people?"

"Know the Webber apartment."

"Any complaint ever made about noise?"

"None to my knowledge."

"Is this the cap you wore the night of March 22?"

"Yes, the one I now wear."

"Did you go out of the Euclid apartment in your shirt sleeves?"

"Had my brown overcoat on every time I went out."

"On the night of March 22, did you hear any noise or struggle after you went to bed?"

"No, sir."

"Any struggle in your rooms after you woke?"

"Only walking and talking."

"When you lay down, was your friendship for Patsy the same?"

"Certainly was."

Cross-Examination Begins.

"You may have him," O'Grady then said to Prosecutor Brookes.

"Sal, how long was it after you Patsy was cut that you went to the drug store?" Brookes asked in cross-examination.

"Couldn't say how long."

"Ten or 15 minutes?"

"I don't know the time."

"Closer to 10 minutes than five—give us your best recollection?"

"May be five, may be 10 minutes. I was excited. I'd be afraid to say."

"How long were you in the apartment after you learned Patsy was cut before you went to the drug store?"

"I have no idea."

"How long did it take you to make the trip to Hodson's drug store and get back?"

"I ran all the way to the drug store and ran back, took three or four minutes."

"You say you went to the drug store, got the packages, got the $10 bill changed and in three or four minutes?"

"I ran there and back."

"Why did you run?"

"He was my friend and I wanted to go quickly. I knew Patsy's blood was bad. I thought he was drunk and I didn't want him to go to sleep without treatment."

"You say it took you three or four minutes to get those things?"

"I can't say."

"Marie Hurt Me," Quotes Rini.

"You asked Patsy to go to the bathroom?"

"Yes."

"How long were you in the bathroom?"

"Good while—five or 10 minutes. He was my friend. I was excited. I felt bad about him being hurt."

"Patsy talk to you in the bathroom?"

"Yes."

"What did he say?"

"I said what's the matter, Patsy, and he said 'Marie hurt me.' His head fell back as he said this."

"How long was it before Parsons came?"

"A minute."

"How was Patsy's head?'

"His head lay on one side," the witness indicating by letting his head fall toward his right shoulder.

"Were his eyes closed?"

"Yes."

WASHINGTON STEWART'S LETTER

REFUSAL OF COOLIDGE TO CALL CONGRESS ON FLOOD COMMENDED

WASHINGTON, May 6.—President Coolidge is very generally commended for refusing to call an extra session of congress to provide flood relief.

Nobody denies that relief is needed, if ever it was, but the verdict is almost unanimous that an extra session of congress is about the last thing it could reasonably be expected from.

As expressed by one of the representatives who still lingers in the capital, "The situation's plenty bad enough as it is, without an extra session of congress."

TO begin with, this next congress is going to be one of the most political congresses that ever happened.

It's a new congress—the 70th—and senate control is sure to be in doubt from start to finish. Neither big party will have a majority. A few independent votes will decide every question. The dickering and trading for them will be incessant.

And a presidential year is just ahead. That will make the jockeying all the more absorbing—to the jockeys.

OF course, if an extra session were called, the legislators all would arrive full of the idea that they must forget partisanship temporarily, and provide flood relief the first thing.

But the senate can't even "organize," and get ready for business, without a political fight.

Is Senator-elect Frank L. Smith entitled to a seat? How about Senator-elect William S. Vare's seat? Shall Secretary Thayer and Sergeant-at-Arms Barry and all their underlings get their old jobs again or be kicked out into the cold? There'll be a president pro tem to choose.

Some other questions can wait, but these will have to be settled ahead of everything. It may take weeks.

WITH congress scattered to the four corners of the country, flood relief is going ahead under Secretary of Commerce Hoover's auspices. It undoubtedly will continue to go ahead as long as he's left free to administer it. The money will be dug up somehow.

But congress, once in session, would be certain to throw a wrench into the machinery immediately. Everybody concedes that — even congressmen.

Besides, nobody imagines that congress, having provided relief, in its own fashion, would quit and go home until next December. On the contrary, it's a foregone conclusion that it would stick here, and proceed with the manufacture of 1928 presidential medicine until just before the national conventions.

SECRETARY HOOVER'S flood relief, it's agreed on all hands, will be as straight flood relief as he can make it.

No reasonable person questions that congress' kind would be a mixture of one part of flood relief with nobody can guess how many parts of political expediency.

It's estimated that a million dollars' worth of Hoover's pure relief will go as far as several million dollars' worth of congressional blend.

FINALLY, the president is said to be anxious to let a little time elapse before congress takes up flood prevention plans, for the future.

It's foreseen that these schemes' number will be tremendous.

The presidential policy is to let them simmer awhile, until the craziest of them have evaporated, because the one that's finally selected is bound to cost into the billions and it's highly desirable to pick one that will work this time.

Rini Tells Story

"Did he walk to the bathroom?"

"I had my arm around his back. We weren't marching, just walking."

"Parsons said it was 10 o'clock when you were in the bathroom. Is that correct?"

"I can't say."

"If it was 10 o'clock, please explain to the jury what you were doing between 9 and 10 o'clock?"

"I'm not super-human: I can't tell the time."

"How long did it take you to get Dr. Michaels?"

"I ran all the way to the terminal and back."

"Dr. Michaels said it was 10:20 when he got the call. Is that right?"

"If he said I called him then, he ought to know."

"How long were you gone from the apartment?"

"Five, six or seven minutes. I ran both ways."

"Previous to 9 o'clock and until 10:20 o'clock you have only explained the three or four minutes you used in running to the drug store, the 10 minutes spent in the bathroom and the six minutes to the waiting station."

"I had been driking, I don't know the time."

It was after 5 o'clock when the last question was answered, and an adjournment was taken until 9:30 o'clock this morning.

JOHN GILBERT GREAT LOVER

Greta Garbo Hypnotizes Him in "Flesh and Devil."

Girls, what kind of a flapper would you think John Gilbert could make love to the best—a pretty French coquette like the heroine of "The Big Parade"—or a clining vine with languorous eyes and a strange hypnotic charm?

Well—you just ought to see John Gilbert make love when he's hypnotized! And this means that you ought to see him making love to Greta Garbo in "Flesh and the Devil" at the Ceramic theatre.

She's the most exotic, strangest, most beautiful sort of a siren you ever saw—it's almost uncanny—and you can fairly see her hypnotize him as the play goes on. But then who wouldn't hynotize John Gilbert if she could—and John seemed to like it—until he found he'd betrayed his best friend and ruined his life.

The play's taken from Sudermann's "The Undying Past." Of course everybody thought Sudermann drama sounded highbrow—but it's not—it's one of the most gripping stories ever seen on the screen, and one of the greatest entertainments. If this picture is highbrow drama the fans are going to want plenty more of it.

John is the lover and Greta the wife of his best friend—who is the handsome Lars Hanson, the same who played Lillian Gish's lover in "The Scarlet Letter"—and who, they say, is loved by the girls of Sweden just as John Gilbert is adored by the flappers of America. Maybe the American flappers will adore him too—if he gives many more performances like this latest of his!

George Fawcett is the old pastor—and he's funny but still stern when he has to be; and Barbara Kent is a cute little thing that you'll just adore as "Hertha." William Orlamond plays the old uncle and is good for many a laugh—no danger of anyone vamping him or hynotizing him either—and Eugenie Besserer is a delightful mother.

"Semper Paratus"—Ever Ready.

One of the flags, bearing the emblem of a crown with plumes, had a motto, in English, "In God We Trust." This is believed to have been the first use in America of this subsequently much discussed motto.

There were lions rampant, an eagle in flight, an armored warrior, a man on horseback, a city surrounded by ramparts, a figure of Liberty with a lance carrying on its point the bonnet of Liberty, a lion holding a scimitar in one paw and a sheaf of wheat in the other, a feudal home with a soldier on guard, and crossed guns and swords, and the mottoes in addition to those already cited, and most of them in Latin, included "United in Virtue We Conquer," "From God the Victory," "God Aids the Brave," "For King and People," "For God and King George," "Safety in Preparedness," "United Force is Strength," and "For the Liberty of the Homeland."

When the Red Flag Waved.

In 1770 the Sons of Liberty of Boston hoisted upon a tall pine tree in a grove on Harvard campus a plain red flag. This deviceless banner, it is recorded, was lated improved by sewing upon it a Green Pine Tree, a symbol of American liberty, and played an important part in the Revolution.

The exact origin of the 13 stripes idea, embodied in the first flag of the Continental Army and later in the flag of the United States, is not known, but it dates far back of the designing of our national colors. The East India Company had a banner with a red cross upon a white field and 13 stripes, alternate red and white, that was seen in American harbors as early as 1704. A Holland trade flag with 13 stripes, yellow and red, antedates our flag of 1775 by almost 40 years. The famous Philadelphia Light Horse which escorted Washington to to Boston when he went there to take command of the troops, carried a flag upon which was emblazoned 13 stripes, alternate blue and white, and in the southern colonies there were two flags of the 13 stripes, in one of alternate red and blue and in the other of alternate red and white.

It is also mistakenly believed by many that the first raising of a starry flag in the New World was at the birth of the United States emblem. Rhode Island had a blue flag with white stars in 1776 and to go back a bit farther, Cortez carried a flag with stars in a circle in his invasion of Mexico more than 200 years before Betsy Ross made the first Star Spangled Banner in this country.

The device of a coiled rattlesnake with the motto, "Don't Tread On Me!" was quite popular with the colonists, and appeared on numerous early flags. It is supposed to have originated from a suggestion by a writer in Franklin's newspaper that in return for the wrongs suffered by the colonists a cargo of rattlesnakes should be shipped to England and distributed in Saint James Park, Spring Garden, and other places of pleasure.

One of the rattlesnake flags was presented to the Continental Congress in February, 1776, with the suggestion that it be used by the commander-in-chief of the American Navy. Another was the banner of the Culpepper Minute Men and bore the words "Liberty or Death" in addition to the familiar motto.

And one of the most historic of colonial emblems was that carried by Capt. Nathan Page of the Bedford Minute Men on the memorable April 19, 1775, at Lexington nad Concord. It was of maroon color and bore the words, "Aut Vince Morire"—Conquer or Die!

HATTIE

By Samuel Merwin

CHAPTER FORTY-ONE.

He stood on the curb, looking on, while the limousine moved slowly through the crowd that all but stormed it. Once, before it turned the corner, he saw a white little face with bewildered eyes seeking him. He waved, and the face was gone . . But he couldn't linger there. He must get home to that little mother of his. And his work had stopped. He had meant to write on the train. Now, not without bitterness, he asked himself if he could ever write again.

She called up before nine in the morning. She hadn't been able to sleep much, she said. Somehow she must shake off these people. It was in her mind to slip away for a visit to the mailing room, and she wanted him to come with her. "I'll be down stairs in the lounge in half an hour," she said. "You can pick me up, and we'll walk over. I'd love to walk."

But when he entered the lounge, Mr. Henderson sat beside a crestfallen slip of a girl; and close at hand stood a patient young man with a camera. And he had seen that limousine out in front. There was nothing for it but to go as one of the party. Hattie couldn't be herself. They photographed her in the mailing room, surrounded by her old acquaintances. On the way back to the hotel Mr. Henderson explained that they might not use the pictures. He would have to talk that over, as a matter of policy, with Mr. De Brissac and Mr. Hamlin. They would be in before noon.

Hattie gave him a faltering glance. So Arthur had come along! They were hot after her.

The limousine stopped before the hotel. Mr. Henderson and the photographer stepped down. A profoundly sobered Dempster followed, and waited. But Hattie sat motionless. She couldn't meet the situation. They might already be in there—Arthur and —and De Brissac. She moistened her lips.

"I'm going to do some shopping," she said then, a thought defiantly. "You come with me, Julian."

At once he stepped in beside her, and before them both took one of her little hands firmly in his.

"But Miss John"—this, quickly, from Henderson—"we have a great deal to do. And Mr. De Brissac and Mr. Rosenwald will want you to try your voice in the theater."

"I'll do that this afternoon," said Hattie.

"But you'll surely be back before lunch. Mr. De Brissac will expect you."

Hattie shivered. She might faint again. She couldn't say anything more, could only nod weakly. It was a relief when the car moved off into the traffic. She was clinging desperately to Julian. He said, rather sternly, to the chauffer—"Drive up through the Park." She was glad of that, and glad when he drew her head into the hollow of his shoulder. She didn't care what became of her hat. She didn't care if all Fifth Avenue saw them. And she was glad that he didn't care . . . In the park, she whispered brokenly, "Do you love me, Julian?" and he kissed her. It was almost like that moment in the Canyon. Almost; not quite. It was a relief to cry on his coat.

As they drew near the hotel, he said, very gently—

"I'm not going to try to see you again today, dear. You've got your hands full. And I want you to promise me you'll rest this afternoon. And try to sleep late in the morning. I won't disturb you. You can call me when you wake up."

She had to let him go. She stood for a moment on the sidewalk, where men jostled brusquely by and then turned to look at the girl who had the air of being somebody, who was quaint and little and, in a wistfully childlike way, beautiful. For a moment she pressed a hand to her breast and as if it were a difficult thing to do moistened her lips. Then she went in.

She sat on one of the sofas in a dim corner of the lounge. Arthur had drawn up a chair. She was reflecting, as she whitely watched him, how much he had changed in the year. His face was soft, of course, and almost without expression. You felt no force there; no character, really. But he was well dressed, and seemed brisk and business-like enough. She had paid for those clothes, as for the neat hat, and the smart gloves and the walking stick. It was always irritating to think about this, and about his

Human Story Told in Film Version at American.

Fox Films' version of that famous and lovable Warfield-Belasco play, "The Auctioneer," rode into the American theatre on the wings of triumph last night. Everyone who loves motion pictures at their best should see it at least once.

For "The Auctioneer" has almost everything that wholesome entertainment could have. There's pathos, comedy of various sorts, intrigue and romance.

"The Auctioneer" sets forth in a most human manner the story of a little Irish orphan who is adopted by a Russian and his wife on their way to the land of promise. The Russian, upon his arrival in New York, borrows some of the money entrusted to him for the well-being of the little girl he has adopted. With this money he begins on a business career that in years to come carries him and his little family to the luxury of an abode on Riverside Drive.

As played by George Sidney, noted star of the stage and screen, the auctioneer is a lovable figure who strikes directly at the hearts of all who watch him as he rises from street peddler to luxury. If all of Sidney's future performances on the silver sheet are as nearly perfect as his portrait in "The Auctioneer," he will have a place of his own in screen circles for some time to come.

Marion Nixon and Gareth Hughes head a supporting cast which fits into the story like clockwork. Miss Nixon is lovely indeed as the little Irish girl in her teens.

In keeping residence property radiantly new and clean, the occasional use of Hanna's GREEN-SEAL Paint is unequalled.

The fresh, spick and span appearance it gives to dingy, dirty surfaces is like applying "liquid sunlight." The wide choice of colors in GREEN-SEAL also makes possible most harmonious color combinations.

Long wear and utmost surface protection are assured by using Hanna's GREEN-SEAL Paint.

Knowing the Oakland tradition of advanced engineering, you have probably sensed that the Greater Oakland Six offers certain things not found in other cars. The briefest study of the cars in Oakland's field will reveal that "until another car of Oakland's price has all these features, Oakland value is supreme."

But even if you could find another car duplicating the Oakland Six, point by point, that car would not duplicate Oakland value. For Oakland value is based not merely on these features—but on these features, plus super-precision in construction, which makes the Greater Oakland Six the best-built car of its price in the world.

Thousands say it's the best gas in the world

YOU'VE never known a gas to win so many friends. Everybody says Pennzoil is the most volatile gas they've ever used. And you know what that means.

More power on the hills! More pep on the pick-up! More speed on the get-away! More mileage per gallon!

For Pennzoil vaporizes completely. It gives you complete combustion. No waste to cause carbon, or necessitate valve grinding.

Pennzoil gasoline is produced in the same great plant that gives you Pennzoil motor oils—the largest and most modern refinery operating exclusively on 100% pure Pennsylvania crude. It is refined by a unique process that means a finer—drier fuel for your car.

Try Pennzoil gasoline yourself. There's a Pennzoil pump not far away. Make its acquaintance.

No Reason Why Anybody Should Suffer From Spring Fever, Says the World's Tonic Man

"When the warmth of Spring is felt, everything in Nature changes. All vegetation pulses with activity. Animals become brighter, and are more active. Why, then, is it that man alone suffers from so-called 'Spring Fever?'"

That question was put to the World's Tonic man at Carnahan's drug store. Instantly he answered: "If men lived like the animals they wouldn't have spring fever. But since they eat heavily all winter, and keep in the houses, their organs fail to throw off all the waste matter and impurities. Then when Spring is at hand, they feel like they couldn't move, and want to lie down and sleep. No wonder. Systems are full of waste, the blood carries a lot of impurities, and often shows its condition in catarrh. What man needs then is something that will clean his blood, correct the catarrhal troubles, and give vigor and pep. Why, thousands of people take two or three bottles of World's Tonic every Spring in order to purify the blood, overcome the catarrhal effects and build up the strength. You can come pretty near telling such a man by his clear eye, springy step and vim. If all you who have Spring fever would do that, this nation would be as happy as the birds in Spring."

World's Tonic is sold by Carnahan's also Brannon, Wellsville and all other good druggists. (270)

pretentious little bluff of being a man of affairs. He wasn't of course. He wasn't anything, when you came down to it. He was like so many others in the picture business, nondescript folk, family hangers-on, that cluster inevitably about the successful stars, particularly inexperienced girl stars, and live off them.

But while her thoughts ranged through this uncomfortable region Arthur, moved in a way she didn't at first understand, dropped the bluff. He spoke gently, even brokenly. He was worried.

"De Brissac has talked very freely with me, this trip, Hattie. He is a big man."

She inclined her head.

"He thinks everything in the world of you. Of course, there's no getting around the fact that he's made you."

"I know," said she, sharply for Hattie.

"He has gambled everything on this picture. What it comes down to, of course, it that he has gambled everything on you. He has pinned his whole career to his faith in you. If you were to go back on him now..."

"I haven't said I was going back on him!"

"No, but . . . well, naturally, when you run off like that with a good-looking young fellow—

"I didn't run off with him!"

"But really, Hattie—"

"I didn't run off with him! I had Hedwig with me."

"Of course, Hattie—" he was groping around for something, she wished he'd speak out—"De Brissac has had to carry this whole business. He's had to think of everything. He talked it all out with me. He's not like us, you know, usually. He's a Continental, with a Continental outlook on life, but . . ." he floundered off that course and came back a little nearer to what was in his mind . . . "well, he said right out that if The Soul gets over you'll have to have more money. He does go through with things. He recognizes that it's a peculiar sort of partnership, yours and his. He spoke of giving you a share in the profits. Said he'd fight for that in the Board of Directors. And you and I know they'll do what he tells 'em to. They'll have to. And there was another thing he said . . . I didn't quite get the drift . . . that he'd do this no matter what happened. The only condition would be that you stick with the company. Really, Hattie, I never knew a man . . ."

"I get awfully tired of the pictures sometimes."

"I know. And I know that you're just a kid, and don't appreciate the value of money. It comes so easy to you . . ." She saw now that softening about the mouth, and averted her face.

"You see, Hattie," he went on . . . She had to lean a little forward to catch every word . . . "you're not old enough or experienced enough to know what the real struggle is. You're never had to fight your heart out and then lose. Oh, I know I'm a failure—"

"Don't say that, Arthur!"

"Do you think I don't know it. I'm older than you think. I'm 41. I've had my fight with booze and—other things. I've been down and out. I've been in the gutter. Some of it before I ever knew Alice. And my health broke. Of course, you can say I've no one but myself to blame for that. I know how bad my record is. Nobody'd want me for a regular job. I couldn't go back to Elizabethport and get a single reference."

Hattie nervously shifted her position. Her head ached. She wished he'd stop.

"Don't think I haven't got this situation straight. I have. Probably I could dig up some sort of a living for Alice and Emily and myself, and the new one. But I couldn't swing the problem of Gran'ma. And there's an awful lot of unemployment still. I don't know . . ."

"I think I've got to go upstairs and lie down," said Hattie.

"All right," said he, "that's true enough, you'd better. It's no time for me to play on your feelings. Anyhow, De Brissac wants me. He's busy with publicity men, over at the office. I just wanted you to know, Hattie, that I . . ."

She smiled vaguely, and stepped into the elevator. There, after the door closed, she had to turn away so that the Italian boy wouldn't see her tears.

Named Receiver of Land Bank.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—In a general reorganization of the Kansas City Joint Stock Land bank, the farm loan board today appointed William R. Compton, of St. Louis, as receiver.

An investigation by the board disclosed the necessity for about $500,000 to meet the immediate financial demands of the bank.

U. S. Minister Howell Resigns.

LONDON, May 6.—J. Morton Howell, United States minister to Egypt, has resigned, said a dispatch from Cairo today.

Goody for Kellogg's!

No wonder kiddies love Kellogg's! It's matchless flavor and crispness! Flavor that's never been equaled! And Kellogg's are fine for everybody. With milk or cream—and add fruits or honey. Serve them for breakfast, lunch—for the children's evening meal. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Oven-fresh in the inner-sealed red-and-green package. At hotels, restaurants. On dining-cars. Sold by all grocers.

ROCK SPRINGS OPENS MAY 26

Management Rushes Work on Chester Park Improvements.

Formal opening of Rock Springs park, Chester, has been set for Thursday, May 26, it was announced today.

Improvements to the grounds are being rushed. Park officials are arranging for a free outdoor exhibition to take the place of Dare Devil Babcock, who was forced to cancel his engagement because of illness.

First shipment of equipment for the new $25,000 merry-go-round has arrived and is now being installed. The merry-go-round building has been repainted and presents an attractive appearance.

First cars over the new coaster ride were operated this week. The trains make the trip over the 2,500 feet of track in a little more than one minute. Two trains, each having a seating capacity of 24, will be operated.

Mrs. Jessie Ludlow, Cleveland, who for many years was the private secretary to State Senator L. G. Collister, has joined the park staff as secretary to Charles C. Macdonald manager. Mrs. Ludlow is a business woman of experience. She will maintain her headquarters in the park office near Virginia Gardens, the palatial ballroom.

The Melody Kings of New York, will play for the Saturday night dance this week.

Milk! Oatmeal! Sunshine!

A wonderful trinity of growth-promoters

Today children are healthier than they ever were before. For mothers everywhere are learning new facts about the real needs of the growth years.

Simpler foods—foods that provide for growth and health—these are now being urged by nutrition authorities, in place of the heavy adult meals that children used to get.

Sunlight's strengthening power is being more appreciated. And oatmeal with milk, long known to be valuable, is now considered a growth food of the first importance.

A bowl of Quick Mother's Oats with milk makes a remarkable contribution to perfect development. Not only energy and tissue-building elements—but vitamins! minerals! and bran!

For Quick Mother's Oats is a whole-grain food, rich in flavor and as naturally nourishing as sunshine.

Two kinds—the kind you have always known or Quick (cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes). Both with coupons interchangeable with Aunt Jemima coupons, redeemable for dinnerware, hand bags, clothing—many other fine premiums.

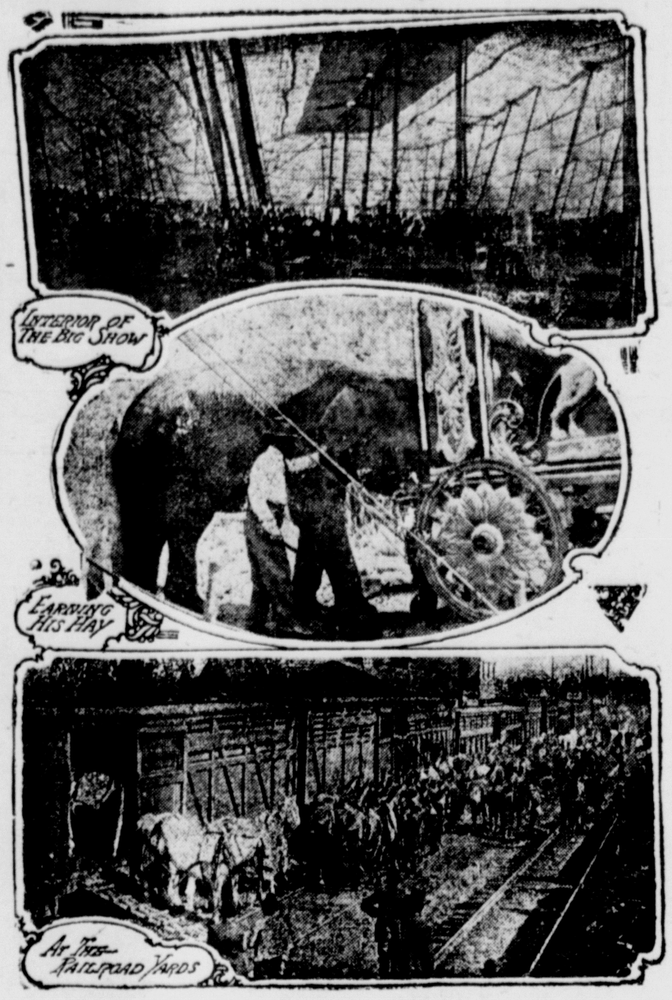
WALTER L. MAIN SHOW GROUND REAL MINIATURE CITY ITSELF



The show grounds of the Walter L. Main circus which will exhibit on Wednesday, May 11, is a city within itself, lacking a town council and state charter. It has its own lawyer, postmaster, dentist, doctor, carpenters, detectives, painters, wagon makers, blacksmiths, laundrymen, barbers, shoemakers, tailors, sailmakers, harness makers, store keepers and photographers. It supports a great tented hotel in which thousands of meals are cooked and eaten every day in the year.

Five acres of ground are required for space in which to house the score of tents forming the Walter L. Main circus. Four gigantic oak poles form the chief support of the biggest tent. Any one of these poles would be sufficient to support the largest mast on any giant sea sailing vessel. The smallest tent is one used to house the circus barber shop.

At night the circus is transported on two special trains of double length cars and each new sun sees the circus institution in another city. In a single season the circus travels about 20,000 miles, making stops in about 200 cities and giving about 400 performances. The Walter L. Main circus has exhibited in practically every city of any size in the United States. Each year it has grown steadily better and this season it is rated as second to none of its kind.

More than six hundred people are carried with the big circus this year. The number of animals carried exceeds 400. The big tent has been enlarged and now can seat 5,000. Two great herds of elephants will be seen. The music is furnished by five bands. Prof. John Griffin and his military band of 25 soloists, furnish concerts daily at 1 and 7 p. m.

The program is featured by scores of aerialists, acrobats, equestrians, and clowns. The big show has 40 clowns, 30 aerialists, 40 equestrians, and 50 acrobats this season.

Individual stars in the circus performance are too numerous to be mentioned but special tribute may be paid to Madam Julia Rebras, interpid French artiste, who faces death twice daily in her loop the loop on a bicycle.

The Hollis riding troupe, England's champion bareback equestrians, with Pinkie Hollis, the greatest somersault rider of all times, is also another of the headliners on the program. Other features include the DeLong sisters, equilibrists of Belgium. The Brock trio, Viennese aerialists, in perilous lofty mid-air feats and executing triple somersaults from flying trapese to standing bar; Koban and Sakata, Maxwell trio, Lyle & Irma Conner, Yokio trio and Sylvester Brothers, all well known circus acts which have gained international distinction and rank at the very top of the profession.

A spectacular parade will be given at 11 a. m. Doors to the menagerie open at 1 and 7 p. m., and the performance starts at 2 and 8 p. m.

SKIN ABRASIONS are painful and dangerous. Heal them quickly and prevent infections with

Resinol

She Got Rid of Those Two Bad Mornings

Menstruation is a perfectly natural process, but the painful part is NEEDLESS. Long study has absolutely conquered menstrual pain. Science now offers women reliable and complete relief—in a simple, utterly harmless tablet called midol.

This newest achievement of the laboratory has nothing to do with drastic, habit-forming drugs that kill pain by benumbing the whole system! Midol acts directly on the organs affected by menstruation, and nowhere else. Yet relief and absolute comfort come in five to seven minutes!

So, why have a twinge of pain—feel "low" or even uncomfortable? Or take anything to depress the heart or upset the system? All drug stores have midol in a thin aluminum box that tucks in purse or pocket—for 50 cents.
